Southeastern Fair To Open Gates This Morning

GREATEST SEASON ON RECORD SEEN BY FAIR LEADERS

BIG ATTRACTIONS TO AMUSE PATRONS

Industrial Exhibit, Occupying Building All to Itself, Will Be Feature This Year.

Far surpassing in all departments all previous seasons in its history, the 15th annual Southeastern fair at Lakewood park will open its gates at 8 o'clock this morning, and at 9 o'clock the buildings, with their great array of exhibits, will be ready for inspection.

In addition to the departments exhibited heretofore, such as live stock, agriculture, arts and educational and colored people's exhibits, the fair this year has an entirely new feature—an industrial department, occupying an immense building all to itself, consisting of a vast array of exhibits of manufactured products of Georgia and neighboring states.

Scope Is Broadened.

This department marks the beginning of a policy of broadening the scope of the fair inaugurated by Alfred C. Newell, president of the Southeastern Fair Association. Under this plan it is proposed to develop at Lakewood park a great interstate exposition of the manufactured products of the entire southeast, similar to the famous Eastern States Fair at Springfield, Mass., with a building erected and maintained on the grounds by each southeastern state, and with an annual display of the whole enormous variety of manufactured products produced in the southeast, whose industrial growth in the past ten years has been the marvel of the nation.

Lakewood park all day Friday, and almost all the night, was the scene of prodigious activity, as hundreds of exhibitors, amusement concessionaires, circus people, harness horse owners, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, painters, sign painters, and others too numerous to classify, toiled and strove to get their respective exhibits and amusements all set and ready for the opening this morning.

Indians Are Here.

Across the drive from the office of Oscar Mills, general manager of the fair, a troupe of Indians attached to the King Brothers Rodeo and Wild West circus had pitched their conical tents and were sprawled beneath the pines. Cowboys in red flannel shirts and leather pants were rolling cigarettes, munching hot dogs and ragging one another. Cowgirls were getting in and out of mud-spattered automobiles in which they drove here for the fair, and reluctantly posing for newspaper photographers because they did not "have on their regular rodeo costumes."

Inside the race track enclosure were grazing in marsh grass at the edge of the lake a heard of half-broken broncoes that will be put through their paces for the entertainment of the multitudes who will throng the grounds next week, and among them stalked two buffaloes just added to the outfit, a little shy of the broncoes, as the broncoes were of them.

In the agricultural building a swarm of men and women were installing

$336,000 READY TO PAY TEACHERS

First Payment of Scholastic Year Sent Out in Record Time by Superintendent Duggan.

Checks for $336,000, first payment for the scholastic year under the equalization fund derived from taxes on gasoline and kerosene, were sent out late Friday by Superintendent M. L. Duggan to the 154 counties which are entitled to a share in this fund under the law.

The scholastic year runs from July 1 to June 30 and the amount distributed in 154 checks by Mr. Duggan represents the share of the schools for two months.

The superintendent paid high tribute to capital officials for the efficiency and the co-operation shown his department in eliminating red tape as far as possible.

Under the law the superintendent makes a requisition for the school funds available. This requisition goes first to the state auditor, Tom Wisdom, for his signature; then to Comptroller-General W. B. Harrison; then to the office of State Treasurer W. J. Speer, and finally to the office of Governor L. G. Hardman.

"I made my requisition Friday morning and through the co-operation given me by the other departments I was enabled to place the checks in the mail before nightfall," said Mr. Duggan. "It was a record-breaker for our department. At times it has been a month or more before this routine could be completed and the checks mailed out."

Atlanta and County Heads Proclaim Fair

The mayors of Greater Atlanta and the chairman of the Fulton county commissioners Friday issued a proclamation announcing the opening of the Southeastern fair and urging Atlantans and visitors to attend. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the Southeastern fair is an impressive exhibit of the resources, arts and industries of the southeastern states, maintained and operated by citizens of Greater Atlanta with the support of the city of Atlanta and the county of Fulton.

"And, whereas, this fair has greatly stimulated agriculture, industry and practical education, now, therefore,

"We, the mayors of Greater Atlanta and the chairman of the commissioners of Fulton county, issue this, our proclamation, declaring the Southeastern fair open to visitors this October 5, 1929, and to continue open through October 12, and we urge our people to visit the fair, see its interesting and instructive exhibits and enjoy every form of wholesome amusement to be found there.

"Given under our hands this fourth day of October, 1929.

Warner, Rockne and Jones Pick Bob Zuppke!

The greatest coach in America? Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, if you ask Pop Warner, Knute Rockne, Tad Jones, Bill Roper, Chick Meehan and the others.

Charles W. Paddock, Olympic star, has written a fine article in the next Sunday Constitution magazine that you will enjoy reading. It is called "The Men Behind the Stars."

Paddock gives a human, intriguing study of the famous coaches of America and how they make stars great. He calls Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech, one of the greatest of all and tells why. Don't overlook this timely article.

Stocks Continue Crash To New Low Figures on Market

Active Issues Break From $2 to $10 a Share in Unusually Heavy Volume of Trading.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—The wild scramble to get out of stocks, which started in the last hour of trading yesterday, was resumed with increased violence today, prices of active issues breaking $2 to $10 a share, while a sprinkling of high priced specialties fell $12 to $30. Final quotations showed only moderate recoveries from the day's lows, with at least 100 issues crashing into new low ground for the year.

So great was the volume of trading that the ticker was between 30 minutes and one hour behind the market for the greater part of the day, the final quotation being printed one hour and 14 minutes after the closing gong had been sounded. Total sales of 5,6[illegible],000 shares were the largest since the record-breaking session of March 26 last, when 8,246,700 shares changed hands.

Today's selling gained considerable impetus from the unexpected increase of $43,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans announced after the close of the market last night. Margin calls went out in record-breaking volume in the past 24 hours, and while the response was good, in view of the drastic nature of the decline which has washed away several billions in quoted values, much of today's liquidation is believed to have represented selling by disappointed speculators who were either unable or unwilling to hold on.

At their low prices today, U. S. Steel common and many of the other industrial leaders were selling $50 a share, or more, below the high levels of the year established, in some cases, less than a month ago. Steel, which touched $261.75 a share last month, sold down today to $206.50 and rallied to $210 for a net loss of $3. Allied Chemical, Continental Can, General Electric, Houston Oil, Otis Elevator, Simmons, and Westinghouse Electric closed with net declines of $5 or more.

GIRL TAKES STAND IN PANTAGES TRIAL

Los Angeles, October 4.—(AP)—With tears and sobs interrupting her narration, Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old Los Angeles co-ed dancer, testified in detail on the witness stand today of her accusations against Alexander Pantages, 54-year-old millionaire, at his trial on a statutory charge.

Speaking in a quiet, firm voice, when not crying, Miss Pringle answered quickly and directly the questions put to her by District Attorney Buron Fitts. While the girl was testifying Mr. Pantages watched her, nervously. As she told of going to the theater man's office last August 9, where she avers she was attacked by him in his "stairway cubby hole" private office, the accused man edged forward in his chair.

Miss Pringle did not look at the defendant while testifying but it was noted that he reddened and tossed his head about as she related details of her asserted struggle to escape his attentions while in the private office.

Contradicting intimations made by defense attorneys in their opening statement to the jury in which they declared they would attempt to show Miss Pringle had tried to "frame" Pantages, the girl testified that her attempts to scream when seized had been stifled by the man's hand over her mouth. She told of kicking the theater owner and pleading with him to release her, only to faint with exhaustion and fright when he refused.

Broken bits of red glass, the remainder of a pair of costume earrings she had worn August 9, were introduced as evidence by Fitts after Miss Pringle had identified them as appearing to have been her jewelry.

PRESIDENT ORDERS AN INVESTIGATION ON SALE OF SHIPS

Comptroller McCarl Charges Shipping Board Sold Fleet at Exceedingly Low Prices.

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Following closely Comptroller-General McCarl's report to congress that the shipping board had sold its fleet at "exceedingly low prices" to "irresponsible parties," President Hoover today ordered an investigation of the charges by the attorney-general.

Earlier in the day Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, suggested an inquiry by a senatorial committee, but later said he believed the department of justice inquiry would be sufficient.

"The comptroller's report on matters connected with the shipping board," President Hoover said in his statement, "relates to transactions mostly several years ago and all of them prior to this administration.

"It is my understanding that there is no charge of misfeasance, but in any event I have requested the attorney-general to study the comptroller's report and determine if there has been any violation of the law. It is only fair to the board and the employes that this should be done."

Senator Jones, defending the board's sales program, said "we have known all along that the ships were being sold far below their cost, but we have also known that the shipping board got the best price it could for them."

SCHOOL TEACHERS TO GET SALARIES

Council Will Meet January 1 To Pass on Loan To Meet Half of December Checks.

Atlanta school-teachers will get their salary checks for the last half of December on January 1, provided city council approves a loan for $125,000 which will be recommended by the finance committee at a special called meeting to be held on New Year's Day, Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the committee, announced Friday.

Lack of funds has forced the board of education to appeal to city council for financial relief, and the finance committee named Mr. Moore, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and B. Graham West, city comptroller, to negotiate with Atlanta banks for a loan to be paid out of the city's revenue in 1930.

Atlanta will not have that amount available for the board to pay teachers' and other employes' salaries this year and it will be necessary to get the loan by special action of council at a called meeting to be held January 1, New Year's Day.

City Attorney James L. Mayson has ruled that the 1929 council cannot authorize the loan before the first of the year, and Mr. Ragsdale will call a meeting in order that council may act on the paper.

Teachers and other employes of the system will receive pay for the first 15 days of December on December 15, but will be forced to forego the usual custom of drawing their whole month's salary on that date because of the fact that the loan cannot be legally obtained before 1930.

All checks will be made out by the school administration department and be ready for distribution, but they will not be delivered before the loan is obtained, it was said.

NEGRO ATTACKERS HANG TO THUMPS OF BANJO DIRGE

New Orleans, October 4.—(AP)—To the solemn thumps of a banjo hymn two negroes, Edward McKay and William Virgets, convicted of attacks upon white women, were hanged here today in the Orleans parish jail.

Each entered the death chamber in a procession led by a negro banjoist, a negro minister, the condemned with guards, and another banjoist bringing up the rear.

The negroes were convicted after a series of holdups of automobile parties in West End, New Orleans, when the negroes would rob the men and attack their women companions.

On "Peace" Mission

Premier MacDonald, of Great Britain, pictured above with his daughter, Ishbel, the first British prime minister ever to visit the United States, arrived in America Thursday and was received in the evening by President Hoover. Conversations on "peace" overtures are scheduled to begin today.

Ishbel MacDonald Wins Capital With Gay Verve

ENGLISH GIRL SCORES ON ARRIVAL

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Modestly dressed in black and smiling so her rosy cheeks and bright eyes glowed, Ishbel MacDonald returned the first welcome of the nation's capital today in a manner that won affectionate response.

From the moment Secretary Stimson helped her from the train that brought her and her father from New York until she graciously bowed adieu to Mrs. Stimson under the British embassy portico, the British prime minister's daughter emanated friendliness. She manifestly enjoyed the cheering of government workers, the glittering caissons the uniformed soldiery and white-spatted diplomats out in honor of her and her father.

Preceding the prime minister, she walked along the station platform with an athletic stride to meet Mrs. Stimson and Lady Isabella Howard, the British ambassador's wife.

With a dash of vivid color at her throat—from a yellow and black futuristically figured bandana scarf—Miss MacDonald's attire was similar to models displayed for smart young Americans at college or for shopping. The almost invisible dots of her drill suit were matched by her gauntlets, and she carried a trim black leather purse.

Mrs. Stimson wore a grey dress, covered by a black cloth coat with deftly cut diagonal folds at the sides, and grey shoes, hose and hat.

Lady Isabella's costume was all black and simple—straight of outer coat, and brightened by a grey fox collar. Neither she nor Mrs. Stimson wore flowers.

Sturdy and enthusiastic, Miss Ishbel shook hands with Mrs. Stimson and Lady Isabella, waiting quietly then until the other officials had completed their greetings. She walked with Mrs. Stimson and Undersecretary of State Cotton to the end of the platform and into the concourse, turning occasionally to acknowledge the shouts of onlookers.

Following not far behind was the only other woman of the MacDonald party—Miss Rosa Rosenberg, private secretary to the prime minister—wearing a black coat trimmed with brown fur.

Upon arriving at the embassy, Miss MacDonald gave the crowd one warm, sweeping glance, shook hands with Mrs. Stimson, and moved into the house as though eager to remove the travel stains and start for the White House to meet Mrs. Hoover.

Miss MacDonald went to the White House to be received by Mrs. Hoover still enthusiastic, although the strain of the journey was beginning to show in her face. She was still wearing her chic black ensemble.

Through the fern-banked reception hall of the executive mansion she walked with Lady Isabella into the blue room. The first lady of the land chose a black velvet gown for the meeting. There were touches of lace on the dress, and Mrs. Hoover wore her silver rope necklace. The greeting was cordial though brief.

On the way back to the embassy the car carrying Miss MacDonald and Lady Isabella narrowly escaped several collisions after being separated from the prime minister's automobile. The cars were separated at the driveway leading out of the White House grounds, and police stationed along the way did not recognize them. In three instances the second one was almost jammed in cross traffic, and they did not overtake the other car en route to the embassy.

WEIRD SOCIETY SHOCKS FRANCE BY CRIME

Paris, October 4.—(AP)—The burying alive of a man who had assumed the name of the Marquise Champaubert, and had just served a sentence for swindling under that name, has capped the climax of a series of extraordinary crimes that have kept the French police busy.

The body of a woman who had been cut in pieces and the murder of a bookkeeper whose mother had been killed under circumstances which never were cleared up still were occupying the police when they were called in to look into mysterious letters from the so-called Knights of Themis regarding the burial alive of Champaubert.

The letters told explicity how the swindler had been interred in Verneuil wood, in the department of Seine-Oise, and gave directions for finding the spot. The police finally went to the place and found freshly disturbed earth with a rubber tube protruding. On excavating the earth they came upon a rudely fashioned coffin with the lifeless body of a man inside.

Madame Passal, mother of the victim, received a letter from the "Knights of Themis" informing her of the fate of her son and explaining that an extremely powerful secret society, formed of persons belonging to the French aristocracy, had undertaken to punish swindlers whom the laws of France were unable to punish adequately. Newspapers in Paris have been receiving missives of the same purport, but they were taken for practical jokes until the police unearthed the body of Champaubert.

The letters described the sufferings which Champaubert had been obliged to endure and said that all swindlers escaping proper punishment through the laxity of French justice would be treated accordingly.

SUICIDE OF LEADER ENDS WILD BATTLE IN COLORADO PEN

Twelve Men Dead and Others Wounded When Mutiny Is Over—Investigation Begins.

Canon City, Col., October 4.—(AP)—Suicide and surrender followed murder and destruction to end one of the bloodiest prison riots in modern penal history here today.

Seven guards and five convicts were killed before the death of the desperate leader, Danny Daniels, by his own hand, and the surrender of the 150 convicts he held under his rule for 12 hours in the embattled Cell House No. 3.

All the leaders of the rebellion—and prison officials believe most of the fighting was done by these five leaders—died either by suicide or at the hands of Daniels before the riot ended in meek surrender at dawn today.

Tonight there was the usual peace and quiet that generally hovers about this little town in the shadow of the Rockies. The smoke-blackened walls of the penitentiary buildings where corridors are flecked with the blood of good and bad men, were quiet. It seemed hard for the guards on duty to realize that just 24 hours ago the prison was wracked by mutiny in which machine gun fire, the crack of rifles and later the detonations of dynamite charges told a story of violent death and destruction.

Officials of the penitentiary tonight turned their efforts to two channels—investigation and reconstruction.

Warden F. E. Crawford announced that a comprehensive investigation into the causes of the riot would be launched immediately. He was waiting to confer with Governor Adams, who was due in Canon City tonight from Denver.

At the same time, he announced that convicts at the penitentiary will be set to work immediately to rebuilding Cell Houses Nos. 1 and 2, which were destroyed by flames during the riot, as well as the main dining hall and the chapel, which were likewise burned.

Because all the convicts will be employed at this work, construction of a new cell house, authorized by the last session of the legislature, will be delayed.

Meanwhile, strict disciplinary measures were placed in force pending resumption of regular prison routine. This afternoon National Guard tents were pitched in the prison yard within the walls. These tents will house a majority of the convicts in the prison until the cell houses can be rebuilt.

Five Leaders Die.

The riot, which snuffed itself out early this morning when the five ringleaders either ended their own lives or were shot to death by Dannie Daniels, the moving spirit in the mutiny, who then took his own life, was the worst in the history of the Colorado penitentiary.

The death toll stood at twelve—seven guards and five convicts—with nearly as many injured, some of whom may die.

One of the guards, Marvin Duncan, was under close guard in a hospital. He is believed to have lost his mind as the result of a night of terror spent in Cell House No. 3 in company with the mutinous convicts.

He saw two other unarmed guards shot to death and their bodies tossed out a window. He saw two others, bound hand and foot, shot to death against a wall, and permitted to lie where they fell. And he heard Danny Daniels, official executioner for the revolting convicts, send a message to the warden that "Duncan would be the next to die."

The guards were killed in an effort by the convicts to compel prison authorities to comply with their demand for three automobiles and unmolested freedom.

Blames Only Six.

Following a preliminary investigation, Warden Crawford announced he is convinced only half a dozen desperate criminals actually participated in the riot. The remainder, he said, were compelled to accompany these

ATLANTA WOMAN ROUTS BURGLAR FROM HER HOME

Mrs. C. L. Hewing, of 374 Milledge avenue, Friday night proved that she does not need the aid of neighbors or of officers of the law in protecting her home, when single-handed she routed a negro intruder.

Mrs. Hewing told Call Officers R. E. Floyd and R. L. Mosely, who investigated, that while she was alone in her bedroom she saw a tall negro standing in the hallway, with a sack in his hand. Without hesitation she attacked the would-be burglar with her fists and forced him to make a rapid retreat through the back door. Officers could find no trace of the negro.

RAMSAY M'DONALD MEETS PRESIDENT AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON ROARS WELCOME TO BRITON

Day of Enthusiastic Greetings From Two Cities Marks Prime Minister's Arrival.

BY C. P. WILLIAMSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—An epochal chapter in Anglo-American relations was begun tonight as the heads of the American and British governments clasped hands in the White House for the first time in history.

This gesture was considered both by President Herbert Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald as symbolic of the growing understanding which they desire to prevail between the English-speaking nations. They exchanged salutations in an atmosphere warm with friendship.

After that cordial beginning, they initiated conversations looking toward a broad sympathy of purpose between their peoples as an impetus to world peace—a cause which lies close to the heart of each.

The British premier within an hour voiced his own hope and that of his people that in this visit there would be cleared away any causes for misunderstandings.

He told American and foreign newspaper correspondents received at the British embassy that the desire for Anglo-American friendship was very deep and profound in him.

In his talk, as in those he made in New York city upon his arrival upon American soil, during the forenoon, the British statesman emphasized that there was no idea of any alliance between Great Britain and the United States.

Alliances belong to the old order of diplomacy, the prime minister said, adding that what the British people desire was that future differences might not be complicated by misunderstandings.

It was made plain that the informal conferences that are to be held between Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover over this week-end will have to do with the maintenance of peace and the cultivation of good will in its widest aspects. At the White House the distinguished visitor accepted Mr. Hoover's personal invitation to be his guest over the week-end.

While unquestionably naval limitation will enter into the discussions, it was regarded as certain tonight that such subjects as the entry of the United States into the League of Na-

FORMER LAKEWOOD CASHIER INDICTED FOR FALSE ENTRY

An additional indictment against P. W. Hancock, former cashier of the Lakewood bank, was returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury. Hancock was brought to Atlanta from the Colquitt county chain gang Tuesday for trial, but the case was continued until November.

The new indictment charges Hancock with false entry and alleges that he omitted to make an entry of his own note for $46,307.91 which became an asset of the bank in lieu of other assets. Hancock now is serving time on other charges growing out of the failure of the bank.

STATE CHIROPRACTORS CONVENE IN ATLANTA

General Homer Parker and John N. Holder To Make Addresses.

The 18th annual convention of the Georgia Chiropractic Association opened Friday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel, with Dr. Michael Gershon, of Atlanta, presiding.

Papers prepared by Dr. Evert E. Clark and Dr. Eugene Provost, Jr., of Atlanta, and an address by T. N. Brown, of Swainsboro, provided the features of the first meeting.

Alabama was represented by Dr. E. Salsbery, of Fairfield, and Mississippi by Dr. Wilburn Lawrence, of Meridian, a director of the American Chiropractic Association, who is now on a national speaking tour.

Among those who will address the convention are Rev. R. B. Burgess, of Spartanburg, S. C.; Adjutant General Homer C. Parker, of Atlanta; Carl N. Guess, of Atlanta, and John N. Holder, of Jefferson.

The morning session today will feature an address by Dr. Wilbur Lawrence, of Meridian, Miss.; annual report by Dr. J. M. Burgess, of Statesboro; election of officers and the selection of the meeting place for the 1930 annual convention.

Making of Whisky Charged by Agents To DeKalb Man

Hugh Cash, of DeKalb county, was placed under $1,000 bond on charges of manufacturing whisky, following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith here Friday afternoon.

Federal agents testified that they located a still prior to Cash's apprehension but that they decided to keep a close watch on it rather than destroy it at once. The following day, it was stated, they surprised the defendant at work and took him into custody.

NEW ORLEANS MAN DROWNS IN PLUNGE FROM MOVING TRAIN

Gulfport, Miss., October 4.—(AP)—The body of Solomon S. Goldberg, 50, New Orleans cement and steel importer, who leaped from a northbound Louisville & Nashville passenger train into the Bay St. Louis, 14 miles west of here this morning, was prepared for shipment to New Orleans tonight.

The body, identified by cards in the pockets, was found about 300 feet east of the old Bay St. Louis ferry landing by four Bay St. Louis youths.

BURIAL RITES MONDAY FOR EPISCOPAL BISHOP

Last Services Will Be Held in Baltimore — Burleson Probable Successor.

Atlantic City, N. J., October 4.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, who died yesterday while presiding over a meeting of his house of bishops, will be buried Monday at Baltimore, where he was consecrated 20 years ago.

The house, before adjourning, voted to meet on November 13 at Washington, D. C., to elect a successor. Indications were that the Rt. Rev. Hugh L. Burleson, missionary bishop of South Dakota, who was chief assistant to Bishop Murray, would be chosen to succeed him.

Bishop Murray was elected presiding bishop in October, 1925. He was credited with being the wealthiest member of the Episcopal house of bishops, having been a successful businessman before entering the church. In his youth he attended a theological seminary for two years, but was forced to turn to a business career because of the death of his father, which left him the sole support of a mother, three sisters and three brothers.

His son, Dr. John Gardner Murray, Jr., a member of the staff of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, came here to accompany his mother to Baltimore with the body. Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a. m. at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels. Burial will be in Druid Ridge cemetery.

PICTURE PRODUCER SAYS NOAH BEERY 'BLACK-JACKED' HIM

Los Angeles, October 4.—(AP)—Noah Beery, film actor, was sued in superior court today by Raymond Wells, an independent motion picture producer, for $100,000 damages. Wells charged that after an automobile collision last September Beery leaped from his car, menaced him with a gun, and beat him over the head with a blackjack. Wells said his skull was fractured by the blow.

Tax on Speculative Securities Urged By Senator Heflin

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—A tax on speculative securities was advocated totday by Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, as echoes of yesterday's price decline in Wall Street reached the floor of the senate.

Heflin's suggestion that such a tax would slow up "wildcat gambling" drew from Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, an observation that it is "our duty to outlaw marginal selling." Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, remarked that such a course was open by adoption of an amendment to the federal reserve law proposed by Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia.

"We've reached the point where interest rates are fixed by gamblers in New York," Heflin shouted. "This congress has got to curb it."

MISSISSIPPI OFFERS $500,000 IN NOTES AT OCTOBER SALE

Jackson, Miss., October 4.—(AP)—Short term notes of the state of Mississippi totalling $500,000 will be sold by the bond commission October 15, it was announced today.

Authority for issuance of the notes was granted at the recent extraordinary session of the legislature to take care of current expenses and any deficit facing the state at the end of the biennium.

MALARIA CONFERENCE AT QUITMAN TODAY

Quitman, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—A meeting of the city and county school teachers will be held here Saturday to launch an educational campaign on "malaria, its cause and cure." The board of health, Superintendent W. J. Coey, of the county board of education; J. Harold Saxon, of the city schools, are joining in a county-wide essay contest for school children in which prizes will be offered for the best essay on the subject. The negro teachers will also meet tomorrow for the same purpose.

Malaria has been prevalent here, and this is the beginning of a campaign to clear up this condition.

Green Lima beans tonight

Here's a treat for the whole family—Stokely's Green Lima Beans. These tiny, tender morsels of deliciousness come to your table actually packed fresher than the fresh vegetables you buy.

Stokely's Green Lima Beans may be picked only at the moment when they are just right. They are then packed the same day, often within the same hour, by a process that keeps them almost as rich in vitamins as the fresh, uncooked bean. At your grocer.

BROKERS' LOAN PROBE SOUGHT BY BANKERS

San Francisco, October 4.—(AP)—Having voiced their faith in the soundness of the credit situation and recommended a scientific investigation of the brokers' loan problem by the federal reserve authorities, delegates were on their way home today after winding up the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association.

Hope was expressed that the resolution passed just before adjournment, urging federal reserve system and stock exchange heads to study brokers' loans in an effort to stabilize the national credit situation, might stave off a congressional investigation.

Many and divergent views on the relative merits of branch and group banking as distinguished from unit banking came out of the gathering. The convention revealed that deep feeling exists among bankers over the absorption of many banks by huge branching systems.

During the last session unit bankers had their say. George W. Davison, of New York, declared the unit bank, under which America had grown to be the greatest industrial nation of history, was still the best adapted to continuance of that prosperity.

Max B. Nahm, of Bowling Green, Ky., attributed failure of banks to failure of surrounding areas, rather than to weakness of the system. He believed the banks that have failed in the last decade—more than 5,000—would have failed whether under state or national charter, or whether they were members of branch systems or unit banks.

Other matters closely noted by the bankers and throughout American financial circles included the declaration by Retiring President C. B. Hazlewood, of Chicago, that many banks were over-loaned on securities and in a top-heavy position; the statement by Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole, regarded as the voice of the Hoover administration, that branch banking privileges should be extended to national banks, and the indorsement of the federal farm board as a stabilizing instrumentality for agriculture.

MINISTER CLOSES BREACH ACTION AGAINST WOMAN

Seattle, Wash., October 4.—(AP)—Counsel for the Rev. H. H. Clark in his $50,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie Kennedy rested his case late today. The jury was excused until 9:30 a. m. Monday morning, the intervening time to be occupied by the legal arguments, including a motion to dismiss the case.

Talmadge Urges Farm Board Aid To Boost Cotton

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Senator Heflin, of Alabama, who has urged members of the federal farm board to do something to help the southern farmer obtain a better price for cotton, read telegrams in the senate today from commissioners of agriculture of half a dozen southern states indorsing his stand.

Heflin had sent the state officials telegrams asking if they thought the cotton producer could afford to sell at less than 20 cents a pound. The answers, from Georgia, Oklahoma, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Alabama, all agreed, he said, that 20 cents was the minimum at which cotton could be sold with a profit.

One telegram, he added, urged that the farm board buy up enough cotton to make the price reach 25 cents.

"Telegram received. You are exactly correct in testimony before committee that there can be no profit from cotton for less than 20 cents per pound. You state for past eight years average has been 21 cents. Ninety per cent of cotton farmers have gone broke in past eight years trying to make cotton at 21 cents. This year's crop is shorter than average. I am of opinion that present weather conditions will make crop fall short government's estimate at least million bales. Cotton should bring 25 cents pound. Federal farm board should take immediate action to buy up enough cotton to cause it to bring this price."

NAVY AVIATOR FALLS TO DEATH AT 2,500 FEET UP

Pensacola, Fla., October 4.—(AP)—Ensign Henry G'Sell student naval aviator, was killed at the naval air station here today when he apparently lost control of the Curtiss-Hawk airplane he was piloting in aerial maneuvers 2,500 feet above the station's landing field and fell to the field. G'Sell's home was in Kansas City, Mo.

It was said at the naval air station that G'Sell had been performing the maneuvers as a part of his flying course, which would have been completed in about a month. As he passed over the landing field at the 2,500-foot altitude, the plane suddenly swerved and plunged to the ground. G'Sell was apparently unable to extricate himself for a parachute jump, it was said.

Naval officials said that this was the fourth crash that G'Sell had been in. Two were of minor nature, and he made a parachute jump to save his life in the third.

Prohibition Brings Hoover Big Profit; Cole Blease Says

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, said in the senate today that "prohibition has been called a noble experiment by President Hoover, who is one of its chief beneficiaries."

Previously the senator had said his attention had been called to a report that Mr. Hoover was "one of the largest grape growers" in the country and that the price of grapes had advanced 1,000 per cent under prohibition.

The South Carolinian said freight rates on grapes recently had been reduced, and that the federal farm board had advanced $9,000,000 as a loan to the California grape industry.

Instead of "fooling with farm relief boards," he added, some action should be taken toward lowering freight rates on agricultural products, but that "for some reason or other," opposition always developed.

He then introduced a bill designed to lower such rates.

SHOALS' POWER MATTER AGAIN BEFORE SENATE

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—An appeal for an early solution by congress of the long pending Muscle Shoals' problem was made in the senate today by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, who said the contract between the government and the Alabama Power Company, which expires January 1, should not be renewed.

Black said the contract called for the purchase from the government of 216,859,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy or only one-eighth of what could be produced. This situation, he added, should not be tolerated any longer.

Since his appeal to President Hoover to include a recommendation in his message to the special session for solution of the Shoals problem in his message to the special session, Black said new facts had developed.

He cited these as the increased production of nitrogen in Chile and Germany, the alleged control of nitrogen prices in this country by a foreign cartel, and work of "huge lobbies" which were confusing the minds of legislators against legislation which would reduce the nitrogen prices in this country by permitting its manufacture at the shoals.

The Alabaman said the National Fertilizer Association headed the lobby, realizing it would cost the fertilizer companies too much money to re-equip their plants to produce fixed nitrogen from the air. He quoted the late Senator Underwood as saying the government should produce nitrogen at Muscle Shoals even if it had to throw the output in the river, and cited developments in nitrogen production which he said bore out this statement.

HEAVY SEA BAFFLES ATTEMPT TO ARREST ALLEGED SLAYER

New York, October 4.—(AP)—The wind-tossed waters of Long Island sound today twice balked efforts of New York police authorities to halt a Boston-bound tug on which was a man wanted here in connection with a killing and whom they had pursued by plane and boat.

After overtaking the tug in a chartered airplane off New London, Conn., today four police officers found the water too rough for a descent so they landed at New London and put out from there in a boat. The waves also proved too much for their craft, said a message to police headquarters here, and they were forced to turn back.

The man sought is Capt. William G. Baker, aboard the tug Harry S. Keeler. He is charged with complicity in the death of William Mehaffey, barge captain of Ipswich, Mass., who was found dead on his barge today, allegedly from a beating given him by Baker.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR SHREVEPORT AIRWAYS, INC.

Shreveport, La., October 4.—(AP)—Setting forth that the operation of the Shreveport airport had been virtually abandoned, three local business firms have filed a petition in the district court asking that a receiver be appointed for the Shreveport Airways, Inc., which operated the airport here. The total indebtedness, they claim, is $641.

The Shreveport Airways, Inc., was organized and headed by Major E. B. Redline, who recently committed suicide.

Capture of Hacksaw Bars Prison Escape at Dalton

Vivian Stanley, of the state prison commission, inspecting a hacksaw and a box of food in which an attempt was made to smuggle it to an inmate of the Dalton prison.

Vivian Stanley, of the state prison commission, Friday afternoon became personally interested in the "hacksaw racket" when he received a box from the prison camp at Dalton in which inquiring guards had found an outfit, complete with saw and blades, with which a wholesale prison break might have been effected.

They were cleverly concealed. The package, which reached the camp through the mails, contained a variety of things, cake, candy and cigarettes. The food was in a smaller cardboard box placed, as though for protection, in a larger one of corrugated cardboard.

The outer box had a false bottom. In the space beneath, the saw, its handle removed, and seven blades lay.

Their discovery will mean trouble for someone in Georgia. Mr. Stanley declined to reveal the return address written on the paper wrappings, but he announced that he had communicated with the sheriff of the county from which it was sent, and that he expected an arrest to follow shortly.

The package was addressed to Arthur Horn Ilen, who was convicted in Fulton county last march and sentenced to from 7 to 15 years. Ilen has an alias of Roy Williams.

The case is the second within the past week in which there has been an attempt to introduce hacksaw blades into Georgia prisons. Last week a jail break at Fulton tower was narrowly averted by the discovery of blades in a loaf of bread.

Aubrey Smith, notorious convict and prison escape, sawed his way out of the prison farm at Milledgeville last July 25 with a hacksaw which, together with a pistol and cartridges, were smuggled in hidden in what were apparently cans of fruit.

STATE GETS EVIDENCE IN STRIKE SHOOTINGS

Marion, N. C., October 4.—(AP)—Eyewitnesses of the riot at the Marion Manufacturing Company's mill on Wednesday, which cost the lives of five men, today testified at the state's preliminary investigation that the shots fired had come from Sheriff O. F. Adkins and his group of deputies.

Judge W. F. Harding, of the North Carolina superior court, acting as a committing magistrate, began the long task of trying to ascertain the facts after funeral services had been conducted for four of the five dead men. The fifth man died only a short time before the funeral.

The public ceremonies over the bodies of the dead men were marked by fiery funeral orations mingled with hymns, prayers and the singing of the union rallying song.

The formal inquiry opened with the testimony of Douglas Eller, an Asheville newspaper reporter, who said that the "sound of the shots" had come from where the sheriff and his men were stationed. He was unable to say who had fired. Under cross examination Eller said that he had taken "about two drinks" before the trouble and in answer to a direct question said that he was in the "habit of drinking." The reporter said that when the gunfire began he "ran around in circles and finally got behind a rain barrel."

J. T. Russell, a worker in a neighboring mill, testified that he had seen Sheriff Adkins shoot Sam Vickers, who, with Randolph Hall, Luther Bryson, John Jonas and James Roberts, lost his life as a result of the fight. He said that Adkins had held Vickers with one hand and shot him in the side.

Albert Noblett and Waldon Minish, both strikers from the Marion Manufacturing Company plant, testified they had seen the sheriff shoot Vickers.

Minish, who was admonished by Judge Harding for arguing with attorneys for the sheriff, said that he also had seen Deputies Robins, Jim Owens, Murphy Owens and another whom he did not know, shooting.

"Jim Owens," Minish said, "was waving his gun like a machine gun so he would be sure and get some one."

Sheriff Adkins in describing the flareup shortly after it ended said that he had not fired a shot. He stated at the time that he interferred when a fight started among strikers on the night shift and workers who attempted to enter the mill for day work.

U. S. TO OPEN BIDS ON TWO NARCOTIC FARMS SATURDAY

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, October 4.—Bids will be opened by the United States public health service Saturday on sites called for by the government for the location of the two great federal narcotic farms authorized by congress.

One of the institutions is expected to be located in the southeast and the formal opening of bids is scheduled to find sites offered in Georgia.

Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, today conferred with officials of the public health service to urge that any site proposed in Georgia be given full consideration before a decision is reached. He stated afterward that officials had informed him that of all the bids submitted five or six of the most desirable would be investigated by government agents who would be expected to make a personal inspection before presenting a final report to congress.

GROCER ADMITS SHOOTING GIRL IN JEALOUS RAGE

Jacksonville, Fla., October 4.—(AP)—A 69-year-old grocer today was awaiting in jail here the outcome of wounds he inflicted upon a 17-year-old matron whom he shot because she had spurned his love.

The man, Frank Varia, admitted he had shot the young woman in a jealous rage, and because she had refused his proposals of love. He attempted suicide, but failed because his aim was poor. The girl was believed in a dying condition.

LINDBERGH LANDS AT HONDURAN CITY ON CARIBBEAN TRIP

Belize, British Honduras, October 4.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, continuing his 7,000-mile Caribbean trip, landed here at 2:30 p. m. today. He left Guatemala City for Belize at 11:15 a. m.

300 ARE INDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY

South Bend, Ind., October 4.—(AP)—One hundred eighty-one indictments, involving about 300 persons in northern Indiana, mostly in Lake county, were returned by the federal grand jury today, climaxing an extended investigation of liquor, vice and alleged political corruption in the north part of the state.

The indictments included three conspiracy cases, one involving more than 100 persons in East Chicago, including Mayor Raleigh P. Hale and Chief of Police James Reagan. The other two conspiracies were believed to have implicated Gary persons, chiefly police officers accused of conniving with liquor dealers.

The grand jury report included nothing on the "mass of evidence relating to alleged election frauds in Lake county," John H. Pratt, special assistant attorney-general of the United States, said in a formal statement to newspapermen. Mr. Pratt, who assisted Oliver W. Loomis, United States attorney, in prosecuting the investigation, said the election fraud inquiry would go ahead, however, and the evidence later be presented to a new grand jury, to be called after December 1.

Many of the indictments were suppressed pending the arrest of the persons named. Mr. Loomis said among those named in the secret indictments were several persons whose arrests would create "surprises." There were 53 secret indictments voted, naming 80 persons in Gary, Ind., and Lake county.

The conspiracy indictment against Mayor Hale, Chief Reagan and others charged the manufacture, sale, possession, transportation and importation of liquor. Included in the conspiracy charge were Martin Zarkovich, East Chicago chief of detectives; Grice Shandler, negro vice king, and several other police officers and bootleggers.

ALABAMA JURY WOULD IMPEACH TAX COLLECTOR

Seale, Ala., October 4.—(AP)—A Russell county grand jury returning its report to Circuit Judge J. S. Williams here late yesterday recommended the impeachment of W. Homer Chadwick, county tax assessor, on charges of excessive use of intoxicants and neglect of duty.

The grand jury charged that Chadwick used intoxicating liquors to such an extent as to, in view of the importance of his position, render him unfit for the performance of his duties. That charge and the allegation of neglect of duty formed the sole basis for the grand jury's action.

Court attaches said Chadwick probably will be brought to trial in the Russell circuit court here some time next week.

Bride, Wedded By Proxy, Off To Join Husband

Kitzbuehel, Austria, October 4.—(AP) Married by proxy, Countess Hanna Thun-Hohenstein, daughter of Count Leo Thun-Hohenstein, is now on her way to join her husband, Rudolf Von Dueckelmann, in Sumatra.

The bride is 21 years old and the bridegroom 33.

The couple first met just a year ago during the bridegroom's holiday in Austria. He has been employed since just after the war, in which he served as a lieutenant, by a Dutch tobacco company on one of its plantations in the island of Sumatra.

As he could not obtain leave from his work to return to Austria for the wedding, his place as bridegroom was taken by the brother of the bride, Count Leo Thun-Hohenstein, Jr.

GOV. SAMPSON RECEIVES VASE FROM EMPLOYES

Frankfort, Ky., October 4.—(AP)—A silver vase and a wreath of flowers, spelling out the word "victory," were presented by state officials and employes yesterday to Governor Flem D. Sampson, who was acquitted in Franklin circuit court Wednesday of charges of accepting a gift from a textbook publishing company.

The wreaths and the vase were purchased with contributions made by both democratic and republican state employes. The presentation was made in the state reception room by Thomas Bulloch, 82, night watchman of the capitol, who planned the congratulatory affair.

In expressing his appreciation, Governor Sampson pledged himself "to continue to work for a greater Kentucky."

BODY OF STRESEMANN LIES IN STATE ON BIER

Berlin, October 4.—(AP)—The body of Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann, of Germany, was laid out in state today in his official residence adjoining the foreign office with a guard on duty day and night in the garden outside.

Only close friends of the dead German statesman were permitted to enter and make a last visit to the quiet figure lying on its flower-heaped bier.

A state funeral, including the highest honors which the German republic can bestow upon its servants, will be given Stresemann Sunday. The actual interment in the small Berlin cemetery which he himself selected is to be private, but up to the cemetery gates his body will be accompanied by the publicly expressed homage of the nation.

The bier will be transfered tomorrow night to the reichstag hall, scene of Stresemann's political battles since 1914 and even before.

Thousands of Germans will file past the body on the great square in front of the reichstag Sunday morning.

Oboy Bread Pudding: 2 cups stale Oboy Bread—1 quart milk—¼ teaspoon salt—⅓ cup raisins if desired—2 eggs—½ cup sugar—1 teaspoon vanilla. Soak bread in milk until it is very soft, then mash fine. Heat together until nearly boiling. Beat eggs until light and add sugar, salt and vanilla. When well mixed, stir this into the bread and milk, pour the whole into an earthenware baking-dish set in pan of water, and bake in slow oven (250°-350°F).

You can depend on an Oboy grocer

The grocer who handles Oboy Bread has a high standing in his community. His products are the finest and purest that he can get. His choice of the bread he sells you is proof of that.

The next time you're in his store, ask him about Oboy. He'll tell you how immaculately clean it is—how it contains only the most nutritious flour—how an exclusive system of baking gives it a tempting, teasing flavor that's new. Then buy a loaf and prove it to yourself. Serve it sliced for dinner and toasted for breakfast. The family will "eat it up."

Merritt Protests Innocence To Last as Electric Chair Takes Penalty for Attack

Attacker of Atlanta Woman Calm in Last Moments—Asks That Wife, Babes Be Cared For.

BY L. A. FARRELL.
Staff Correspondent.

Milledgeville, October 4.—(Special.) Alvin Eugene Merritt was put to death in the electric chair at the state prison farm here today. He paid with his life for a crime on a young white woman, one of a long series charged to him.

Merritt's last words, from the chair, were protests of innocence. To the last he denied the charges against him. And to the last he was "game."

"I am dying for something I know nothing about," Merritt said after he had been strapped in the chair. "I want you men to see that justice is put in the laws of Georgia and I want my wife and baby cared for by the state as I would have cared for them."

Merritt entered the death chamber at 12:05 o'clock. Two shocks were sent through his body, the first lasting 18 seconds and the second of 15 seconds' duration. He was pronounced dead at 12:15.

Outside, the only sounds rending the air save the hum of the dynamo controlling the execution chair, could be heard the cries of Merritt's mother, his wife and his sister. At the last minute the mother, Mrs. T. H. Merritt, had been persuaded from carrying out her announced intention of standing by her boy's side when his end came.

Shortly before he entered the death chamber Merritt requested Captain J. M. Burke, of the guard detail in charge of the execution, to remove from the chamber all newspapermen save one who had befriended him and all policemen and officers not actually taking a part in his execution. This request was granted. Merritt gave no reason for making it and none was asked.

"Fiend" Composed.

Once the most hunted man in Atlanta and described by the police as a "fiend," Merritt appeared more like a college boy as he entered the death chamber. He wore a white shirt, open at the collar, dark trousers and bedroom slippers. His face was pale from his long confinement and the ordeal he was facing, but as soon as he entered the chamber he took on a flush of color and seemed entirely composed.

He was accompanied by the Rev. Geoffrey C. Hinshelwood, pastor of the Buckhead Baptist church, who recently baptized him, and three members of the prison guard under command of Captain Burke.

"I'm not afraid to die," Merritt said as the straps were being adjusted. "I hate to go because of the blot I'm leaving on my wife and child. I am leaving two orphans, a young wife without parents and a child without a father."

Merritt was resigned to his fate when he awoke on the day which was to be his last. He apparently had slept well, his guards said, ordered and ate a hearty breakfast.

His mother, his sister and his wife and year-old daughter reached the death cell early. They spent the last hours comforting and consoling him and praying with him. Until a few minutes before he started his last march, his mother insisted she was going to the death chamber with him and it was only after much persuasion that she agreed to leave the prison and await the body outside its massive iron gates.

Governor Refuses Intervention.

Just before he entered the death chamber Merritt received a telegram from his lawyers in Atlanta, H. A. Allen, Jeff Miner and W. A. Covington. They had just seen the governor, the lawyers said, and he refused to intervene. They had exhausted every hope. They prayed for him, they said. They had done everything possible. They had four times won him respites and stays of execution. They were at the end of their rope.

Merritt's body was taken in charge by the Barclay & Williams Undertaking Company. It was removed to the home of Prison Chaplain Atkins and prepared for removal to Atlanta. Funeral arrangements are to be made Saturday.

Willie Bryant, an Atlanta negro, convicted of an attack on a white woman in Ware county, preceded Merritt to his doom. Bryant had "made his peace with God" and was ready to go.

"If I had stayed on Decatur street where I belonged," he said just before entering the chamber, "I never would have been here."

In the chair he asked that he be given a funeral and burial. It was assured him. Three sharp shocks were administered him. In 15 minutes he was pronounced dead.

JAMES W. CLARKE, HANCOCK FARMER, DIES AFTER STROKE

Sparta, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) Suffering a paralytic stroke a few days ago from which physicians were never able to revive him, James W. Clarke died at his home Thursday night. He was 55 years old. Mr. Clarke was a member of the Bethel Baptist church. Surviving him are five sons, Fred, Lewis, Dana, Emmett and Hugh Clarke, and five daughters, Miss Eunice Clarke, Miss Sara Claire Clarke, Miss Julia Clarke, Miss India Clarke and Miss Grace Clarke.

Funeral services and interment were held in the cemetery at Culverton this afternoon. Rites were conducted by Rev. W. A. H. Flynt, pastor of Bethel Baptist church.

LEGION AUXILIARY LEADER REPORTS LOSS OF BAR PIN

While en route to her home at West Palm Beach, Fla., from the American Legion convention at Louisville, Mrs. Charlotte Hightower, vice president of the Legion auxiliary of the Florida city, lost a bar pin Friday in Atlanta, she reported to police.

The pin was attached to a black ribbon and had the words vice president engraved on it.

INDUSTRY SURVEY OF WARE COUNTY IS BEING PRINTED

Waycross, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—The Chamber of Commerce is now compiling 200 copies of an industrial survey of Waycross and Ware county for the information of those seeking details about the advantages of this city and county as an industrial location. The survey compiled by the Georgia Power & Light Company is being used in the present survey, later details being added. The survey is being bound in loose leaf form so that information on any particular item may be furnished. It is expected to have the survey completed by November 1.

SPALDING BOYS WIN $310 PRIZES AT STOCK SHOW

Griffin, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) Spalding county boys won a total of $310 in prizes at the Southern Live Stock show at Memphis, Tenn. This show is the official Calf Club show of the south and the showing of the boys was in competition with several hundred other entries.

The stock judging team, composed of David Walker, Robert Burnette, and Frank Lindsey, won fourth place in open competition. In the 4-H Club contest the local boys took first and second place in the Georgia group and twelfth in the national group.

David Walker came fifth in the high score for the show; Owen Shackelford, Bill Bennett, Frank Lindsey and John Lindsey also won places in the two-year and over class.

Painting Depicting Surrender of Lee Owned by Martin

One of the most valuable heirlooms in the possession of Charles E. Martin, city license inspector, is a color print of a painting of the surrender of General Robert E. Lee, Confederate army commander, to General Ulysses S. Grant, federal leader, at the Appomattox courthouse in Virginia.

The picture was found by Mr. Martin when he was reframing several old pictures from his grandmother's home at Cartersville, and has been preserved carefully by him for the 30 years it has been in his possession.

It was the property of Mrs. Sarah Farmer Martin, Mr. Martin's grandmother, but was given to him.

Both Mr. Martin's grandfathers, Henry Martin, husband of Mrs. Martin, and C. W. Newton, his maternal grandfather, were killed in the Confederate army.

Grid Fans Due For Wetting, Forecast Says

Georgia Tech's national football champions are destined to open their 1929 campaign here today under very adverse weather conditions, according to the official forecast of the local bureau, which calls for "showers" despite the fact that the year's rain total is already several inches ahead of schedule.

A minimum temperature of 50 Friday morning was changed to a maximum of nearly 70 as the clouds cleared away for a few hours and gave the sun a chance. In a few more hours, however, the clouds again were in evidence, forerunners of wet weather today, but no great change in the mercury range is anticipated.

G. E. REFRIGERATOR DEALER MEETING ENDS

C. A. Collier Attributes Longer Life Partly to Food Preservation.

Despite the perils of traffic, the average child born today has a guarantee of a longer life by 20 years than the average child born 50 years ago, General Electric refrigerator dealers were told at the closing session of the sales meeting held here Friday by Alexander-Seewald Company, distributor, at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

CHARLES A. COLLIER.
Vice president of the Georgia Power Company and director of the national food preservation committee, who addressed General Electric refrigerator dealers Friday night.

This increase in life expectancy has been accomplished by a number of apparently small contributions toward better and more scientific living conditions, said C. A. Collier, director of the national food preservation committee for this district. He mentioned the bathtub, tooth brush, open windows and hygenic methods of food preservation as sharing in the credit by helping people to take better care of their health.

"Scientific research," he said, "has proved beyond doubt that there is a specific temperature for best results in the preservation of foodstuffs. The exact temperature has not yet been determined, but it is known to exist somewhere between 32 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The upper limit is fixed because above that temperature, bacteria grow very rapidly. The lower mark is fixed because most foods will freeze when kept below that temperature, and freezing breaks down the fibers of most food stuffs, affecting not only its nutritious qualities, but its palatability."

Mr. Collier said keeping food at the proper temperature would do much to eliminate the 10 per cent waste which exists with the average family. "According to national statistics," he pointed out, "the average family budget for foodstuffs is $600, and that 10 per cent of this is wasted because of improper refrigeration." He further stated the average housewife is not conscious of this great waste because it is made up in many small losses such as souring of milk and cream which is kept from one day to another, the last of a quantity of fresh fruits or vegetables and left-overs which might be kept from one day to another.

Mr. Collier outlined the September activities of the national food preservation council telling of the use of national magazines, newspapers and other forms of advertising to acquaint the public with the fact that 50 degrees Fahrenheit is the danger line at which foodstuffs can be kept properly. He further stated that a national contest was being sponsored by the national food preservation council offering prizes aggregating $25,000 for the best essay on "Why 50 Degrees Is the Danger Point."

MAYOR, GOVERNOR VISITED BY M'COY, CORPS AREA CHIEF

Major-General Frank Ross McCoy, new commanding officer of the Fourth Corps area, called at the capitol Friday to pay his respects to Governor L. G. Hardman, and at the Atlanta city hall to pay similar respects to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale. General McCoy was accompanied by Adjutant-General Homer Parker, Colonel Duncan Major, and Lieutenant William S. Biddle, his aide-de-camp.

TATE TO SUBMIT PLAN FOR STATE ROAD WORK

Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the state highway board, will submit a five-year plan for highway construction after January 1, when W. C. Vereen, appointed to succeed Stanley S. Bennet, becomes a member of the board.

A definite program for the construction work to be undertaken each year will be submitted to the board, Colonel Tate said. If adopted, maps will be prepared, showing in detail the construction to be carried out each year.

When delegations appear before the board they will be shown the maps and the relation of the project they are advocating to others. The exact time it can be begun thus can be explained readily.

"The state's road system must be perfected on an equitable and sound basis. We should not proceed in patchwork fashion, a link here and a link there. I believe the only way we can do this will be to lay out a definite program of work for at least five years," he said.

Colonel Tate also stated that $400,000 is now due the counties, and that the board would do its best to retire this at once. Should money be realized through the Barrett bill, he said, it will be used to pay the debts of the board.

The extent of mileage to be constructed, or the amount of money to be expended annually, Colonel Tate did not indicate.

THREE NEAR DEATH AS BLAZE DAMAGES ATLANTA AVE. HOME

Mrs. Eddie L. Ogan and her niece and nephew, Mary and Louis Ellison, barely escaped death early Friday morning when their home at 60 Atlanta avenue was badly damaged by fire.

The shouts of a neighbor, H. H. Allen, of 911 Crew street, awakened them. The entire back side of the house was aflame when he first noticed the fire.

Before warning the occupants of the home Allen called the fire department, stations 9 and 10 answering the call. The blaze was under control within a few minutes after their arrival.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. TAYLOR

Griffin, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) Funeral services for Mrs. Lucundy Taylor, who died at her home here, were held yesterday afternoon from the New Hope Methodist church at Meansville. The Rev. I. A. Abbott and the Rev. Gid Horne officiated and interment was in the churchyard.

Mrs. Taylor, who had lived here all of her life and had a host of friends throughout this section, had been in bad health for sometime and confined to her room for several weeks.

Mrs. Taylor is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Sallie Partain; one brother, H. B. Harper, and one granddaughter, Miss Lottie Partain, all of Griffin.

FOUNDRY EMPLOYE TAKES OWN LIFE

Valdosta, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—K. E. Williams, employe of the Finley Machinery Company here for more than 20 years, officers said, ended his life today in the drafting room of the foundry by shooting himself through the temple.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAM NOW FACING LEGION

Official Estimate Places 160,000 as Number of Visitors During Gathering.

Louisville, Ky., October 4.—(AP)—Turning homeward after the four-day carnival that was their eleventh national convention, members of the American Legion today had before them an ambitious program of activities for the 12 months that will elapse before they gather in Boston next autumn.

The veterans had placed direction of their organization in the hands of O. L. Bodenhamer, the first national commander to be elected without opposition. Bodenhamer today was aboard a special train with a group of Arkansas legionnaires headed for a rousing reception at his home town of Eldorado, Ark.

As the convention ended official estimates were that it had brought 160,000 visitors to Louisville, including those who came last Tuesday for the parade.

An extensive program of work in behalf of veterans and their families was outlined in resolutions adopted by the convention, outstanding features including proposals for material increases in hospital facilities for disabled men in practically every section of the country and an urgent request that the government provide funds for families of men in hospitals who, because their illness is not serviceconnected, receive no compensation.

CAUGHT IN DRY RAID, YOUTHS FREED ON BOND

Columbus, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—Hurley Elder and Ernest Weed, Marion county youths who were arrested by W. K. Johnston, Jr., local prohibition agent, in connection with the seizure of a 500-gallon still on Wednesday, have been released on $1,000 bond each. They were given a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner N. A. Brown.

Police testified at the hearing that Omie Elder, said to have been at the still at the time of the raid, had escaped.

MEDAL IS ASKED FOR BOY SCOUT WHO SAVED LIFE

Griffin, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) The application for a Boy Scout medal of honor for Scout Newton Crouch, of Griffin, sent to national headquarters by the local council will be passed on by the national honor court at the regular meeting this month.

Scout Crouch, with the help of Gilman Drake, president of the First National bank, was instrumental in saving the life of Miss Willie Childers, who was nearly drowned in the Country Club lake this summer. Friends of Mr. Drake have recommended him to the Carnegie hero fund for a medal.

ALTON BARNES HEADS G. M. C. SENIOR CLASS

Milledgeville, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—Alton Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Barnes, of Milledgeville, has been elected president of the senior class at the Georgia Military college here this week. Rudolph Shouse, of Madison, was elected vice president, and Edwin Cooper, of Hardwick, was named secretary and treasurer.

RIGHT TO TRANSFER SUIT TO U. S. COURT WON BY S. A. LYNCH

The right to transfer a suit for $45,000 to the federal courts was won by the S. A. Lynch Enterprses, of Atlanta, in a decision handed down Friday by the court of appeads. The suit was brought against them by L. A. Dulian, et al., of Birmingham, Ala. The defending company contended that as the two litigants were residents of different states the case came within the jurisdiction of the federal courts.

FLORIDA LEGION GROUP HONORED BY ATLANTA POST

HOOVER'S DIFFICULT TASK.

The way matters affecting tariff legislation are moving in the senate implicates the possibility that there will be no actual replacement of the present tariff act by this pending special session of the congress.

It was called into action by President Hoover to deal specifically with his campaign pledges that the agricultural rates should be beneficially improved and that any particular industry suffering from unfair foreign competition might be adequately protected. It plainly was not his purpose to secure a general revision and a brand-new higher level tariff act.

But the presence in the congress of an abnormal republican majority, and the smashing republican presidential vote of last election, fired the greed of the republican industrial partisans. They saw their chance and they took it. They invaded the ways and means committee room of the house in forceful phalanx and the result was the Hawley rate-booster bill. That they jammed through the house and sent to the senate with all confidence that the republicans over there would not dare to mutilate or defeat it.

The senate star-chamber subcommittees, led by Senator Smoot, obeyed the voices of their masters and put the high-geared sweat-bill before the senate for ratification. But there it has fallen under the claws of the democrats and the Philistines of the republican party who call themselves "the progressives."

The first smash through the Hindenberg line of the high protectionists was with the Simmons motion to take away from the president and restore to congress the powers of the flexible provision. The president openly asked for their retention in the hands of the executive. The senate coalition has definitely refused to leave them there. Now it is boldly attacking other vitals of the bill with symptoms of success.

What President Hoover will now do, after this rude trimming of his notions of a correct tariff policy, is the subject of many conjectures. The most plausible of them is that so far as the agricultural issue is concerned he will be satisfied to have the new and powerful federal farm board substitute its measures for the proposed tariff rates relief, and as for the rest prefer to have no new tariff act replacing the present one, which contains his favorite flexible rate changing provision.

If he is politically skillful enough to bring that situation about he will have had his way and will have defeated all three of the present elements in the congress—the high protectionists, the insurgent republicans, and the democrats, all at once.

In the final event should he have to veto the bill that congress may pass, he can give plenty of persuasive reasons for so doing and make a lot of personal capital with the great consumer public. It will make in the work-out the most interesting political history of the century so far.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.

The arrival in Washington yesterday of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, is a historic event. It is an actual bringing of hands across the sea to clasp in friendship the hands of this great republic in a concerted effort to push further on the face of the planet the frontiers of peace.

It is easily understandable that a worldwide concordat of peace among the nations cannot be formulated in a day, or accomplished by the consent of even the two greatest of the world powers. But in the past decade undreamed of advances of "the will to peace" have been made among world leaders. Men are nearer today than ever before in human history to the longed-for time when wars will cease and the sword will devour no more.

So there is a great hope throughout civilization in the present hour that two such devoted pacifists as Hoover and MacDonald may be able, as the outcome of their conference, to advise their own and all other people how to come into that epoch—

"When navies are forgotten,
And fleets are useless things,
And the dove shall warm her bosom
Beneath the eagle's wings!"

The American people are ready to contribute all their forces to the creation of such an epoch whenever the world powers will join them to declare the great decision.

THE SOLIDIFIED UNION.

The unanimous election of a southern Legionnaire to be commander-in-chief of the American Legion, composed of World War veterans of the whole nation, is more than a routine event. It is a fine illustration that in the American Legion, at least, there lives no taint of that sectional prejudice which has for more than sixty years put a mordant color upon other so-called national organizations.

The act carries a heartening spirit with it, as did the act of the Spanish-American War veterans in 1928 when, for the first time in the thirty years of their existence, they elected Colonel Grayson, of Georgia, as their commander-in-chief. In the sweet light of such instances all hands can afford to ignore the lingering hatred that Grand Army of the Republic veterans manifest toward the few remaining veterans of the Confederate armies of 1861-65.

The country has much reason to be proud that the grandsons of the generation that fought the War Between the States have fortunately missed inheriting the "bloody shirts" that followed its conclusion. The newer era of amity and reunion may have been long delayed from coming to its high noon, but happily that hour has arrived. The American Legion at Louisville on Thursday struck "twelve" on the great clock of the Union.

GEORGE AT THE BRIDGE.

An impressive feature of the senate proceedings with the pending tariff bill is the fact that Georgia has there an authority on constitutional law in the person of Senator Walter F. George, who is listened to by his colleagues with deep and serious respect.

In the debate over the flexible provision Senator George demonstrated the analytical keenness of his juristic mind and the profoundness of his knowledge of the principles of the constitution relating to the powers of the several branches of the government. His logic was unanswerable and his conclusion that the provision is contrary to intents and prescriptions of the constitution was inescapable.

At a period in the history of the country when a dearth of understanding of the great charter is too evident and loyalty to its requisitions is notoriously lax among legislators of both the states and the nation, it is good hope to find in the highest council of the country an adept, equipped and fearless champion of the supreme law. The people of Georgia, at least, can well affirm that unconstitutional legislation by the congress cannot pass without protest from their alert senator and the democratic party of the nation may well depend upon his vigilance as a sentinel of its guardianship of that immortal instrument which gives character and justice to our governmental system.

The lad who ran away from a Wisconsin home to Tampa because "the janitor wouldn't let his dog in his flat" preferred to lead a dog's life himself.

Just as we were relieving traffic by parking cars in vacant spaces the planes came along and have taken over the areas for landing fields.

There's nothing like taking time by its forelock. You may as well begin addressing the envelopes for your Christmas cards, so there will be no regrets.

Mauretania's "Relics."

The Mauretania has attained relic value, although but 22 years old. A syndicate of American financiers, it is said, has been formed to purchase all the decorative work in this ship, delivery not to be taken of course until the ship is broken up, which, it is hoped, may be many years hence. Generations of travelers have admired the lofty lounge, panelled with polished mahogany, the pillars fluted with gold. The library lined in gleaming woods, walnut and satinwood and rosewood, the very names are a litany of beautiful words, is a stately room that would adorn a great palace; and the dining room, all in unpolished and hand-carved oak, would make any baronial castle distinguished. The American millionaires propose to have these beautiful things re-erected in a New York yachting club, where it will be an added thrill to lunch in the Mauretania dining hall or to read in comfort in the Mauretania lounge.

New Uniforms.

One of the surest signs that peace has come to stay in Europe is the fact that soldiers are growing dissatisfied with olive drab, khaki and horizon blue. They want the old gorgeous trappings back. Frenchmen are yearning for their scarlet trousers gold braid, galons and brilliant epaulettes. The Scottish Highlanders are getting sick of khaki overcoats and want the tartan back with their kilts and tam-o'-shanters. The Guards have made a request of King George to restore them to the pristine loveliness of Queen Victoria's days and give them back the red jackets and buzbees. Even American army officers are no longer satisfied with the ordinary service uniforms. On state occasions, galas, and in the ballroom they refuse to do under for the gobs with their dress uniforms. And why should all these military gentlemen not look their best? The old saying "a seam may be permissible, but a wrinkle is unpardonable in a soldier" should be applied again. If they want to, let them wear gleaming helmets, shining cuirasses, tight chamois breeches and immense and ridiculous hats. As long as they wear them we may be sure they won't fight. For the simple reason that they can't, with all that truck on their backs. Frederick the Great was so punctilious about the uniforms of his Potsdammers that they could not even drill in the end, and from the moment that the tambourmaitre of Napoleon's Old Guard started to wear an outfit that cost $6,000 the military regime of the Corsican waned till it expired at Waterloo and Quatre Bras.

Tokyo Comes Back.

All Japan bowed in solemn silence at noon recently for a few moments in memory of those who died in one of the most horrible tragedies in the history of the world, the great earthquake that devastated Tokyo, Yokohama, and surrounding towns six years ago. Everything and everybody came to a standstill, and millions of Japanese made reverence to the gods they worship, and gave thanks that they have been able to rebuild their capital and its seaport, Yokohama. The great earthquake, in which upwards of 150,000 died, struck Tokyo and its environs a few minutes before noon on September 1, 1923. Today Tokyo and Yokohama are thriving cities, risen Phoenix-like from their ashes. Streets have been widened and paved, new parks opened, and thousands of modern fire-proof buildings erected.

Sermons To Live By

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY.

Text: "See that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed thee in the Mount." Hebrews 8:5.

The pattern of every life is found in Jesus Christ and any life below Him, however excellent, is not good enough to meet God's expectations of a human being.

In former days, many people modelled their lives upon the pattern of some distinguished Greek or Roman as found described in the pages of Plutarch, and in more recent times later heroes have been to many the beau ideal of excellence.

While this is better than not to have any model, it is an instance of making the better the enemy of the best.

Every mortal should model himself after God's masterpiece of humanity, which we see in Jesus Christ.

An unknown writer truly says:

"In an art school, an inspector, when asked by a student about the benefit of copying pictures, said:

"When you copy, copy from a masterpiece.

"In copying, one will unconsciously copy error as well as truth. One will absorb others' mistakes instead of eradicating one's own.

"If, however, one copies to the best of his ability the product of a master whose work is perfect, he will improve and perfect his own work.

"Just so in life. Most of us have, among our acquaintances, or in great characters of whom we have learned, ideals which may be worthy examples in many respects, yet are not perfect.

"In our admiration of them, we are apt to make their lives our standard, and copying their virtues, unconsciously we copy their faults.

"We should, therefore, take for our ideal a character whom we know to be absolutely perfect—the great Master! Here is a pattern by which to mould our lives.

"Every one can, by the help and instruction of the Master, and by constant, patient effort, work out a perfect character out of the materials he has furnished for each of us.

"The beautiful pictures thus wrought will not only be a constant source of blessing to ourselves, but will point those with whom we come in contact to the perfect Pattern."

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

—By Robert Quillen—

My dear Louise:

You are well equipped for the business of life, except in one particular. You haven't a proper sense of humor.

You aren't alone in misfortune. Nine people in ten are in the same fix. And this defect in their equipment causes them to worry and weep and lie awake at night nursing imaginary troubles, much as a man unable to see might people the day with imaginary enemies and shudder in anticipation of destruction at each unusual sound.

You think you have a sense of humor. Everybody does. But yours, like theirs, is little more than a primitive delight in cruelty.

You laugh when somebody slips and falls. You cackle with delight when the movie clown is slapped or kicked. The jokes you enjoy are the ones that expose somebody's ignorance or make somebody ridiculous.

I'm not criticizing. All of us are primitive enough to smile at the other fellow's misfortune. But the ability to do that doesn't indicate a sense of humor, and a sense of humor you must have if you would avoid unnecessary hurts.

How shall you get it? Well, first of all you must learn what it is.

A proper sense of humor requires perspective, a sense of values, and intellectual superiority.

That isn't as difficult as it sounds.

You see a small girl weeping because her doll has rheumatism. The distance you have traveled since doll days affords perspective; your sixteen years have taught you the little value of dolls; and these advantages combine to make you feel superior to the small girl and her troubles. You are amused.

That's the trick. You must develop the ability to chuckle over trivial matters that literal and solemn people take too seriously.

You must wash your hands because cleanliness is necessary to health, and yet not howl in dismay if the water is cut off and you cannot wash.

If you lose a ring, you must take the loss lightly, remembering that you will lose your life also in a few years. Other maids wept for rings long ago, and the very houses in which they lived have been dust for thousands of years.

In short, you must learn that nothing matters as much as it seems to matter. Teach yourself to examine your troubles from a distance, as you see the troubles of others, and think how trivial they will seem next year. If that doesn't enable you to grin at your own absurdity, you are hopeless.

Love, DAD.

Senators Decide To Retain Bi-Partisan Tariff Board, Now Ready for Rate Questions

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—By voting to retain a bi-partisan tariff commission of six members, the senate today disposed of the last important administrative feature of the tariff bill and left the way virtually clear for consideration of rate schedules early next week.

No record vote was taken on the committee amendment which rejected the house plan for a non-partisan commission of seven members.

Added to the amendment was a clause drawn by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, declaring it to be the intention of congress that the commission, in "all its official functions shall act judicially and that in determination of any matter submitted to it no consideration whatever shall be given to partisanship or party policy."

The Nebraskan described his amendment as a "step in the direction of trying again to take the tariff out of politics."

Session Saturday.

A three-hour session beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow was agreed to in order that the few amendments left relating to the administrative provisions may be acted upon and the controversial rate schedules taken up next week.

Senator Thomas, of Oklahoma, a democratic member of the finance committee, served notice that he would offer a modification when the rate sections are reached to recommit the bill with instructions to confine the revision to farm products. Adoption of this resolution would leave the way open for the offering of individual amendments on the floor to the industrial rate schedules.

All sides agreed there was less support now for a motion of this kind than there was at the time a similar resolution by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, was defeated by one vote last June. Senator Thomas said he was acting on his own responsibility in proposing the limited revision and that leaders of the minority had requested him not to bring it forward at this time.

Coalition Stands.

Democrats and republican-independents, who stood together in favor of the Borah resolution, said privately that enough votes were not in prospect now to pass such a proposal.

Thomas, however, insisted that he would make the motion regardless of the absence of any organized movement for it. He said the bill hurt agriculture by proposing many increased rates that would not be effective and by carrying higher industrial rates that would offset any benefit that might accrue to the farmer from the agricultural schedule.

The only speaker against the tariff commission amendment was Senator King, of Utah, a democratic member of the finance committee, who said he favored abolition of the commission if it was to continue its "desultory and recriminatory" practices of the last seven years.

Several other minor amendments were disposed of, including one striking out a house provision making the secretary of the treasury instead of the customs court the court of last appeal from appraisers' decisions regarding the proper valuation to be used in assessing duties.

RIOT OF CONVICTS ENDED BY SUICIDE

men into the barricaded cell house on threat of death.

He also declared the convicts' entire arsenal consisted of four revolvers and one rifle. The revolvers, he said, were smuggled into the prison, while the rifle was seized from a guard on watch in the crow's nest in the dining hall. Other guards inside the prison he said, were unarmed.

He revealed that prison authorities were aware that arms had been smuggled into the prison, and had been conducting a vigorous search for them, even tearing up masonry at spots suspected of concealment.

Crawford also announced that none of the prisoners at the penitentiary had escaped in the confusion of the riot.

Casualty List.

The Dead.

Guards: R. P. Brown, Walter Rinker, Elmer G. Irwin, Jack J. Eelles, Robert A. Wiggins, Charles Shepherd, John W. McClelland.

Convicts: Danny Daniels, James Pardue, A. H. Davis, Melvin (Red) Majors, alias George Reiley, Albert Morgardge.

The Injured.

Guard Mybon H. Goodwin, shot through kidney.

George J. Hollister, shot in jaw.

Guard E. F. Osborn, shot through jaw.

Warden Eugene Crawford, scalp and chest wounds.

Sergeant E. C. Young, shot through right hip.

Detective Wraith, shot through leg.

A. B. Boukatcher, shot in neck.

George Burger, scalp wound.

I. H. Morris, shot in hand.

Priest Near Death.

Father Patrick O'Neil, priest of the Order of St. Benedict, who twice risked his life last night to plant dynamite charges against the walls of the prison cell house in which the rebellious convicts were barricaded, came closer to death each time than watchers on the outside knew.

On the first trip as he was carrying in the dynamite, trailing a fuse wire behind, some one stepped on the wire and jerked the dynamite from his hands. Father O'Neil, who stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 215 pounds, made a lightning one-handed catch of the explosives before it touched the ground.

On the second trip a Rochet machine gun bullet struck the package of dynamite, but it did not explode.

Governor Lauds Warden.

Governor W. H. Adams tonight warmly indorsed Warden Crawford's policy in handling the penitentiary riot. In a statement to the Associated Press the executive held the warden's refusal to grant the demands of the prisoners "saved a good many lives."

The statement of the government was issued after he had made a minute inspection of the destruction wrought by fire and fighting at the state institution. With the warden, Governor Adams went immediately to the penitentiary on his arrival here tonight.

His statement follows.

"The damage is much greater than I anticipated. I had not expected to see the institution reduced to the ruin that I found within the walls. I make this pledge: That I shall see that every provision is made to put things as they should be.

"This is a thing which all of us naturally regret greatly, but nobody could have avoided it.

"In my opinion the warden showed the very best judgment, and to my mind, he saved a great many lives by pursuing the policy he adopted at the outset of the mutiny."

Among the guards with whom the governor talked briefly during his short visit to the penitentiary were O. A. Earl and Lawrence Roche who were held all night as hostages by the barricaded rebels but escaped injury. The governor also talked with several convicts who had been in cell house number 3 during last night's battle. He said he would make a more thorough inspection tomorrow.

"PINEAPPLE" NO. 92 BOOMS IN CHICAGO; CIGAR STORE VICTIM

Chicago, October 4.—(AP)—Chicago's ninety-second bomb of the year, and the third in less than three days, early today blew out the front of a cigar store in Englewood, on the south side.

Several families living above the store were thrown from their beds and stunned. A passerby was cut by glass.

exhibits of everything that grows in Georgia from the mountains to the sea. The only reason every county will not be represented in that building, as explained by General Manager Mills, is that space will not permit. Every county in Georgia applied for space, and they were accommodated by the rule of "first come, first served."

Activity Everywhere.

In the acts and educational building a similar performance went on, while the industrial building held forth a scene of tremendous activity, ranging from the reproduction of a field of growing cotton installed by Sears-Roebuck, to an elaborate saddle manufactured at Buford, by the Bona Allen Company.

Along the "main street" were being installed a bewildering variety of plows, cultivators, tractors, silos, home waterworks systems, home lighting plants, radio sets, while a company of firemen seated in front of the tent housing their fire-fighting machine, were exchanging inquiries with one another as to what they were going to be furnished for supper.

It is going to be a great fair, by far the biggest and best ever seen at Lakewood park, according to officials, and to judge by the stream of people besieging the office of General Manager Mills for passes for admission, it is going to be attended by a far greater number of people than ever before.

Not only will the exhibits surpass in magnitude and variety any previous fair, but the amusement features are said to be the best ever engaged. There will be two daily performances by the wild west show, a double daily performance by Angel's Trained Dogs, which Manager Mills pronounces the finest troupe of its kind in North America, harness racing the first three days, automobile racing the second three days of next week, and a midway teeming with the highest class attractions selected from the whole range of midway concessionaries.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

IF THERE IS ANYTHING ODD.

A while ago I expatiated more or less facetiously yet always with a vein of truth, on the Perils of the Bath. Citing instances where a bath proved fatal I observed "Who knows, maybe both of these unfortunate men thought they could take it or leave it alone. My policy is to leave it alone as long as folks leave me alone." I should have liked to leave it at that, but I know my audience, and in order to stave off the inevitable rejoinder. I added this: "Not at all—that's just where you are wrong. You can't gauge a man's cleanliness by the number of bathtubs he rents or owns."

It was no use. Letters and postcards, mainly postcards, poured in. I regret to say that few of these were signed. One card was signed with a fictiticus name, I think—"Mr. I. M. Simple." Says Mr. Simple, "If you practice what you preach I have no doubt that everyone would be glad to let you alone. How do you get that way—is it dope or what?"

To the best of my knowledge it is what, in this instance. Perhaps exceptional, but it is only fair to say that I am one doctor who is queer yet takes no dope. Indeed I am perhaps as little disposed to indulge in drugs, medicine, pills or potions as any one can be who knows the way medicines act and believes thoroughly in the efficacy of medicines properly used.

The psychologists estimated that there are forty million morons in the United States alone. So any doctor who takes a step aside or forward when he feels a doctor should do so, runs the risk of getting an unsavory reputation.

The readiness of the ninnyhammer to defame the doctor who says or does anything unusual, and the fact that a considerable proportion of the child-minded population is not so recognized by the general public, combine to restrain natural progress in the art of medicine. I know how a practicing physician feels about this. He must always give an ear to popular opinion, if he wishes to hold his patronage. It is not so much the doctor's professional skill as it is his popularity that determines his success.

As a newspaper health writer I don't care a word what anybody thinks or says about my views, so long as he is cautious enough not to deny the truth of anything I say here or to impute to me any motive other than a desire to benefit the health and increase the happiness of readers.

A few people seem to think that a doctor conducting a health column in the newspaper ought to be solemn and ponderous and never indulge in any—well, any "flippancy," they call it. I beg to call attention to the quack—he always has his dignity on and keeps it well buttoned up. Dignity is part of the quack's stock in trade. The trouble with these sad birds who object to any facetiousness or horseplay in a health column, is that they are too fond of the atmosphere of quackery, and they fail to understand that this is a HEALTH department, not a clinic. Fun may be out of place at a funeral, but the game of keeping well is good fun and our motto is Personal Health Service With a Smile In It.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Catch 'Em Young.

As showing how your teachings are taking effect, Gertrude, aged 7, called on Helen, and Helen's mother heard this dialogue: "Helen, come on out and play—put on your heavy coat and overshoes—it is very cold and you are liable to catch cold." Helen—"Isn't she dumb, Ma. You don't catch cold that way somebody has to cough or sneeze in your face." (N. J. McC.)

Answer.—Some day when Helen is consulting her doctor and the doctor warns her to be careful about wet feet and drafts, there's going to be a most ingenious bit of explaining or else Helen will try another doctor. I've long since resigned myself to wait for the coming generation. You can't teach old dogs new tricks.

Pretty Label.

Please advise me whether (a proprietary food) strengthens the nervous system . . . I have been drinking it in place of tea or coffee. (D. H. Jr.)

Answer.—In my judgment it feeds or strengthens the nervous system or any other particular tissues or organs precisely as much as bread and butter, meat and potatoes will, only the pretty label makes the food so much more expensive.

MacDonald Explains Object Of Visit in Talk With Press

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, in receiving the American and foreign newspaper correspondents at the British embassy, tonight said:

"I am very pleased indeed to see you tonight. There is one thing that is uppermost in my mind and I should like to express it to you straightaway. That is I am really deeply moved by the magnificent reception that the people here have given me since I landed in New York today. It has been very touching to me and it is almost impossible for me to put into words how grateful I am for the warm as well as friendly reception which I have received all along the line of my route. I hope I can say to you after what has happened today tomorrow when you see me again that this is not my first visit to America. I always knew that your people were warm-hearted, but the proof they gave me today has been very touching indeed, and I think that the people of Great Britain when they hear about it will understand and appreciate it.

"They will know that it means that the reception given to me was really a reception given to them through me as their representative. I would like to assure you on another point. That is that I am here especially, do believe me, my American friends, I am here not as a party leader at all, I am here as representing the whole body of public opinion in Great Britain. Their desire for cordial friendship with you is ever green and very profound and they are praying, they have been praying for weeks since they knew that this visit was likely to take place, that a way might be found to bring them in heart and in spirit closer and closer to your people. Do not make any misunderstanding about that because I see that sometimes it is said elsewhere that either one of us have the idea of coming to an alliance. None whatever. America is blessed beyond words in circumstances, no special position that she does not require to consider anything in the nature of an alliance. Alliances belong, as I have said in New York today, to the old order of diplomacy.

"What we want, and I believe what your people have shown that you want, is just understanding, and if I might appeal to the American press, I should appeal to them in this way. You have a tremendous power in your hands to remove misunderstanding. We don't always see eye to eye, and I dare say you often find admirable reason for criticising us and for disagreeing with us, but I put in a plea for is that disagreement never be aggravated by misunderstanding.

"The trouble in the world today, everybody who has been foreign secretary, as I have been, or who has dealt with foreign relations, will tell you, the trouble is misunderstanding, and the great purpose, the main purpose, of my visit to Washington at the present moment is that I should try and make misunderstanding impossible. I do not know if you can say anything in public that would be very profitable at the present moment. Neither your president, I believe, nor myself—I can speak only for myself—have any idea of spending much time in discussing details. We want to survey the large and wide, the high and deep problems of international peace. We want to put an end to international war. We have all taken risks in the making of war and in the conduct of war. Isn't it time, my friends, that we should take some risks to secure peace? As long as we have to think of international dangers in terms of war, we will never get peace. As soon as we think of international dangers in terms of peace and our own determination to maintain peace, then I have got the belief and the faith that there is nothing more inimical to a final establishment of peace than a mentality which is not disarmament.

"Now America has done the whole world a great service in sponsoring the Kellogg pact. The pact of peace signed in Paris only a few months ago is one of the most substantial advances toward the establishment of peace that ever has been made, and for that Europe has to thank America. Now why should we not go on? We have all signed this pact. Shall we put it into our minds as a national policy. Shall we use it to be effective? That is the whole problem of international affairs, to make the pact of peace not only something that is put on paper, not only something that is signed, but something that is actively influencing us and all international policy.

"Another point, and probably the last point I need mention to you—is there anything that you can say about this visit to give other nations cause for assuming that we have any idea to be hostile in any share or form to them. Nothing is further from our thoughts. Any contribution that the United States and ourselves should make in more harmony is not by an attempt to leave out other people. Nothing, I am sure, would be more opposite. Nothing, I am sure, would be more the opposite of our ideas, and any successful removal of misunderstanding between America and Great Britain must be at once followed by removal of other misunderstandings with or between other nations. I have no exclusive ideas in mind at all.

"I think that is sufficient to give you a general idea. I do hope that as a result of our conversations there will be a warmer and much more cordial relationship between our two countries, and if that happens, I shall go back a very contented and a very happy man."

HEADS OF 2 NATIONS CONFER AT CAPITAL

tions or to the World Court, the American tariff, as it might effect Great Britain: international debts and kindred matters would remain untouched.

The British visitor said the invitations to the naval limitation conference would be issued by his government in the near future and that it would contain a suggestion that the parley be held in London during the third week in January.

Down Famous Street.

To the flash of cavalry sabres and the blare of trumpets, the British visitor, his daughter Ishbel and the party which accompanied him was escorted down Pennsylvania avenue on their arrival with the pomp and ceremony for which the street is famous. Adding to the official welcome which Secretary Stimson and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, accorded him in New York, the British premier was received at the Union station by other high American and British officials.

Thence he was escorted through the lines of a guard of honor of American marines to the waiting cars at the president's entrance of the station. A touch of the native Scotland of the prime minister was given by a handful of World War veterans of the famous Black Watch who greeted the prime minister with Scottish airs played on bagpipes at the station.

As the prime minister and his party emerged from the station, the United States Army band played "God Save the King" and "The Star Spangled Banner"—the British and American national anthems. Throughout the trip from the station to the embassy enthusiastic crowds, which sought vantage points to view the procession of automobiles, applauded and cheered the prime minister.

The well-known English hospitality was waiting at the British embassy upon the arrival of the party, Lady Isabella Howard personally seeing to the comfort of Miss MacDonald. Sir Esme took his guest to the embassy study for a quiet chat. Their talk was interrupted by the trip to the White House.

Plan Camping Trip.

There the president said, weather allowing, he was looking forward to entertaining Mr. MacDonald and his daughter at his fishing camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia.

After returning to the embassy from the White House, the prime minister received nearly 200 newspapermen in the embassy.

At the outset of the informal conference the premier voiced his thanks for the warm reception which he had received, both in New York and in Washington upon his arrival. He spoke in a low clear tone, rarely referring to the notes before him.

This meeting over, he retired to his room for a short time before dinner. Contrasting sharply with the formal social functions in his honor to come, the dinner was a quiet and simple affair at the embassy.

Tomorrow Mr. MacDonald will make several formal calls on high government officials before going to the White House for his stay there in mid-afternoon.

NEW YORK ACCLAIMS DISTINGUISHED BRITON.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—J. Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, en route to Washington to visit President Hoover on a good will mission, was enthusiastically acclaimed today as he set foot on American soil.

The distinguished visitor felt the first warmth of his reception at the Quarantine station, shortly after he arrived there on the liner Berengaria which was escorted by the American cruisers, Memphis and Trenton. A welcoming committee, which came down the bay on the city tug Macom, boarded the liner and formally welcomed him to city and nation.

These preliminaries over, Premier MacDonald, his daughter, Miss Ishbel, and others of his party, went on board the Macom, which proceeded to the tip of Manhattan Island at The Battery. Vessels of all descriptions in the harbor gave the party a mighty whistle salute.

Accident Averted.

An accident was narrowly averted at Quarantine when a hawser holding the Macom against the Berengaria parted just as Mr. MacDonald was preparing to step aboard the gangplank.

The Macom slid back several feet, almost pulling the gangplank off her deck. Mr. MacDonald was waved back and a new hawser quickly adjusted. He and his party then boarded the bobbing city tug.

A police band in an accompanying tug played "Britannia Rules the Waves" as the party left the Berengaria.

In the little cabin of the Macom, jammed almost to suffocation by a hundred or more reporters, Mr. MacDonald submitted to an interview.

After several minor questions, the British prime minister, his voice shaking with feeling, turned to the purpose of his visit to this country.

Treasure of Good Will.

"I know that I shall find here a great treasure of goodwill toward England," he said, and then after a few remarks concerning the proposed conversations with President Hoover, said:

"If we (England and America) stand side by side for peace who can stand against us?"

Hesitating but a moment on the steps to wave a greeting at the crowd in the plaza Mr. MacDonald and his party were escorted to the aldermanic chamber, where Mayor James J. Walker and Edward J. Flynn, New York's secretary of state, greeted him in the name of the city and state.

The time being short, Mayor Walker launched immediately into his welcoming address, and then presented the premier a scroll from the city of New York commemorating his visit. The premier made a short response.

The mayor then escorted Mr. MacDonald and his party to their automobiles and they were whisked away for the Pennsylvania station, where a special train to Washington awaited them.

M'DONALD HEARS OF HOOVER'S CAMP FROM SEC. STIMSON

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—With the prospect of a week-end at President Hoover's camp in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia ahead of him, Premier MacDonald today plied Secretary Stimson with questions about it by the way as they rode together from New York by train.

"Very much like a perfectly safe sector of a battlefront" was one description of the camp Stimson gave the premier. He added that it was far removed from the main road and reached by a sharp curving road which in a heavy rain made it almost impassable for vehicles.

The altitude and other details interested the British statesman, who was told to expect [illegible] by Mr. Stimson, who has been a guest there on one or two occasions.

SENATOR WILL OPPOSE COTTON MAN ON BOARD

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Opposition to confirmation of at least one member of the federal farm board in the senate next week was indicated today after the senate agriculture committee had concluded its examination of the members.

Assertions in the senate by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, that Carl Williams, of Oklahoma, who represents cotton on the board, lacks knowledge of the industry, were taken by many to imply that he would seek to prevent approval of the Oklahoman's nomination.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, said he might have "something to say later" about the wheat representative, Sam R. McKelvie, of Nebraska.

The South Carolina senator cited what he described as bad conditions in the cotton industry and said: "Yet our representative on the board says all is well."

The hearings today ended with the testimony of William F. Schilling, of Minneapolis, who represents the dairying industry, who received compliments from committee members.

Senator Smith said the representatives on the board of the dairy and fruit industries know their business from "beginning to end." The fruit industries are represented by C. C. Teague, of California.

Schilling placed hope for the farmers's rehabilitation in the co-operative movement and appealed to members of congress to urge faith in the board in co-operatives.

The Minnesotan, who was president of the Twin-City Milk Producers' Association, described the success of the co-operative movement among dairymen. He said the same success will accrue to other commodity groups, if the farmers will properly support co-operation.

DRY FORCES MOVE INTO SOUTHLAND FOR WINTER DRIVE

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—The treasury, with winter slowly approaching, is preparing for the usual seasonal transfer of a part of its enforcement machinery to southern climes.

This shifting will call for the transfer of many land and sea patrolmen, as well as coast guard cutters, from northern stations to the Gulf and Atlantic seaboards. Assistant Secretary Lowman, of the treasury, in charge of dry law enforcement, hopes to complete the transfer by early December.

BLONDY WOODSON FACING CHARGE OF MAIL ROBBERY

Shreveport, La., October 4.—(AP)—Blondy Woodson, who was recaptured a few months ago at Reno, Okla., after escaping from the state penitentiary, will be put on trial Monday in the United States district court here on a charge of robbing the United States mail, federal officials here said today.

The robbery of an Illinois Central train near Monroe in December, 1928, and Woodson [illegible] the train robbery count when he escaped from jail.

TEXAN SHOOTS WIFE TO DEATH, THEN SUICIDES

Fort Worth, Texas, October 4.—(AP)—A few hours after his wife, Gertrude Goodwin, 30, had obtained a divorce from him, Claude Goodwin, 33, shot and killed her and then committed suicide [illegible]. Goodwin was an employe of a packing company.

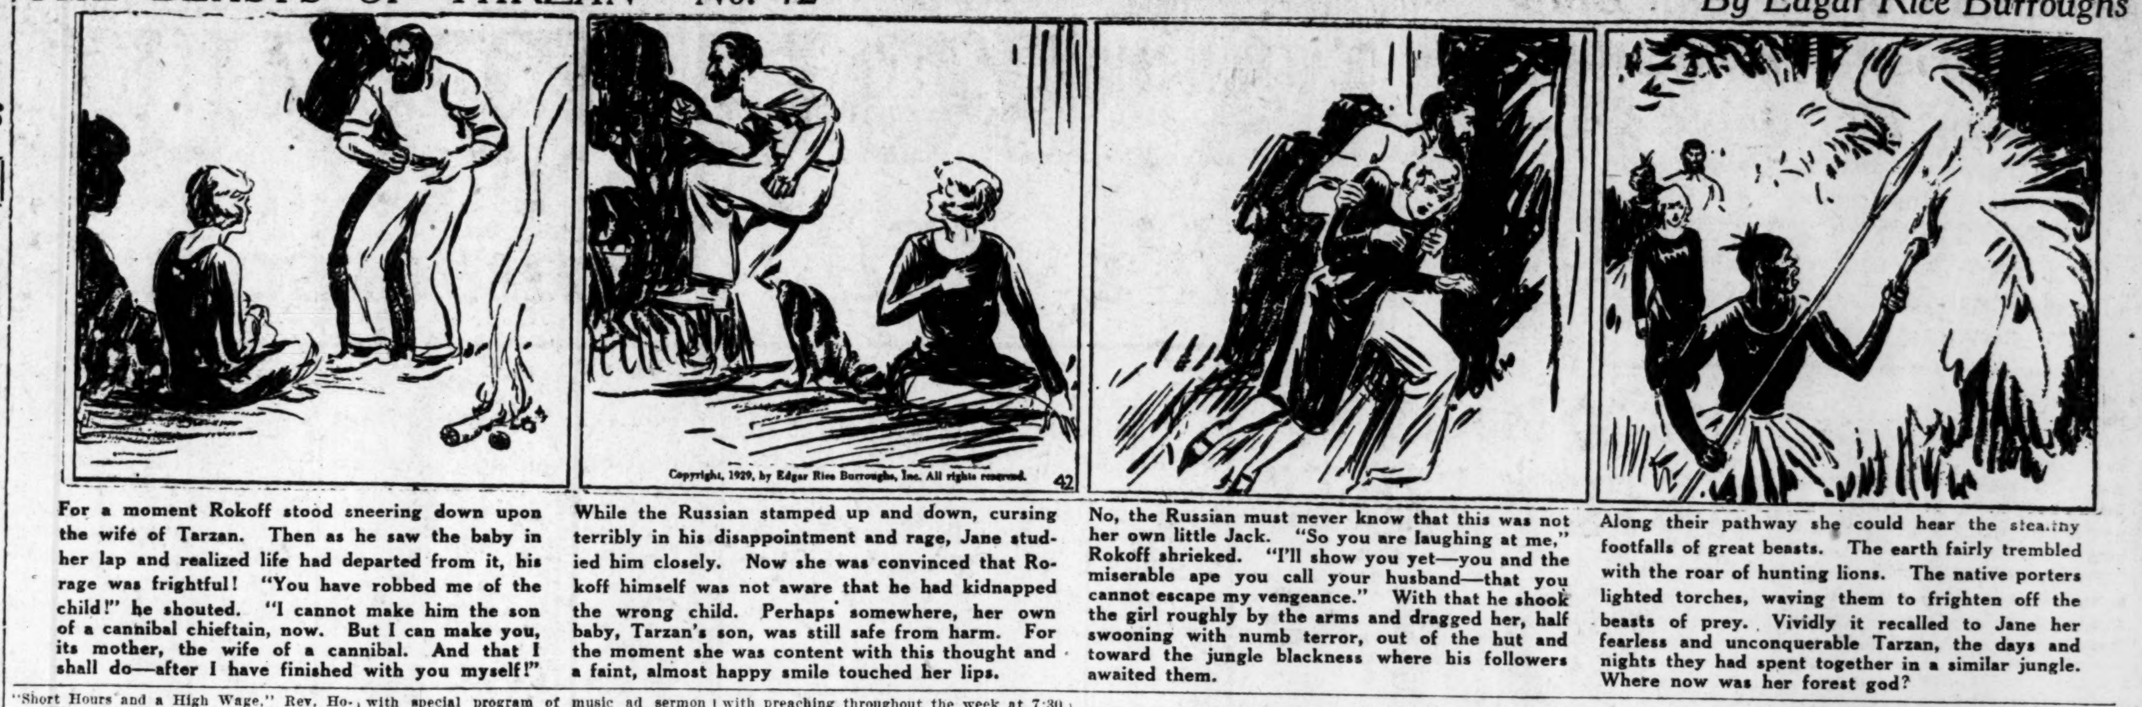
THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 42

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.
42

For a moment Rokoff stood sneering down upon the wife of Tarzan. Then as he saw the baby in her lap and realized life had departed from it, his rage was frightful! "You have robbed me of the child!" he shouted. "I cannot make him the son of a cannibal chieftain, now. But I can make you, its mother, the wife of a cannibal. And that I shall do—after I have finished with you myself!"

While the Russian stamped up and down, cursing terribly in his disappointment and rage, Jane studied him closely. Now she was convinced that Rokoff himself was not aware that he had kidnapped the wrong child. Perhaps somewhere, her own baby, Tarzan's son, was still safe from harm. For the moment she was content with this thought and a faint, almost happy smile touched her lips.

No, the Russian must never know that this was not her own little Jack. "So you are laughing at me," Rokoff shrieked. "I'll show you yet—you and the miserable ape you call your husband—that you cannot escape my vengeance." With that he shook the girl roughly by the arms and dragged her, half swooning with numb terror, out of the hut and toward the jungle blackness where his followers awaited them.

Along their pathway she could hear the stealthy footfalls of great beasts. The earth fairly trembled with the roar of hunting lions. The native porters lighted torches, waving them to frighten off the beasts of prey. Vividly it recalled to Jane her fearless and unconquerable Tarzan, the days and nights they had spent together in a similar jungle. Where now was her forest god?

Republican Amendments To Tariff Bill Adopted Without Record Votes

Domestic Valuation Clauses Incorporated in Calm Session as Administration Craft Rides Calmly On.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER.
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, October 3.—The senate proceeded today in an unexpected calm after the storm that crashed the administration flexible tariff plan on the rocks, and adopted without record votes two republican amendments to the tariff bill looking to future abandonment of foreign value as a basis for assessing ad valorem rates.

Sponsored by Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, a republican member of the finance committee, one of the amendments would authorize the tariff commission to convert all percentage duties in the bill into rates calculated on domestic value and report the rates to congress for action by January 1, 1932.

The second action restored a house provision to authorize the president to order an investigation by some government agency of the feasibility of adopting some form of domestic value and report to congress on the formula found most practicable.

This provision was eliminated by the finance committee in the belief that the tariff commission conversion amendment was sufficient, but Chairman Smoot agreed to its restoration after Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, suggested it would be better to have two agencies studying the question at the same time.

While Senators King, Utah, Harrison, Mississippi, and George, of Georgia, democrats, assailed the Reed amendment as a disguised move to obtain higher protection for industry, Senator Norris, one of the republican independents who joined the democrats in their successful attempt to write their own flexible tariff plan into the bill, was found in accord with the republican regulars.

The Nebraskan agreed there were many defects in the present system of assessing percentage duties and said he preferred to have the second investigation conducted by an agency other than the tariff commission. If the two agencies agreed on the method to be followed, he said, this would add weight to the proposal to be recommended to congress. Should they disagree, then congress should thrash out the difference.

Smoot and Reed said the domestic value method would call for no more nor less revenue, but would so reduce the bill duties as to produce the same amount of customs receipts. Assuming the method is "honestly governed," Norris agreed there would be no difference in the amount of duty collected in any case.

Reed contended it would bring a slight increase in revenue only in cases where "dishonest importers" now undervalue imports.

Senator King saw behind the proposed new method a "scheme of American manufacturers to obtain a monopoly of domestic markets and to cut off all importations." He charged the "Grundy crowd" in Pennsylvania with being interested in the plan for higher protection reasons.

Harrison described the plan as the most "obnoxious" part of the bill aside from the republican flexible provision, and, looking up at Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, who was in the gallery, said adoption of the measure would be "most pleasing to some of those in the galleries now—a choice morsel in the feast they are counting on here."

MRS. FRANK BECK LOSES $3,000 PIN WHILE AT POLLS

Mrs. J. Frank Beck, 699 Piedmont avenue, Friday reported to detectives the loss of a bar pin valued at approximately $3,000. The pin was set with six diamonds.

The pin was lost while she was voting Wednesday morning, Mrs. Beck told detectives. She has offered a reward for its return and no questions will be asked.

MORNINGSIDE CIVIC LEAGUE CONFIDENT OF IMPROVEMENTS

Improvements in the Morningside section were discussed at a well-attended meeting of the Morningside Civic League held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the Sunday school auditorium of Morningside Presbyterian church. Albert Matthews, president of the league, presided.

The league's efforts to connect the section with Druid Hills by extending Stillwood drive through to Mayflower place seem assured of success, it was said at the meeting. There are two parcels of property between the two thoroughfares. Mrs. C. L. Hancock, owner of one of the lots, which is in the city limits, through her attorney, Cecil R. Hall, offered to deed the lot to the city, when the city agrees to pay for the necessary grading across it. Mr. Hall said he was informed that the Haralson Development Company, owners of the other lot, which is in DeKalb county, was ready to deed the lot to the county when the commissioners agreed to pay for grading across it.

Robert M. Cobb, councilman from ninth ward, said that the city has purchased property which will allow the construction of a street connecting Rock Springs road and Lanier place.

W. S. Sanders, vice president of the league, and T. C. Bazemore, chairman of the advisory board, tendered their resignations. The by-laws of the league prohibit the holding of an office by any person who is a candidate for or the incumbent of any political office. Both men are candidates for the new councilmanic seat of the newly created 13th ward. The selection of their successors was deferred until the regular December elections.

ATLANTA COMPANY GIVEN INCOME TAX REFUND OF $250,000

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—A refund of $250,000 to the Nunnally Investment Co., of Atlanta, Ga., for overassessment of income and profit taxes was announced today by the internal revenue bureau.

The Ware Shoals Manufacturing Co., Ware Shoals, S. C., received a refund of $144,726 for overpayments of income and profit taxes in 1918-19 and 1920. The overassessments were caused by crediting to the taxpayer overassessments previously allowed but erroneously credited against the deficiency in tax for the year 1919 after the expiration of the statutory period for its collection.

Druid Hills Church To Present Cantata At Sunday Night Hour

The Cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," by Stainer, will be presented at Druid Hills Methodist church at 7 o'clock Sunday night. The story tells briefly and with unusually beautiful music the story of the raising from the dead, by Jesus, of the young daughter of Jairus.

Three well known numbers are featured in the cantata, composed of the aria for tenor, "My Hope Is in the Everlasting," the fine chorus, "Awake, Thou That Sleepest," and the popular church duet, "Love Divine All Love Excelling."

Lindbergh Air Exploration

:: TO SEEK FOR ANCIENT MAYA RUINS ::

Flight To Begin Sunday

Miami, Fla., October 4.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will start exploration from the air of the ancient Maya ruins Sunday. They will be joined at Belize, British Honduras, this afternoon by William Van Dusen, of Pan-American Airways, and William Kidder, of Carnegie Institution.

The survey is being made under the auspices of the Pan-American Airways and Carnegie Institution.

Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, and Mrs. Trippe, who accompanied the Lindberghs as far as Belize, will leave there tomorrow morning on the regular Canal Zone plane for Havana and Miami.

A message from the plane at 11:50 a. m. said:

"Below ceiling among Guatemala mountains, Lindbergh dodging through mountain passes."

Another message received a few minutes later said that the plane was passing over the Rio Grande river, with the ceiling becoming higher.

A message at 12:24 said the plane had passed through several rain showers and again was under low ceiling over the Gulf of Honduras.

FLIGHT TO LAST FOUR DAYS.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—The Carnegie Institution today announced that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, accompanied by two scientists connected with the institution, will start Sunday from Belize, British Honduras, on an exploring flight over the Maya country of Central America.

The flight, to be known as the Pan-American Airways-Carnegie Institution joint Maya exploration expedition, will consume four days and will extend over portions of Honduras, Yucatan, Guatemala and British Honduras.

The purpose of the expedition was announced as the gathering of more definite information about Maya ruins already known to scientists and the discovery of other ruins in the stretches of unexplored territory on the route. Colonel Lindbergh plans to take photographs of the region from the air.

Dr. Oliver Ricketson, of the Carnegie Institution, one of the leading authorities on Maya archaeology, and Dr. A. V. Kidder, associate in charge of archaeological investigation of the institution, will accompany the colonel.

Charles Lorder, Colonel Lindbergh's co-pilot on his 7,000-mile inspection flight over the Pan-American Airway routes in the West Indies and Central and South America, and W. W. Ehmer, radio man, also will be in the plane.

SINCLAIR AGAIN DENIED FREEDOM ON PAROLE

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair today was again denied his freedom before the natural expiration November 22 of his six months' sentence for jury shadowing.

Justice Siddons, of the District of Columbia supreme court, held that the wealthy oil man's sentence did not date from the time he began serving three months for contempt of the senate on an earlier conviction, but that it began when he was actually sentenced and the two terms ordered to run concurrently.

The ruling came after W. L. Peake, warden of the District of Columbia jail, had calculated that Sinclair's time should expire October 6. Siddons held that the oil man's presence in jail at the time of the second commitment order was immaterial, and that the order was not retroactive.

Sinclair was committed to jail May 6, charged with refusing to answer questions of a senate committee. On June 22 the six months' sentence became effective. Allowing five days off of each month for good behavior he will be freed before Thanksgiving day.

NEW RUMORS SPUR SEEKERS FOR LOST FRENCH AVIATORS

Moscow, U. S. S. R., October 4.—(AP)—With fresh rumors to spur them on, the searchers for Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French aviators, continued today to hunt for some trace of them in the Siberian wilds without definite result. The last positive sighting of the sesquiplane was nearly six days ago.

Two special expeditions of mountain hunters sent out by the civil aviation authorities of the Buriat soviet republic after four days of search returned tonight and reported they had found no trace of the aviators. One of these expeditions searched thoroughly in the district of Ust-Bargusinsk, where the Frenchmen were last seen flying, and the other scoured the eastern shores of Lake Baikal.

Rev. Wallace Rogers Will Preach Sunday At Jefferson Church

The Rev. Wallace Rogers, former pastor of Trinity Methodist church, will fill the pulpit of Jefferson street church at the 7 o'clock hour Sunday night.

A two weeks' revival at Jefferson street church begins with the night service Sunday and the pastor, the Rev. Y. A. Beall, will preach daily at 7 o'clock p. m.

Varied programs of interest to all members of the congregation have been arranged for each service.

NEW AIR SERVICE FOR NEW ORLEANS BEING DEVELOPED

St. Louis, October 4.—(AP)—Plans are rapidly being developed for inauguration of a new air service centering in St. Louis and employing amphibian planes between Minneapolis, St. Paul and New Orleans. The project is in charge of Charles P. Bland, St. Louis, and Redmond S. Brennan, Kansas City, counsel for the National Air Boat Express.

Charles Davenport, Kansas City, is president of the company, which is backed by St. Louis and Kansas City capital. No date has yet been set for the start of new lines. In addition to the line to be operated over almost the entire length of the Mississippi river, lines are to be established over the Ohio river to Pittsburgh and over the Missouri river to Kansas City. Officers of the new company have pointed out that use of rivers instead of landing fields will reduce costs, save time and increase safety. The air boats, capable of landing on land or water, will follow the river courses.

All lines are to carry both passengers and express.

DE OVIES TO PREACH

Dean Will Occupy Pulpit at St. Philip's.

Dean Raimundo de Ovies, who has just returned from a month's vacation in New York and Washington, D. C., will preach at the 11 o'clock service, Sunday morning at St. Philip's cathedral, corner Hunter and Washington streets.

While in Washington the dean attended the College of Preachers at Mt. St. Alban. The dean returns to the cathedral rested and eager to begin the winter's busy program.

Catarrh Is Most Common Cause of Head Colds

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Nose and Throat Specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective remedy can be obtained in the preparation known as Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, Runion's White Wonder Salve gives the most delightful relief from irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and easily applied, Runion's White Wonder Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to sufferers from chronic catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

Ask your druggist for Runion's White Wonder Salve or send thirty-five cents for a family jar, post paid. White Wonder Chemical Company, 51 Orell Bldg., Montgomery, Ala. Our slogan—"Perfect satisfaction or your money back."—(adv.)

SOUTH HAS GOOD FUTURE GOV. ROOSEVELT SAYS

Warm Springs, Ga., October 4.—(AP) Speaking to members of the Newnan (Ga.) Rotary club, who were guests at his Warm Springs home here today, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, expressed himself as being confident of the future of the south.

"In no part of the United States will there occur as great change in economic, agricultural and industrial conditions as in the south during the next 20 years," Governor Roosevelt said. "An exceptional opportunity is offered to the people of the south, and it is one to which I am confident they are very much alert.

"The reason that this opportunity is exceptional and one not enjoyed by other sections, is that the south has remained primarily agricultural longer than the east or the midwest."

Governor Roosevelt will go to Atlanta October 11 for the Georgia Tech-North Carolina football game.

SECRETARY DEFENDS 'OFFICIAL' ESTIMATES

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—In a lengthy defense and explanation of government cotton forecasts, Secretary Hyde said today the department wanted to help the cotton farmer get the best possible price for his product.

The secretary's statement, made in reply to protests by Senators Sheppard and Connally on the August and September forecasts, added that the department's forecast would be of no value to growers or any one else if it purposely understated the probable crop. The Texas senators based their protests on assertions of I. V. Shannon, New Orleans statistician, that the indicated yield in the government forecast was at times too high.

"The crop reporting board for three years," Secretary Hyde said, "has used only slightly the so-called par system as outlined by Mr. Shannon."

Junior C. of C. State Meeting Opens at Macon

Macon, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—The annual convention of the Georgia State Junior Chamber of Commerce, which opened its session here at 1 o'clock this afternoon with a luncheon at a local hotel, will swing into a business session Saturday morning and conclude with a luncheon Saturday afternoon.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at the luncheon and a convention city for next year's session will be selected, it is stated.

Clifford McKay, of Macon, president this year, is presiding over the sessions, and Wilton E. Cobb, of Macon, is secretary.

Six Georgia organizations of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are represented, and W. S. Wright, of Johnson, S. C., is visiting Jay-Cee.

Mayor Luther Williams in his address of welcome made a plea for larger families in American homes, and he urged co-operation of the organization in obtaining financial aid for families of large size.

JAMES E. EUBANKS, NATIVE ATLANTAN, DIES IN HOSPITAL

James Edgar Eubanks, 55, died in a local hospital Friday night following a brief illness.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bessie Eubanks; a son, Maxwell Eubanks; his father, R. E. Eubanks; a brother, [illegible], all of Atlanta, and two sisters, Mrs. W. P. Smith, of Decatur; Mrs. B. I. Faver and Mrs. James B. Bachman, of Atlanta.

Mr. Eubanks was born in Atlanta and spent most of his life here. He was educated in the public schools. He was a public accountant. He was a trustee in the Universalist church and a member of the American Legion. He saw active service with the 87th division in the World War.

The body is at the Awtry & Lowndes funeral chapel awaiting completion of funeral arrangements.

Atlanta Commercial Bank, At Marietta and Bankhead, Bought by Atlanta & Lowry

Substantial Institution Will Be Operated as Branch of Big Bank; Parrish Manager.

Purchase of the Atlanta Commercial bank, at Marietta street and Bankhead avenue, by the Atlanta & Lowry National bank, was announced Friday by Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of the Atlanta & Lowry and W. B. Chandler, retiring president of the Atlanta Commercial bank.

The bank hereafter will be operated as the Marietta street branch of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank. Howard Parrish, who has been active vice president of the Atlanta Commercial bank for the past 10 years, will continue as manager of the branch bank and all other employes will be retained, it is announced.

W. B. Chandler, president, and H. B. Davis, vice president of the Commercial bank, will serve with the other directors as an advisory board.

$150 Per Share Paid.

While no statement was given out as to the price paid in the transaction, it is understood that the Atlanta & Lowry National bank paid more than $150 a share for the stock of the Atlanta Commercial bank. The purchase included the bank building, a handsome structure at Marietta street and Bankhead avenue, admirably adapted for its purpose.

Howard Parrish, who continues as manager of the Marietta Street branch of the Atlanta & Lowry, began his banking career with the Valdosta Bank & Trust Co. He was a commissioned officer during the World War and now is a lieutenant-colonel in the reserve corps. For the last 10 years he has been the active vice president of the Atlanta Commercial bank and is highly regarded by its customers.

Organized 12 Years Ago.

The Atlanta Commercial bank was organized more than 12 years ago and has been highly successful in its operation, serving a busy section of the city well removed from the more central part of Atlanta. During its service to the public it has increased its capital investments from $25,000 to $150,000, and has enjoyed a healthy growth in deposits, with total resources of more than $600,000.

The Atlanta & Lowry National bank has, for years, conducted offices at Edgewood avenue and Pryor street and at Whitehall and Alabama streets. Last January its Peachtree office was removed from the Piedmont hotel building to Peachtree and Ellis streets. The purchase of the Atlanta Commercial bank gives it a fourth office.

Maddox's Statement.

The following statement was made public by Chairman Maddox, of the Atlanta & Lowry:

"The Atlanta & Lowry National bank has purchased the Atlanta Commercial bank, at 779-781 Marietta street, assuming all its liabilities, and will hereafter operate it as the Marietta Street branch of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank.

"Beginning with capital of $25,000 in 1916 the Atlanta Commercial bank has steadily grown, until its capital and undivided profits amount to about $150,000 and its deposits have averaged about $500,000. It has been an important factor in the development of the section in which it is located and has well deserved the confidence and good will of its many patrons.

"We believe that our purchase of this bank and its operation hereafter as a branch of our institution will be of continued and greater service to this important section of Atlanta.

Oldest Atlanta Bank.

"With capital, surplus and profits of $8,000,000 and with resources of more than $60,000,000, the Atlanta & Lowry National bank is the oldest and largest bank in Atlanta, and for more than 64 years has been an important factor in the development of this city and state.

"Howard Parrish, who has been active vice president, will continue as manager. Mr. Chandler, the former president, and Mr. Davis, the former vice president, will serve with the other directors as our advisory committee, so there will be no interruption of business.

"We can assure all of the present customers of the Atlanta Commercial bank of our very great appreciation of their continued patronage, and we hope to be of more service to them and to merit many new accounts.

"In our Marietta street branch we will conduct a general banking business and offer its patrons all the service and co-operation of our main office.

"ROBERT F. MADDOX,
"Chairman.
"Atlanta & Lowry National bank."

Chandler's Statement.

President Chandler's statement follows:

"More than 12 years ago, a group of representative citizens of this section of the city organized the Atlanta Commercial bank.

"Besides the motive to make money, there was a sincere desire to establish an institution that would serve and further the interests of all this section. We believe that we have accomplished just what we set out to do.

"In selling our bank to the Atlanta & Lowry National bank, we feel that we have safeguarded the interest of this community by giving place to one of the largest and best banks in the entire southland.

"We desire to thank all patrons of our bank for their friendship and patronage during these years and wish this friendship and patronage extended to our successors.

"W. B. CHANDLER,
"President.
"Atlanta Commercial Bank."

CHANGE IN NAME OF PELHAM ROAD IS TURNED DOWN

The streets committee of city council Friday afternoon rejected a petition to change the name of a strip of Pelham road. Other routine matters also were considered.

A petition was filed asking the committee not to approve any widening project on Boulevard street until civic organizations have perfected plans which they will submit within the next few days.

De Ovies, Mrs. Jacobs, Will Speak Wednesday At World Peace Meeting

The Rt. Rev. Raimond De Ovies, dean of St. Philip's cathedral, and Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, chairman of the Georgia Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, will be the principal speakers at a meeting on world peace to be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, October 9, in the Henry Grady hotel by the Theosophical Order of Service.

The meeting is open to the public and to members of all organizations working for world peace, it was stated.

DURANT FIELD FORCE TO MEET HERE TODAY

R. T. Hodgkins, General Sales Manager, to Announce Plans for Season.

Plans and policies of the Durant Motor Company for the coming season will be announced at a meeting of the southern field organization here today. The principal speaker at the meeting will be R. T. Hodgkins, general sales manager of the company.

R. T. HODGKINS,
General sales manager of Durant Motor Co., who will address a regional conference here today.

Indications are that the meeting will be an unqualified success, and Mr. Hodgkins is looking forward to it with a great deal of enthusiasm. This is the first meeting of the kind the company has held in the south, according to Mr. Hodgkins, but the present plans are to hold one every few months in the future. It is felt by the company that by keeping in close touch with its dealers and field men, it can control production to the minute.

While in Atlanta Mr. Hodgkins is the guest of L. N. Cope, southern regional sales manager, whose headquarters are located at the company's branch here, 29 North avenue, N. E.

LOCAL JEWS PLAN OBSERVANCE TODAY OF ROSH HASHONO

Today will be observed as a day of worship by orthodox and reform Jewry of Atlanta in commemoration of Rosh Hashono, the traditional feast of new year's in the Jewish calendar, marking the year 5690.

Service at the synagogues throughout the city will be held in the morning and evening. In the reform congregation the religious exercises will be terminated with today's services, while services at the orthodox synagogues will continue throughout Sunday.

The period of ten days between Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur, which is the next high holiday to be celebrated by the Jewish sect, is regarded as the most sacred season of the religious calendar. Yom Kippur, which corresponds to the Day of Atonement, is observed as a day of fasting. New year services were begun in the synagogues on Friday night.

GEORGIA GAS TAX WARRANTS UPHELD BY FULTON COURT

The statute providing for the anticipation of gasoline tax revenues was upheld by the Fulton superior court Friday in the first of the legal proceedings through which the statute will eventually be tested in the Georgia supreme court.

A writ of mandamus asked by Governor L. G. Hardman to compel William B. Harrison, comptroller-general, to affix his signature to a warrant, drawn under the authority of the statute, was granted.

The comptroller-general immediately will carry the case to the supreme court. He is represented by Troutman and Troutman, of Atlanta, while the governor and the highway board are represented by Fermor Barrett, of Stephens county, father of the bill, and Seward M. Smith. Judge G. H. Howard presided at the hearing.

If the bill is upheld by the supreme court the state will borrow $2,000,000 on future gas tax revenues and with it will obtain a similar amount of available federal funds on a matched basis.

Farley, Anderson Are Indicted Again In Securities Case

Seven indictments charging violation of the Georgia securities law were returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury against W. D. Farley and H. H. Anderson, Jr., who are already under bond on indictments charging similar violations. J. T. Walker was named as a defendant in one of the indictments.

Friday's indictments charge that Farley and Anderson sold 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the Sales and Service Machine Company, coming within class "D" of the securities law, without first obtaining a license.

The stock was sold to C. W. Chears, Mrs. L. J. Kilburn, W. A. Byers, George M. Kohn, Charles Adler, Mrs. Sallie R. Donaldson and T. W. Fleetwood, according to the true bills.

VETS TO MEET TODAY

Raising of Money for Reunion Will Be Considered.

Confederate veterans of Fulton county will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the ordinary's office at the courthouse to devise means of raising money to enable attendance at the state reunion in Quitman of veterans who otherwise would be unable to go to the state meeting. The reunion will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

OAKLEY F. DODD HERE

Clerk Arrives To Prepare for Circuit Court Opening.

Oakley F. Dodd, clerk of the circuit court of appeals, arrived in Atlanta Friday to make preparations for the opening of the circuit court here Monday. The court will be in session four days a week for two weeks and approximately 40 cases are on the calendar for consideration.

Spelling Victory In County Won By Miss Eubanks

All sorts of catch words failed to stop Miss Willie Florence Eubanks, of Fulton High school, in the county-wide spelling bee held Friday afternoon at the courthouse.

Eight other contestants in the spelling match dropped from the race one by one, but Miss Eubanks spelled on and on until Cliff Sheffield, of Boys' High, muffed a word and sat down. Through her victory Friday, Miss Eubanks will represent Fulton county at the state spelling bee on Friday, October 11, at the Southeastern Fair, with a chance at the $100 prize and the trip to Washington for the national spelling-bee.

In the order of their defeat, the other contestants were: Miss Irene Slemons, Commercial High; Griggs Shafer, E. Rivers school; George F. Longino, Russell High; Miss Dorothy Archer, Girls' High; Thad Johnson, O'Keefe Junior High; J. M. Gardner, Tech High, and Miss Sarah Carlisle, Girls' High.

The contestants were selected in elimination matches at their respective schools. Representatives of the city and county boards of education acted as judges and pronouncers in Friday's contest.

MAYOR RAGSDALE UNABLE TO ATTEND PULASKI CEREMONY

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will not be able to attend the sesqui-centennial celebration in memory of General Pulaski at Savannah October 9, he stated Friday.

He had been commissioned as a sponsor of the observance by Ignatius Werwinski, chairman of the United States sesqui-centennial commission charged with responsibility of seeing that General Pulaski's services are properly honored at Savannah and Washington.

The special commission as one of the sponsors of the observance came to Mr. Ragsdale from the South Bend office of Mr. Werwinski, and the invitation to be at the Savannah observance and participate in the celebration was forwarded by Mayor Gordon Saussey, of Savannah.

"I should like very much to participate in honoring the man who gave his life in defense of America, but other pressing engagements prevent my attendance at the Savannah or the Washington observance," Mr. Ragsdale said.

TWO CREDIT MEN LEAVE TO ATTEND CHICAGO MEETING

C. L. Williamson, secretary-manager of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men, and W. W. Roberts, manager of the credit information department, left Thursday night for Chicago to attend the annual conference of secretary-managers at the Edgewater Beach hotel, October 7 to 10.

The conference program will include the discussion of many improvements to be made by the association in rendering service to its members and will be presided over by Stephen I. Miller, national executive manager, of New York city.

Mr. Williamson announced that the secretarial council, which is an advisory group of secretaries, will meet in Atlanta in December, and hold its sessions at the Atlanta Biltmore.

$65,000 IS ASKED TO PAY VIADUCT DAMAGE CLAIMS

Members of the bridge committee of city council Friday afternoon recommended to city council transfer of about $65,000, all the remaining viaduct funds, to retirement of damages for erection of the Pryor street and Central avenue bridges.

The claim of J. N. Hirsch for $17,500 damages was approved and about $110 was set up to provide new awnings for the Keeley Company and George Poulous stores in the district.

Other routine matters also were considered.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN made him wide-awake and well — doctor prescribed it

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, loggy and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better . . . I felt better and acted better . . . I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it—to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Chicago, October 4.—(AP)—Notwithstanding shakiness of the stock market today, wheat prices here averaged higher, helped by Winnipeg reports that Canada is holding her wheat for an advance. European demand today for wheat from North America, however, was not brisk. Sharpest downturns, too, in security values came after wheat trading was over for the day.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1-2c to 1 1-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 7-8c to 1 3-4c advance, oats unchanged to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Wheat traders were keeping a sharp eye on stock market developments today, and governing themselves to a noticeable extent accordingly, but with the grain pits closing much earlier than was the case as to dealings in securities no consequences of acute late weakness of Wall Street quotations were, of course, reflected by wheat prices. An early transient setback of about 1c per bushel in the wheat market, though, was ascribed almost altogether to sympathy with depression of stock quotations. Afterward, most commission houses were good buyers of wheat future deliveries and with the Winnipeg wheat market showing strength, wheat prices in Chicago went upgrade, closing at virtually the day's top level.

Frost reports from some corn belt points, together with wet weather in the western part of the belt, tended to hoist corn values. Besides, rural offerings of corn to arrive were scanty. Oats averaged slightly higher, responsize to upturns in other grain.

Scattered buying credited to cash interests tended to liven the provisions market.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—Convertibles maintained a fairly steady course in the bond market today despite the weakness of stocks. Price changes in the share feature issued were irregular as contrasted with yesterday's uniform softness, and the losses that did appear were moderate.

International Telephone 4 1-2s displayed the least resistance, closing at 176 1-2, a net loss of 3 1-2 and a minimum for the current movement. American Telephone 4 1-2s which usually move almost point for point with the stock into which they are convertible after January 1, finished 3-4 higher, although the shares were 4 points lower. Both issues of Alleghany Corporation 5s improved fractionally.

Convertibles which lost ground included American I. G. Chemical 5 1-2s, off 1-4; American International 5 1-2s, off 1 1-2; Atchison 4 1-2s, off 1-2; Missouri Pacific 5 1-2s off 2 and Reading Coal & Iron 6s, off 1-2. Only the American Telephone bonds, which changed hands to the extent of $2,000,000, par value, trade in any volume.

The remainder of the list, with its long array of bonds at about their minmum levels, developed further easiness. Rails of all grades shaded lower, while numerous soft spots developed in the utilities. Oil company bonds were generally lower.

Consumers Power 5s, Detroit Edison collateral 5s and refunding 5s and Pacific Telephone 5s sagged from 1-2 to 2 3-4 points. Atlantic Refining 5s, Colon Oil 6s, Sinclair 5 1-2s, Transcontinental 6 1-2s and Standard of New Jersey 5s were all nominally lower, the last named equalling its year's low at 100.

Weak spots in the industrial and specialty groups included Fisk Rubber 8s, off 3; Illinois Steel 4 1-2s, off 1; Shubert Theater 6s, off 6; North Americen Cement 6 1-2s, off 2, and Walworth 6 1-2s with warrants, off 2 1-2. Foreign sugars also sagged.

The easiness in the carrier section embraced such loans as Union Pacific first 4s, off 7-8; Pennsylvania general 4 1-2s, off 1; Missouri Pacific general 4s, off 1-2, and Louisville & Nashville 5s, off 2. New York Chicago & St. Louis 5 1-2s series "A" recovered a 1-point loss before the close.

United States government Treasuries and Liberties met the thinnest market of the week and were irregularly lower. Berlin City 6s gained 2 3-4 in the foreign division, which also saw Rio de Janeiro 6 1-2s off 4 points to a new low at 80.

CONTINUED LIQUIDATION FORCES CURB STOCKS DOWN IN ACTIVE SESSION

Many Issues Lose 2 to 10; Utilities Suffer Even More

New York, October 4.—(AP)—Trading on the New York Curb Exchange was demoralized today by a renewed wave of liquidation which carried scores of issues down 2 to 10 points, with even sharper breaks in a few high priced specialties, and kept the ticker an hour or more behind the market during the greater part of the session. A last-minute rally cut down some of the early declines. Total sales crossed 2,500,000 shares.

Public utility and allied issues were again the hardest hit. Electric Investors broke 26 1-2 points, Middle West Utilities 18 3-4, United Gas Improvement 14 1-2 and American Cities Power & Light, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, American & Foreign Power warrants about 8 points each and American Superpower, Electric Bond & Share, Central States Electric, Hydro Electric Securities and Tampa Electric fell back 3 or more points.

High priced specialties broke in spectacular fashion. Crocker Wheeler (old stock) dropped 92 points on a few sales. Sidney Blumenthal fell 13 1-2 to a new low at 70. Deere & Company, Firestone Tire, Singer Manufacturing, A. O. Smith and Tubize Artificial Silk all sold down about 10 points.

Investment Trust Shares, particularly those which have made their appearance in recent weeks, were again hard hit. Lehman Corporation, Prince & Whitely issues, Tricontinental Allied and several others sank to new low levels for the year.

Gulf, Humble and Lion Oils showed moderate decline, but most of the other petroleum issues offered strong resistance to selling pressure.

The severity of today's decline indicated the closing out of many weakened marginal accounts. While only a limited amount of curb securities are carried on margin by the leading commission houses, curb stocks are frequently sold to protect margins on the "big board."

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady at 18.40. Sales 800; receipts 253; shipments 3; stocks 10,472.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—An early advance on relatively steady Liverpool cables and prospects for rains or showers in central belt sections was followed by reactions in the cotton market today under southern selling and liquidation. December contracts sold off from 18.88 to 18.76 or 4 points net lower, but recovered a few points of the loss, closing at 18.81. The general market closed steady net 1 point lower to 2 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 5 points, and the active months sold about 6 to 8 points net higher during the early trading, with March advancing to 19.17 on trade buying, covering and some local buying influenced by the relatively firm showing of Liverpool, apprehension that rains would slow up the movement in the central belt, and bullish private crop advices.

This advance was checked by southern selling, however, and realizing became more active after the publication of a private crop report placing the condition at 54.6 and the indicated yield at 14,990,000 bales. This figure was above the average of previous private reports and seemed to unsettle sentiment as to the probable showing of the government report next week.

After easing off to 19.07 for March, or about 4 points below yesterday's closing quotations, however, the selling subsided and the market became comparatively quiet. There were rallies of several points from the lowest on covering, but they were not fully maintained and the market eased slightly in the late trading under renewed liquidation which may have been influenced by the unsettled ruling of the stock market.

Closing quotations showed declines of about 7 to 8 points from the high levels of the morning, but were 3 or 4 points up from the lowest.

Private crop reports were published during the day, with condition figures ranging from 52.0 up to 54.6 and figures on the indicated crop from 14,562,000 up to 14,990,000. A canvass of cotton exchange members showed an average crop expectation of 14,707,000, with individual estimates ranging from 14,200,000 to 15,250,000 bales.

Port receipts today 91,446. U. S. port stocks 1,227,284. Exports 18,943, making 1,128,606 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS HAS LESS CHANGE.

New Orleans, October 4.—(AP)—Although one report proved much larger than expected the average of the five private estimates issued today was more favorable and as a result cotton ruled steadier. Following a sharp reaction around mid-session the market gradually recovered and ruled steady for the remainder of the session and final prices showed little net change for the day. December contracts after reaching 18.70 reacted to 18.56, but rallied again and closed at 18.68, or 1 point net down. The general market closed steady, net unchanged to 1 point down.

Despite indifferent Liverpool cables the local market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 6 points. Prices continued to improve after the start on buying promoted by a forecast for rain and cooler weather in the belt and under pressure of the demand December traded up to 18.70 and January 18.79, 5 to 6 points above the previous close.

Demand tapered off at the advance and the market encountered considerable selling induced by a large private crop estimate and before the offerings were absorbed active positions showed losses of 13 to 14 points from the early highs. At these levels, December traded at 18.56 and January 18.66.

The market rallied, however, and recovered practically all the loss due to the more favorable average of other private estimates and the rather large mill takings for the week. Values held steady for the remainder of the session and January closed at 18.74 and March 18.88.

Condition averages of the five private reports issued today ranged from 52 per cent of normal to 54.6 per cent. Four of the reports gave indicated yields ranging from 14,562,000 to 14,980,000 bales.

Total sales 5,623,000 shares.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—The full house cleaning on the stock market assumed drastic proportions today. Although prices dropped less precipitously than yesterday, selling swelled to huge volume as weakened marginal holdings were dumped overboard on all sides. Sales totaled 5,623,900 shares, the biggest day's turnover since the 8,200,000-share day of last March. The ticker was swamped, running for an hour and a quarter after the closing gong.

Pools made powerful efforts to rally the list in the early afternoon but were soon overwhelmed with liquidation and forced to abandon their efforts. Short covering caused rallies of 1 to 7 points from the day's lowest levels in the final trading, but closing quotations were generally 2 to 30 points lower. The Standard Statistics Company-Associated Press price index of 50 industrials lost but 2.2 points, as compared to 9.3 yesterday; of 20 utilities 4.1, against 18.7 yesterday, and of 20 rails 1.4, against 2.9.

The overnight announcement of still another increase in federal reserve brokers' loans, despite the declining market of the week covered by the figures, was another blow to speculative sentiment, and when traders received the flood of margin calls sent out last night as a result of yesterday's collapse, there was a widespread tendency to sell out. Commission houses said, however, that in view of the severity of yesterday's break, the response to margin calls brought a rather surprising volume of new funds.

Selling Expected.

The sort of selling encountered today was what Wall Street has been looking for. Little real liquidation has taken place in the past month of intermittent selling, as indicated by the rising loan figures, but many professional traders were inclined to believe that today's deluge actually made substantial progress in strengthening the market's technical position. It was reported that there was considerable buying on scale down by investment trusts and large operators. There was no general disposition, however, to regard the decline as close to the bottom, some commission houses expressing the opinion that it may take several more such days to put the market once more on a firm footing.

Call money was more plentiful, renewing at 6 1-2 and sagging once more to 6 per cent. Time money, however, held at 9 per cent, indicating little change in fundamental conditions.

The weekly trade and business reviews pointed to some further picking up in retail and wholesale trade, but indicated that conditions in heavy industries remained spotty.

High priced and volatile issues again sold down with startling swiftness. Wright Aero, little of which is now outstanding, owing to exchange for Curtiss-Wright stock, dropped 30 points to a new low for the year at 90. Case Threshing sold off 35 points at one time, but reduced its loss to 25. Motor Products dropped 18 points to a new low. Columbian Carbon, Peoples Gas and Brooklyn Union Gas lost 13 to 17 points.

U. S. Steel at Low.

U. S. Steel was bid up for a gain of a couple of points in the early afternoon, then dropped to a new low for the movement at 206 1-2, and closed at 210, off 3. Such shares as American Telephone, General Electric, and Eastman Kodak dropped 7 to 9 points, then regained about half their loss. Westinghouse Electric sold off 13 points and rallied 6. American Can dropped 5 1-2 points, then rallied 7. Such shares as Allied Chemical, Continental Can, Delaware & Hudson, Greene Cananea, Houston Oil, Norfolk & Western, Simmons, Stone & Webster and Union Tank lost 5 to 9 points. Chrysler, Studebaker, Kolster, American Republics, Dominion Stores and Stewart Warner were among issues reaching new lows for the year.

American Water Works was bid upward in amazing fashion. In contrast to the general tendency, it made an extreme gain of 18 points, 10 of which were lost. Standard Gas made an extreme gain of about 11 points, half of which was lost. Royal Dutch, Standard of New Jersey, General Motors, New York Central were among a dozen or so important issues to close firm.

Commodities were steady to firm. Wheat futures closed 1-2 to a full cent higher on improved export demand, and corn mounted a cent or so on frost reports from Iowa and small Argentine exports. Cotton sold up for a time, but reacted and closed practically unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were firm, with the sterling demand rate reaching a new high for the year at $4.85 11-16.

Market Gossip

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, October 4.—Rains in northwestern and north central sections of the belt and prospects of further rains in the same sections caused buying which held the market steady today. London was a buyer and there were good many trade orders under the market. There was some selling on the crop guess of a private bureau which increased its estimate 200,000 bales over its former estimate.

Further reports show heavy losses from the recent storms and excessive rains in the Atlantic states. Indications are for a higher market.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, October 4.—An advance of a few points on the opening on better cables and earlier reports of rain in the central belt was wiped out by selling on the increase of 200,000 bales in the Fossick report. Prices recovered in the early afternoon and held steady in a small range above the previous close.

We anticipate little change in prices before the report next Tuesday, but if the government should confirm the smaller estimates we expect a sharp advance, as the trade will be forced to compete for contracts. Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: October 9.97; January 10.02.

ORVIS BROTHERS & CO.

New York, October 4.—Today's cotton market was remarkably steady in face of continued weakness in the stock market and the amount of hedge selling done.

While the market does not go up, yet, under pressure of crop movement it does not go down. This indicates considerable confidence in value at the current level.

Ability of the market to absorb hedges without lowering prices is conspicuous and should stimulate general confidence in buying around current quotations.

January Liverpool due 10.02d.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, October 4.—The cotton market assumed a rising tendency in early part of the week, due to the tropical storm having worked inland to the east of Pensacola, distributing general rains over the South Atlantic states. The precipitation was generally heavy, excessive in many localities and following the heay rains of the previous week made for a very unfavorable situation in the eastern belt.

The advance attracted much realizing and hedging and with the cessation of the rains in the southeast and the continuance of generally favorable weather until today in the southwest, offerings continued free, cousing, much of the early advance to be lost later in the period, although the market ruled steadier today.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, October 4.—A lower opening and further decline during the first hour reflected the liquidation of impaired margin accounts. This early selling was followed by a period of comparative firmness during which pivotal stocks were apparently concentrated upon in an effort to turn them up, but little success was achieved and selling was renewed.

Failure of rallies to carry through would appear to indicate that current levels have not proven sufficiently tempting to important buyers of securities and barring technical rebounds, the selling movement might therefore continue until such levels are reached.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, October 4.—On a tremendous volume of trading the tide of speculation turned one way and then another today until a powerful drive on United States Steel, which forced the issue to low of 206½, unsettled the market during the mid-afternoon.

After the force of selling proves to have spent itself it may be possible to select individual issues which can break away for recoveries in advance of the general market. We hesitate to attempt anything like this with the situation still very unstable.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

New York, October 4.—This is no time to be bearish!

After two weeks of persistent liquidation we finally witnessed two days of heavy volume on the downside. This was the signal we have been looking for and we now reverse the bearish position which we maintained for two weeks. We do not look for a runaway market on the upside, but believe that standard issues bought at the market today should show a substantial profit within a few days.

This is a splendid time to clear the decks of second and third grade issues. Would scan the list carefully and sell out mediocre stocks at the market, and would then substitute high-grade stocks, all of which are now available at great concessions.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, October 4.—Stocks lost ground again today. The market opened irregular, began a false rally and again sold off sharply during the last three-quarters of an hour.

Among the stocks which we thought looked exceptionally good in today's market and which we expect to be prominent on the upside when the recovery really begins were National Biscuit, Eastman Kodak, American Can, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and among specialties, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Ludlum Steel and Gillette. National Biscuit seems in an especially attractive position.

BLYTH & CO.

New York, October 4.—We do not believe that war, famine, pestilence or any other great calamity threatens these United States. We certainly should not suggest selling good stocks at these levels except in the course of switching operations. On the contrary we feel that there are real bargains available for the trader who has kept his account in liquid condition in recent weeks.

By good stocks is meant issues of leading corporations in industries having good possibilities for long term growth. Prospects of a mild business recession should only slightly modify the favorable prospects of a stock to entitle it to membership in this category.

BRADSTREET'S SEES BETTER MOVEMENT IN TRADE WORLD

New York, October 4.—(AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Despite marked irregularities in weather and unsettlement in speculative markets for commodities, as well as securities, there is a slight upward trend visible in wholesale and jobbing trade, and retail trade has shown even better advancement, this despite early high temperature and a severe tropical storm in the eastern third of the country. The return of cool weather, however, gave a favorable impetus to distribution.

In industry spottiness is still particularly noticeable in the so-called heavy lines, steel and iron especially, because a slight increase in operations has been noted at western centers, where the beneficial effects of recent heavy ordering of rails, cars and steel plates for cars and for pipemakers as a counterbalance to reduced takings of lighter forms, has been already noted. In steel, wire and scrap material have shown additional price weakness. Reports as to building do not improve much, outside of a few cities, with the result that materials entering into this industry have tended to quiet down further.

Weekly bank clearings $16,749,770,000, an increase of 19.1 per cent over a year ago.

Do You Realize That Georgia Has the Largest Hosiery Mill in the South?

THE RICHMOND HOSIERY MILLS, of Rossville, Walker County, Georgia, make hosiery that sells in every state of the Union, and most foreign countries, in competition with the entire World. We invite you to visit our exhibit at the Southeastern Fair, Atlanta, Octber 5-12, and see the actual manufacture of men's fancy hosiery.

ARROWHEAD hosiery and WUNDERHOSE are sold by more than 600 Georgia merchants and by over 15,000 merchants in this and other countries.

The Officers of this Company and our 2,000 employees are Georgians. Our work brings into Georgia more than $6,000,000 a year.

This business was established in 1896 and its present magnitude is the result of years of hard work which make Georgia-made hosiery so good and so attractive that it commands ready sale in the World's best markets.

This Georgia mill is the largest hosiery mill in the South, and one of four or five in the whole country making a complete line of hosiery for men, women and children, in COTTON, RAYON, SILK and WOOL, both in seamless and full fashioned!

Our fortunate situation enables us to serve the merchants of our own home state and the Southeast with promptness, and it will be a pleasure to meet them at the Southeastern Fair.

DAY IN FINANCE

By

R. L. BARNUM

Friday's Heavy Sales Give Proof That the Big Outside Public At Last Is Taking the Market Seriously and Unloading Its Holdings Hurriedly.

New York, October 5.—Up to today the heavy liquidation that has been witnessed in the stock market since the downward price movement started last month has been by large, well-informed individual holders of stocks, by investment trusts, by pools, by corporations, etc. The fact that the big outside public did not see any need for selling in mounting brokers' loans, high money, and a slowing down in general trade has been, from the viewpoint of some Wall Street people, the weakest link in the existing stock market and credit situation. Today, however, for the first time since the downward price movement started in the stock market last month the big outside public was a heavy seller of stocks.

This information was obtained from reliable brokerage houses which for weeks have been disturbed by their inability to get their own high record loans down. During many days of the recent heavy selling of stocks many houses representing the big outside public actually finished the day with more stocks than held at the opening.

Further proof of selling today by the big outside public was found in the story told by the ticker itself. During all of the recent heavy selling of stocks the ticker most of the time was up with the stock exchange floor, on rare occasions falling only 10 or 15 minutes behind. That was because trading was in large blocks.

Today Wall Street had a taste of the conditions existing early in the year when the big outside public was either a heavy buyer or seller of stocks in comparatively small lots causing the tape to drop far behind the floor. Before noon today the tape printing New York Stock Exchange quotations was an hour behind the floor with the curb market tape over an hour behind.

Opening Irregular.

There was an irregular opening of the stock market with some shares a shade better. This was because the market was supported after yesterday's bad last hour. Shortly after the opening, however, the market began to hear from the calls sent out in all directions last night for additional margin. Rather than put up more margin many traders put in selling orders. This selling caused stop-loss orders to be reached, all of which worked in a circle causing stocks to break in the first two hours anywhere from 2 to 5 points or more.

In the noon hour organized support appeared checking the decline and starting a recovery. Steel common for example which opened unchanged at 213 and declined before noon to a new low for this movement at 210 1-4 was back by the middle of the noon hour at 214. The recovery ran further. But in the last hour heavy selling again started and steel common and other shares made new lows for the day. But the tape was then so far behind that it was difficult for those off the floor to tell what was really going on.

It was plain early in the day that this would be one of the busiest session days on the New York Stock Exchange in many a long month. The high record for all time was made on March 26, last, when the turnover was 8,246,000 shares.

Call money opened on the stock exchange at 6 1-2 and dropped to 6 in the noon hour, with the rate 5 1-2 per cent on the outside money market. Time money was also lower 9 per cent, being quoted for all periods against the 9 to 9 1-4 per cent recent ruling. There was practically no time money available, however. Call money was easier because of the drastic liquidation that has taken place in the market.

Conflicting views were heard in Wall Street today on the resolution adopted at the final session of the American Bankers' Association demanding an inquiry into the whole subject of brokers' loans by the federal reserve board in co-operation with the stock exchange authorities and bankers. It was stated in the resolution that the public requires such an investigation; that such an investigation would ascertain all underlying facts in connection with brokers' loans and make possible greater stabilization of the money market.

Varying Opinions.

Some Wall Street people were strongly of the belief that the investigation of brokers' loans demanded by the bankers would be a good thing. Other people in the financial district were plainly irritated by the news from San Francisco. In the quarters last named the opinion was expressed that if bankers attending the San Francisco convention had been attending to their own job properly for the past year or so there would be no need now for an investigation of brokers' loans by the federal reserve board.

In this connection it was pointed out that during the past year or so the federal reserve board had repeatedly warned member bankers against continuing to use their credit and the credit of the federal reserve system in making continued excessive speculation in the stock market possible. However, whether or not the resolution passed by the bankers at San Francisco calling for an investigation of brokers' loans by the federal reserve board was approved, in all quarters of Wall Street it was agreed today that probably the real motive for the resolution was to do something about mounting brokers loans before the matter got into politics, that is before congress started an investigation on its own account. In any event it was agreed in Wall Street that if liquidation continued in the stock market at the recent pace there would be no need for investigation of broker loans by anybody.

Much comment was also heard in Wall Street of plans under way at Albany to pass legislation requiring investment trusts in this state to disclose at regular periods their earnings and security holdings. Such legislation has been expected for some time in usually well informed quarters.

Produce

ATLANTA.

Demand and trading fairly good on most commodities this morning. Cauliflower made another slight decline from yesterday's prices. Michigan Concord grapes selling at slightly lower prices, with supplies on local market rather liberal. California Tokays selling at a wide range in price, due to the color of the fruit; some of pale color selling at rather low prices, while fruit of good color and heavy pack demanding relatively higher prices; supplies of Tokays also liberal. California tomatoes packed in the lug boxes were selling at slightly lower prices. Colorado Brown Beauty potatoes were being offered; the stock appeared clean and of good quality.

This morning's sales to jobbers and other large buyers:

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

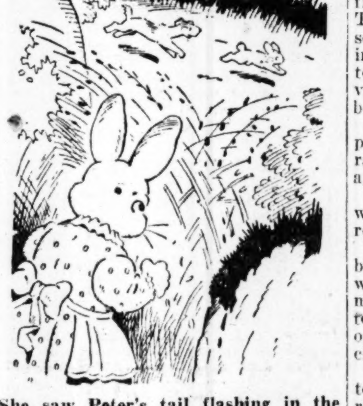
Lessons taught by dangers past,
Should, but do not always, last.
—Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit and little Mrs. Peter were in a tight place. Bowser the Hound was coming around one end of the dear Old Briar-patch and Flip the Terrier around the other end. Thus, Peter and Mrs. Peter were between the two, and right at that particular place there was no handy little path into the dear Old Briar-patch. Instead, there was a very thick and close growth of brambles. It certainly looked bad for Peter and Mrs. Peter.

Peter knew that the one to fear most was Flip. He knew that Flip was very, very much quicker than Bowser. It would be easier to dodge Bowser than it would be to dodge Flip. He signaled little Mrs. Peter to follow him and started towards Bowser. Little Mrs. Peter was right at Peter's heels. Peter began to circle out so as to go around Bowser. Bowser saw this and changed his direction. Bowser's big voice was ringing across the Green Meadows. Flip was coming just as fast as he could run and that was very fast indeed. Peter and little Mrs. Peter, watching Flip by rolling their eyes back as they ran, both realized that Flip was the real danger. If they could once get past Bowser, they could make for the nearest entrance to one of Peter's little paths through the briars.

"I hope Fuzzy," as Peter calls little Mrs. Peter, "will dodge the opposite way from the way I dodge when it comes time," thought Peter. But there was no way of telling her this.

It looked as if Peter was going to run right into Bowser's mouth. Right at Peter's heels was little Mrs. Peter. Behind them was coming Flip, and he certainly was coming fast. Now, if there is one thing that Peter can do better than another, it is to dodge. When running at full speed he can change his direction as few others can. He did this now. He suddenly shot off to one side. Little Mrs. Peter did the same thing. But she didn't dodge in the same direction as Peter. She dodged in the opposite direction. This was very clever. It made confusion. Bowser was in doubt which way to turn. And so was Flip. They didn't know which one to chase. This gave a chance for Peter and little Mrs. Peter to gain. Both Bowser and Flip turned toward Peter. This gave little Mrs. Peter a chance and she made the most of it. How she did run, lipperty-lipperty-lip! She reached an entrance to one of the little paths into the dear Old Briar-patch and in she popped. She was safe. Then she turned to see where Peter was.



She saw Peter's tail flashing in the sun.

She saw Peter's white tail flashing in the sun, and Peter was running as only he can run when he has to. Behind him was racing Flip. The little black-and-white dog certainly was traveling. He was gaining on Peter. Behind Flip came Bowser the Hound with his nose to the ground, for that is the way he loves to run when following a trail, and telling the whole world what he is doing.

"Oh, dear!" whimpered little Mrs. Peter. "He'll catch Peter! He'll surely catch Peter!"

It did look as if Flip would catch Peter. But just then Peter dodged. He changed his direction abruptly, and now he was headed straight towards the dear Old Briar-patch. Flip was running so fast that he couldn't slow down to make the turn as quickly as Peter did. So he over-ran; that is, he ran quite a little distance beyond the point where Peter made his turn. Then he managed to turn and start for Peter again. Once more he was almost up to Peter. They were close to the dear Old Briar-patch this time. Once more Peter dodged. This time Flip couldn't stop himself before he crashed right into the brambles. How he did yelp! By the time he had backed out, Peter was safe in the dear Old Briar-patch. It was a narrow escape. But then, as Peter says, "An escape is an escape," so what does it matter how narrow it was.

Sugar.

New York, October 4.—There were no sales or changes in the local raw sugar market today, with spots duty paid available at 4.08 delivered, but buyers showing little interest. The committee in Cuba reported a sale of 10,000 bags for October-November shipment at 1.90 f. o. b. Cardenas, to be refined and shipped to other countries than the United States.

There was only a small trade in raw futures and price movements were narrow and irregular. The market opened 1 to 2 points lower under liquidation and some selling by commission houses, some of which may have been for European account. This selling was apparently promoted by the disappointing showing of London and to the more liberal offerings in the spot market, but there was enough covering and trade buying to absorb the offerings and prices showed little change throughout the remainder of the session, with close 1 to 2 points net lower. Houses with Cuban connections were credited with buying December and selling the later deliveries. Approximate sales were 27,400 tons, with considerable exchanging from the near to the distant positions. December closed 2.32; January 2.28; March 2.30; May 2.24; July 2.40; September 2.46.

Business in refined was again mainly in the way of withdrawals against old orders with no new business reported.

Prices were listed at 5.50 for fine granulated by all refiners, with second hands available at from 5.37½ to 5.40. All refiners sales offices will remain closed on Saturdays for the balance of this month.

Dry Goods.

New York, October 4.—Cotton goods were in moderate demand. Light sales of gray goods were made at firm prices. Some demand for shirting fancies developed. Finished goods activity was fair. Cotton yarns were steady and selling ahead. Fair demand was noted for some spring woolen and worsted lines. Calcutta burlaps were made a shade stronger with spots and afloats unchanged and quiet. Spot raw silks were weaker here and in Japan and mills holding out for lower levels due to low prices and spotty demand for silk cloths.

Coffee.

New York, October 4.—Coffee: Spot easier; demand light; Rio No. 7, 15 7-16; Santos No. 3, 22¾. Rio futures closed irregular; approximated sales 14,000 bags; December 13.20; March 12.71; May 12.39; July 12.25; September 11.95. Santos futures irregular; approximated sales 35,000 bags; December 20.25; March 19.27; May 18.78; July 18.35; September 17.97.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, October 4.—Treasury receipts for October 2 were $4,845,447.19; expenditures $11,245,628.37; balance $401,310,019.93.

FLOOD VIGIL RELAXED AS STREAMS RECEDE

Augusta, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—Augusta released its vigilance somewhat today as the end appeared near in the long struggle against the wall of water churned up by the Savannah river, which for the past several days has imperiled the Georgia-South Carolina border city.

Early in the morning the rain-swollen stream dropped below the point fixed by the levee commission as the danger stage and continued to fall throughout the day. While it receded at the rate of several inches an hour, removal of the hundreds of workers who have been guarding the levee since Tuesday night was contemplated as soon as the 35-foot mark was reached.

Water continued to stand more than eight feet deep, however, in the streets of nearby Hamburg, S. C., while Red Cross relief workers reported that 16 white families and 18 negro families had been driven from their homes in Ogeechee, Screven county, Georgia, and 20 families had been forced to evacuate their dwellings at Dover, in the same county.

Another Red Cross worker arrived in Graniteville, S. C., to survey the towns of Vaucluse, Warrenville, Langley and Bath, all in the area partially inundated by the bursting of dams along Horse creek.

Planes Bring Mail.

As Augusta turned to rehabilitation work, five airplanes were winging their way to the section isolated by high water from Atlanta with the first mail to be dispatched here since Tuesday. Four of the planes were scheduled to reload here and return immediately to Atlanta. The fifth touched at Millen and also was to visit Aiken, S. C., and Waynesboro before heading back to Atlanta.

Preliminary surveys made by newspapers and others within a 50-mile radius of Augusta indicated damage aggregating nearly two million dollars.

The drowning of a negro and a white farmer are the only casualties reported so far.

Backwater, which reached 50 city blocks here yesterday and seeped to within a short distance of Augusta's main thoroughfare, was running off today, while families who took refuge on nearby hills were returning to the city proper.

Temporary repairs have been made to reopen the Atlanta highway, but railroad facilities remain seriously crippled with the time of the resumption of normal operations still problematical.

CAROLINA FLOODS CLAIM SIXTH VICTIM.

Charlotte, N. C., October 4.—(AP)—Floods which have ravaged the valleys of North Carolina, South Carolina and parts of Georgia for four days today took their sixth life when Guy Morehead, 22-year-old telephone lineman of Shelby, was drowned at McAdenville, N. C.

Sylvester Clifton, a farmer, was drowned last night when a portion of the bank of the Ogeechee river caved in and plunged him into the water, and a negro was drowned earlier in the week at Lake Olmstead, Ga.

Morehead lost his life when a boat in which he was working capsized. A companion swam to shore. The two were freeing a submerged telephone cable in the south fork of the Catawba river when the accident occurred. The body has not been recovered.

PLANES TO CARRY MAIL TO DISTRICT.

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—The postoffice department has taken steps to relieve the congestion of mail in the flood districts of Georgia and South Carolina.

The flood sections have practically been marooned for the last week, and Senator George, of Georgia, asked the department to order mail planes to assist in establishing communication, which since last Saturday has been by wire only.

The department advised the Georgia senator today that five planes had been sent to carry mail to and from Augusta, Millen and Waynesboro, in Georgia, and Aiken, S. C. After the accumulation of mail has been moved the planes will continue to make at least one trip daily until the highways are open and railroads resume their schedules.

RUSSIAN AIRMEN LAND NEAR SITKA, ALL ARE UNHURT

Craig, Alaska, October 4.—(AP)—Bringing first word of their own safety, two of the four Russian aviators, flying from Moscow to New York reached here today after being forced down because of motor trouble at Waterfall, 12 miles north of Craig.

The soviets said that both motors of the monoplane, "Land of the Soviets," went dead and that they would be unable to continue their flight to Seattle until a new motor was shipped from that city.

The Russians left Sitka at 6:42 a. m. yesterday for Seattle. They said "heavy weather" was encountered all the way down the coast from Sitka, about 200 miles north of here.

The ship was swooping from side to side not more than 20 feet above the water when the left motor began to miss. It stopped and a few minutes later the right motor also went dead.

The plane landed at Waterfall on Dall Island at the southeastern end of Alaska. While two of the Russians stayed by their plane the others made their way across to this small settlement on Prince of Wales Island.

Craig will be headquarters for communication until relief comes from Seattle.

Elected President.

Ann Arbor, Mich., October 4.—(AP) Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven this afternoon was unanimously elected president of the University of Michigan by the board of regents. He succeeds Dr. Clarence Cook Little, who resigned. Dr. Ruthven recently was named acting president.

The reason for some of the world's most glorious music furnishes the dramatic basis for the evening's broadcast of the Lyric Famous Challenges at 7 o'clock over WSB.

The subject is Franz Schubert. All the world knows the beauty of his works, but few know why they endure so everlastingly. It came about thus:

In Schubert's day, as now, there was a jazz public. The composer's publisher, the only one of his day who paid well, wanted Schubert to "popularize" his melodies.

"I will not do it," the composer retorted; "I will not compromise for gold. I am writing not only for today, but for posterity."

The broadcast of the Franz Schubert sketch in the series of Lyric Famous Challenges will be colorfully illustrated with musical selections from his works.

The first of the "Laundryland Lyrics" programs will be heard at 7:30 o'clock tonight over WSB and a coast-to-coast network of N. B. C. stations.

"Laundryland Lyrics" will feature Bernice Taylor, soprano, as Alice and Fred Waldner, tenor, as Ted in solo numbers and duets, while a 22-piece novelty orchestra under the direction of Josef Koestner will be heard in their own arrangements of popular favorites.

MEDICAL COLLEGE USES ONLY $71,500 OF FUND AVAILABLE

The Medical college at Augusta in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, left undrawn a balance of $28,950 from $100,000 of state appropriations available, according to an audit of the school's accounts released Friday by Tom Wisdom, state auditor.

Eighty thousand dollars are available for maintenance and an additional $20,000 is appropriated for public health. A total of $71,050 was drawn against the appropriations, it was shown.

The school, the audit showed, has no obligations beyond the current month's accounts, a small bank over draft, and no assets other than the undrawn appropriation.

There were 128 resident students last year, two non-resident, and five student assistants.

RUNS FOR SENATE AGAINST HOOCH AND HIGH HEELS

Springfield, Ill., October 4.—(AP)—James H. Kirby, of Petersburg, has announced his candidacy for democratic nomination for United States senator on a platform which calls for outlawing high-heeled shoes for women and for a "shoot-to-kill" enforcement of the prohibition law.

Kirby, a member of the fiftieth Illinois general assembly and a democratic candidate for United States senator in 1926 against Colonel Frank L. Smith, has been active for years in an effort to limit the height of heels on women's shoes.

In connection with prohibition law enforcement, Kirby said he would seek authorization for officers to "shoot to kill to enforce this law." "It will be necessary," he added, "to kill somebody—and plenty of them."

"Hooch and high heels," he said, "are driving the nation to perdition faster than Dr. Eckener drove the Graf Zeppelin around the world."

AD PROTECTORATE PLAN IS ADOPTED BY WAYCROSS MEN

Waycross, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—A large number of the Waycross business houses have entered into an agreement with the Chamber of Commerce whereby they will not take part in any advertising proposition until the proposition has been approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce will appoint a committee of three to which all advertising schemes and proposals will be referred for approval or disapproval. The personnel of the committee will be kept secret.

This plan, it is believed, will save the businessmen of the city several hundred dollars a year.

21 HURT IN CRASH AS RAILROAD CARS ROLL DOWN BANK

Stanford, Ky., October 4.—(AP)—Five passenger cars of a fast Louisville and Nashville train were derailed and overturned at Cedar Creek Hill, near here, early today, causing injury to eighteen passengers and three members of the crew.

Passengers in the three sleepers and two day coaches were thrown about from side to side as the wheels left the rails and the cars bumped along until one of them struck a bridge abutment. The cars then overturned, one landing end up after sliding down an embankment. Witnesses reported all of the coaches were in danger of going into the creek when the coach struck the bridge.

In spite of the fact that they were "tossed about like straws in the wind," as one of them expressed it, none of the passengers appeared to be seriously injured.

ALVIN YORK, HERO, RECEIVES WELCOME IN SENATE CHAMBER

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—Soft in voice and mild in manner, Alvin C. York today received the congratulations of the senate, looking but little the part of the hard-fighting sergeant of the American expeditionary forces who 11 years ago single-handed killed 26 Germans and captured 132 others.

Smilingly he shook hands with the senators who came forward after he had been escorted into the chamber by Vice President Curtis and Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, and a five-minute recess taken at the latter's suggestion.

York's exploit led General Pershing to describe him as one of the outstanding heroes of the World War.

U. S. BOARD ALTERS NAME OF MOUNTAIN TO "OGLETHORPE"

Washington, October 4.—(Special.) In memory of General Oglethorpe, who established the first white colony in Georgia after landing at Savannah with his little band of English immigrants, the United States geographic board has promised to change the name of Grassy Knob, mountain located in Pickens county, Georgia, to Mount Oglethorpe.

The board's action is in keeping with a resolution passed by the recent session of the Georgia legislature which unanimously recommended the change in names.

Senators Walter F. George and W. J. Harris, of Georgia, submitted the resolution of the legislature to the geographic board.

MOTHER SUES DRIVER WHO HIT DAUGHTER

Columbus, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—Suit for $10,000 damages has been filed by Mrs. Gertrude Page in superior court here against W. C. Thomas for injuries sustained last May by her 18-year-old daughter, Edith Ruth Page, when she was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Thomas.

Charging negligence on the part of the defendant, the petition alleged that he was exceeding the speed of 10 miles an hour prescribed at intersections and that he failed to make any effort to avoid hitting the girl.

As a result of the accident, the petition set forth, Miss Page was injured seriously and permanently about the body and the face, the latter injuries changing and marring her countenance and expression.

CAPONE DENIED PLEA FOR PAROLE AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, October 4.—(AP)—Alphonse "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gang leader, lost another battle today in his effort to free himself from the penitentiary, where he is serving a year's sentence for carrying a loaded pistol.

The petition for a parole for himself and Frank Cline, his bodyguard, also serving a one-year sentence, was dismissed by the municipal court.

Both Capone and Cline asked parole on the ground that Capone and Cline had been sufficiently punished and that if they were released they would immediately leave the jurisdiction.

Judge Walsh dismissed the petition on the ground that he had no jurisdiction.

GOV. BILBO REFUSES COMMENT ON 'GIFTS' OF STATE WORKERS

Jackson, Miss., October 4.—(AP)—Stating that he regarded the contributions of state employes to his campaign deficit as a personal matter, Governor Bilbo today declined to make further comment on the recent findings of a house of representatives investigating committee.

Testimony taken by the special committee disclosed that several state employes had contributed toward liquidation of campaign deficits of the Mississippi chief executive.

"The matter is strictly personal," the governor said. "The employes earned their money by working for it, and it belonged to them to do what they pleased with it."

TWO ORCHESTRAS WILL BE ADDED BY GEORGIA TECH

It was announced Friday by A. J. Garing, band instructor at Georgia Tech, that two orchestras will be added to the institution's musical organizations. The plan has the approval of President M. L. Brittain and members of the faculty.

The first of the new organizations will be a 30-piece symphony jazz orchestra, to be directed by Mr. Garing.

Salvation Army Wins Court Fight On Street Services

Nashville, Tenn., October 4.—(AP)—Freedom to conduct services at any place and any time was the privilege of the Salvation Army here today following the dismissal by City Judge Guild Smith of charges brought by city police against Commandant W. E. Graham.

As a result of his arrest by police last Saturday night, Graham was charged with "refusing to move on when told to do so by an officer," and "obstructing traffic" while conducting services at the entrance to the Arcade building. Merchants told police the services interfered with business.

Officers were justified in arresting Graham when he refused to obey the police orders to "move on," Judge Smith said, but he ruled that such an organization as the Salvation Army was "entitled to police protection and that officers should guard only against crowds which gathered so that traffic might not be blocked."

Although city officials had offered to dismiss charges against him and allow him to hold services every night except Saturday at the entrance to the Arcade building, Graham declined to accept the offer.

SOUND OF FOOTBALL WHISTLE ATTRACTS SOCIETY

Social Gayeties Today Revolve Around Game

The trumpet of the fall social season will be sounded today when the first football conflict of the year is played at Grant field between Georgia Tech and Mississippi A. and M. Interest is rife, as this auspicious occasion heralds the beginning of the fall series of contests scheduled to be played in Atlanta this fall. Amidst a background of thousands of football enthusiasts, the lovely sponsors for the Yellow Jackets, Miss Marion Wolff, of Atlanta, and Miss Elizabeth Gill, of Moultrie, will be escorted to the sidelines immediately preceding the entrance of the rival teams on the field of battle. They will carry huge arm bouquets of chrysanthemums, the color scheme being carried out in gold and white, the Tech colors. Atlanta is agog this week-end entertaining the football visitors and the social calendar is crowded with football lunches, tea-dances, and evening dances, and as the season progresses, innumerable additional functions, inspired by the sport of football, will make their advent.

McPheeters-Stone Wedding.

The attention of a number of fashionable Atlanta society turns today to the quaint town of Quebec, that distant city in Canada where Miss Isabel Leftwich McPheeters, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be united in marriage to Daniel Stone, also of Cleveland, the bride-to-be being a niece of Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, of this city, whom she has frequently visited. The vows will be spoken in the historic St. Matthews church, situated on the picturesque St. Lawrence river, this prominent bridal pair carrying out the custom employed by Cleveland society to choose a distant site for wedding rites when the ceremony is of a quiet nature. Immediately after the reception at the palatial Frontenac hotel, Mr. Stone and his bride will leave for a honeymoon in Cuba, flying from Key West to the Pearl of the Antilles.

"Athaliah" Presented Here October 15.

Preparations are rapidly nearing completion for the drama "Athaliah," which will be presented at the Atlanta auditorium Tuesday evening, October 15, at 8 o'clock, by the Alpha Omega chapter of the Delphian Society and the fifth district Federation of Women's Clubs, assisted by hundreds of prominent citizens and musicians of Atlanta, to honor Mrs. Kate Green Hess, president of the district and past president of the Delphian Society. Proceeds from tickets, on sale by federated club women and at Cable Piano Company, at 50 and 25 cents, will be used by the fifth district G. F. W. C. to promote civic enterprise.

Mrs. Natalie Cooper Buchanan, of the Buchanan School of Expression, and chairman of drama for the fifth district, is directing the play under the supervision of Mrs. C. W. McClure, president of the Delphian Society; Mrs. J. W. Peacock, chairman of the advisory board of the same organization and committee. Mrs. Frank Miller, noted voice teacher, and music chairman for the district, and Mrs. C. E. LaFontaine, of the LaFontaine School of Dancing, will direct the chorus, composed of pupils of these schools and clubwomen of the district. The play, drawn from the Holy Scripture, in the 16th century, was translated into English in 1897 and performed in Sanders theater, Harvard university, in the same year by students and faculty of the university and Radcliff college.

Dr. and Mrs. Hobby Entertain at Bridge.

Dr. and Mrs. Worth Hobby entertained at bridge last evening at their home on St. Charles avenue complimenting Miss Sarah Foote and Dr. Hartwell Joiner, whose marriage will be solemnized on the evening of October 16.

Tickets may be secured at door or through members of the Nellie Peters Black Chapter, under whose auspices the school is being held. Tickets will be 25 cents each or five for $1.

Women Voters' League To Convene Oct. 17.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, state president of Georgia League of Women's Voters, and the following women held a pre-convention board meeting last Thursday to formulate plans for the convention to be held October 17: Mesdames Alfred Bailey, Emmett Quinn, W. A. Ozmer, R. L. Turman, Harry Letcher Greene, Sinclair Jacobs, A. J. Woodruff, W. J. Simpson, Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, C. B. Gosnell, Jessie Daniel Ames, J. T. Billups, W. C. Robinson, Mary L. Adams, W. P. Smith, Bessie K. Matson and Walter W. Foote. The board expressed concern over the small number of registered voters who voted in the fifth district congressional election October 2. The fact being that less than one-sixth registered citizens voted.

Miss Prentiss Weds John Henry Wright In Fitzgerald, Ga.

Fitzgerald, Ga., October 4.—The marriage of Miss Julia Prentiss and John Henry Wright, of Atlanta, was solemnized Wednesday morning, October 2, at 12 o'clock at the home of the bride on West Jessamine street. A cousin of the bride, Rev. J. D. Wilson, rector of Saint Mark's Episcopal church in LaGrange, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends and relatives.

The bride's natural beauty was enhanced by a lovely three-piece ensemble of independence blue crepe. The imported blouse was of tan batiste, beautifully hand-embroidered. Her hat was a becoming model of blue velvet and her other accessories harmonized with her costume. Her only ornament was a handsome necklace of pearls and sapphires. Sho carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies tied with white satin ribbon. A bit of sentiment was attached to the wedding ceremony through the fact that she married on her mother's fortieth anniversary, at the same hour on the same day of the week, the same marriage ceremony being used. She also carried an exquisite old Duchess lace handkerchief, which was carried by her mother on her bridal day.

Miss Quinette Prentiss, the maid of honor, wore a model in violene chiffon, velvet trimmed, with hat and other accessories to match. Her arm bouquet was of Ophelia roses and cream dahlias, tied with lavender satin ribbon.

After the ceremony Mrs. R. J. Prentiss, mother of the bride, entertained with a lovely wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Wright left by motor for points of interest in Florida. They will be at home in Atlanta.

DIZZY SPELLS AND HEADACHE

Atlanta, Ga.—"I have been a user of Thedford's Black-Draught for about forty-five years," writes Mrs. Sarah L. Thomas, of 317 Boulevard, this city. "I wouldn't know how to keep house without it.

"I gave it to my children, while they were growing up, for headaches, colds and other childish ailments.

"I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells that caused me to spend a day or so at a time in bed, and made me feel weak and shaky.

"My step-mother advised me to take Black-Draught, and finding it so helpful and quick to relieve me, I have used it, when I needed a laxative, ever since. It is splendid for constipation and indigestion. Whenever I eat anything that disagrees with me, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief. I have never used anything that helped me more.

"I have recommended Black-Draught to my friends and they tell me they find it good."

FAN PLAITS.

The fan plaited treatment at center-front makes it so individual. The collar of plain crepe terminates in scarf end at left shoulder. Belt shows raised waistline. Hips are extremely flat.

Style No. 683 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, 2 5-8 yards of 39-inch material with one yard of 35-inch contrasting is sufficient to copy it exactly.

Black crepe satin is marvelous choice for general wear. The collar and fan plaits at front can be cut from the dull surface to achieve contrasting effect.

Wine red canton crepe is very attractive, and can be worn for street or afternoon.

Address orders to Annette Fashion Dept., care The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Kellam Honors Bride-Elect.

Miss Mary Ellen Parks, a popular bride-elect of the fall, was honored at a bridge-luncheon at which Mrs. Armine R. Kellam was hostess at her home on North avenue on Friday afternoon. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames J. F. Kellam, W. H. Mahone and J. L. Fiske. The guests included a group of friends of the hostess and the honor guest.

OFFICER MORGAN ASSIGNED TO DUTY AT CITY HOSPITAL

Patrolman O. M. Morgan was assigned to duty at Grady hospital Friday after a lengthy lay-off due to injuries he received in a gun battle some time ago. Morgan asked to be returned to his old beat, but Captain G. T. Butler did not feel that his weakened condition would allow him to, so he was sent to Grady.

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.
A WAITING GAME.

Dorling conceded to the captain that his purser and chief steward might be telling the truth.

"The gang who drugged my whisky were quite capable of the rest."

"A gang, eh!" echoed the captain, with a short laugh. "Why should a gang want to put you on this ship—a fortnight's pleasure cruise and back to Southampton. If you think it over, it doesn't seem reasonable."

"Anyhow, the thing is soon settled," he snapped. "Send a wireless to my club or better still to Scotland Yard. They will know of my disappearance by now."

"That's a fine idea," said the captain enthusiastically. "By jove, Dorling, that will settle the whole thing, of course! I'll have the wireless sent off and we'll talk it over again after breakfast, shall we?"

The enthusiasm puzzled Dorling. To use the wireless was, after all, a very obvious course of action.

"Thanks, but I'm not particularly keen on waiting until tomorrow. You will get a reply within a couple of hours—if you send it now." The last words were spoken with a special meaning. "And then," he added, "I'm afraid I shall have to ask you to make for the nearest port."

"Make for the—ho! ho!—" the captain cut off his laughter. "O course, my dear fellow! That—that's what I would have suggested myself."

"It's pretty obvious you don't intend to send the wireless, Captain Marwood. You don't want to prove that I'm telling the truth," he almost shouted. He made for the door. "Very well, I shall tell the truth myself."

"I can't allow you to excite the other passengers," said the captain.

Dorling paid no heed. He banged out of the cabin feeling, as he did so, that it was unwise to run away from the captain.

He descended from the bridge deck and had not gone a dozen steps before the chief steward accosted him.

"Captain Marwood's compliments, m'lord, and would you please go to your cabin?"

From nowhere, as it seemed, four muscular stewards had appeared. There was no doubt whatever that they had been sent to enforce the orders the captain had given by telephone.

As he shut the door behind him it was locked from the outside.

He sat bolt upright on the edge of his bed trying to guess what they would do with him.

"They can't murder me. Too many people know I'm here. And they can't keep me here forever. A fortnight's pleasure cruise, he said."

He started violently as a man in evening dress stood before him. He had not heard the door being unlocked.

"How d'ye do, Lord Dorling! My name's Stevens. I'm the doctor, you know. The captain said you were feeling a bit dickey. Shall I run the tape over you?"

"No thanks. Nothing whatever the matter with me. I've simply been shoved in here against my will. I asked the captain to wireless my friends and he has locked me up here."

"D'you mind going?" said Dorling curtly.

"Nothing much the matter with you!" chirped the doctor. "This kidnaping business is one of the earliest symptoms. I'll send you up a little bromide to help you to sleep and you'll have forgotten it tomorrow."

"What about that locked door?" demanded Dorling.

"We'll see about that tomorrow. If you feel fit there'll be no need."

"In that case," said Dorling to himself, "I shall feel fit tomorrow. Then I'll apologize to Captain Marwood. It looks as if this is going to be a waiting game."

On the next morning breakfast was brought to Dorling in his cabin and shortly afterwards the doctor appeared.

Overnight he had not taken the medicine sent to him.

"Hullo, doc!" he said cheerfully. "Pretty good stuff of yours—I slept like a top."

"Glad to hear it. Let's have a look at you." At the end, Dorling asked:

"What was I driveling about last night?"

"The usual stuff," was the indifferent answer. "You told the captain you'd been kidnaped."

"Phew! I'd better go and apologize."

"No need. He's used to that kind of thing. It—it often happens on this—damned ship."

There was a wealth of feeling in the last words that startled Dorling.

"You don't seem to like the life, doc."

The other laughed with concentrated bitterness.

"D'you think I'd be on the job if—if I were allowed to do anything else?" he said, as if he were speaking to himself.

The two men faced each other—between them a secret that Dorling dared not then try to fathom. He felt that in other circumstances he and the young doctor would have liked each other.

"No harm in my getting up, is there?"

"No. You're all right. I'll report to the captain. But, look here, mind you don't let me down. If you feel gloomy come and see me and I'll give you some more bromide. You see, if one patient starts, all the others may tune up, too."

"The others!" echoed Dorling. "Are the whole lot of 'em patients?"

"More or less, of course!" said the doctor and then, as if fearing he had said too much he left the cabin abruptly.

The door was unlocked from the outside before Dorling had finished dressing. As soon as he could he hurried on deck and a few minutes later he had found Cecily.

"Now—what does it all mean?" he asked as they stood together by the rail, a dozen yards from a noisy game of quoits. "Why do we have to pretend—"

"We have to pretend we're enjoying it, you and I—or they simply think you're mad and lock you up," she said.

"That's what happened to me last night," he broke in and told her all that had happened since he had flown with her to Redcorn and had seen her leave the airplane in a motor boat.

"And now," he finished, "I want your yarn. I know the gang held up the police and took you away."

"Then you know nearly all there is to know. I haven't the least idea how I got on board. I simply woke up in my cabin."

"Didn't you do anything?"

"Of course! Send for the stewardess. Then they brought the doctor. I told him as much as was necessary—how they had brought me down from the north in a saloon car—that they must have given me something just as we were getting near London. He simply thought I was raving and gave me a bromide. I soon found that the only thing to do was to agree that I had been raving—just as you did."

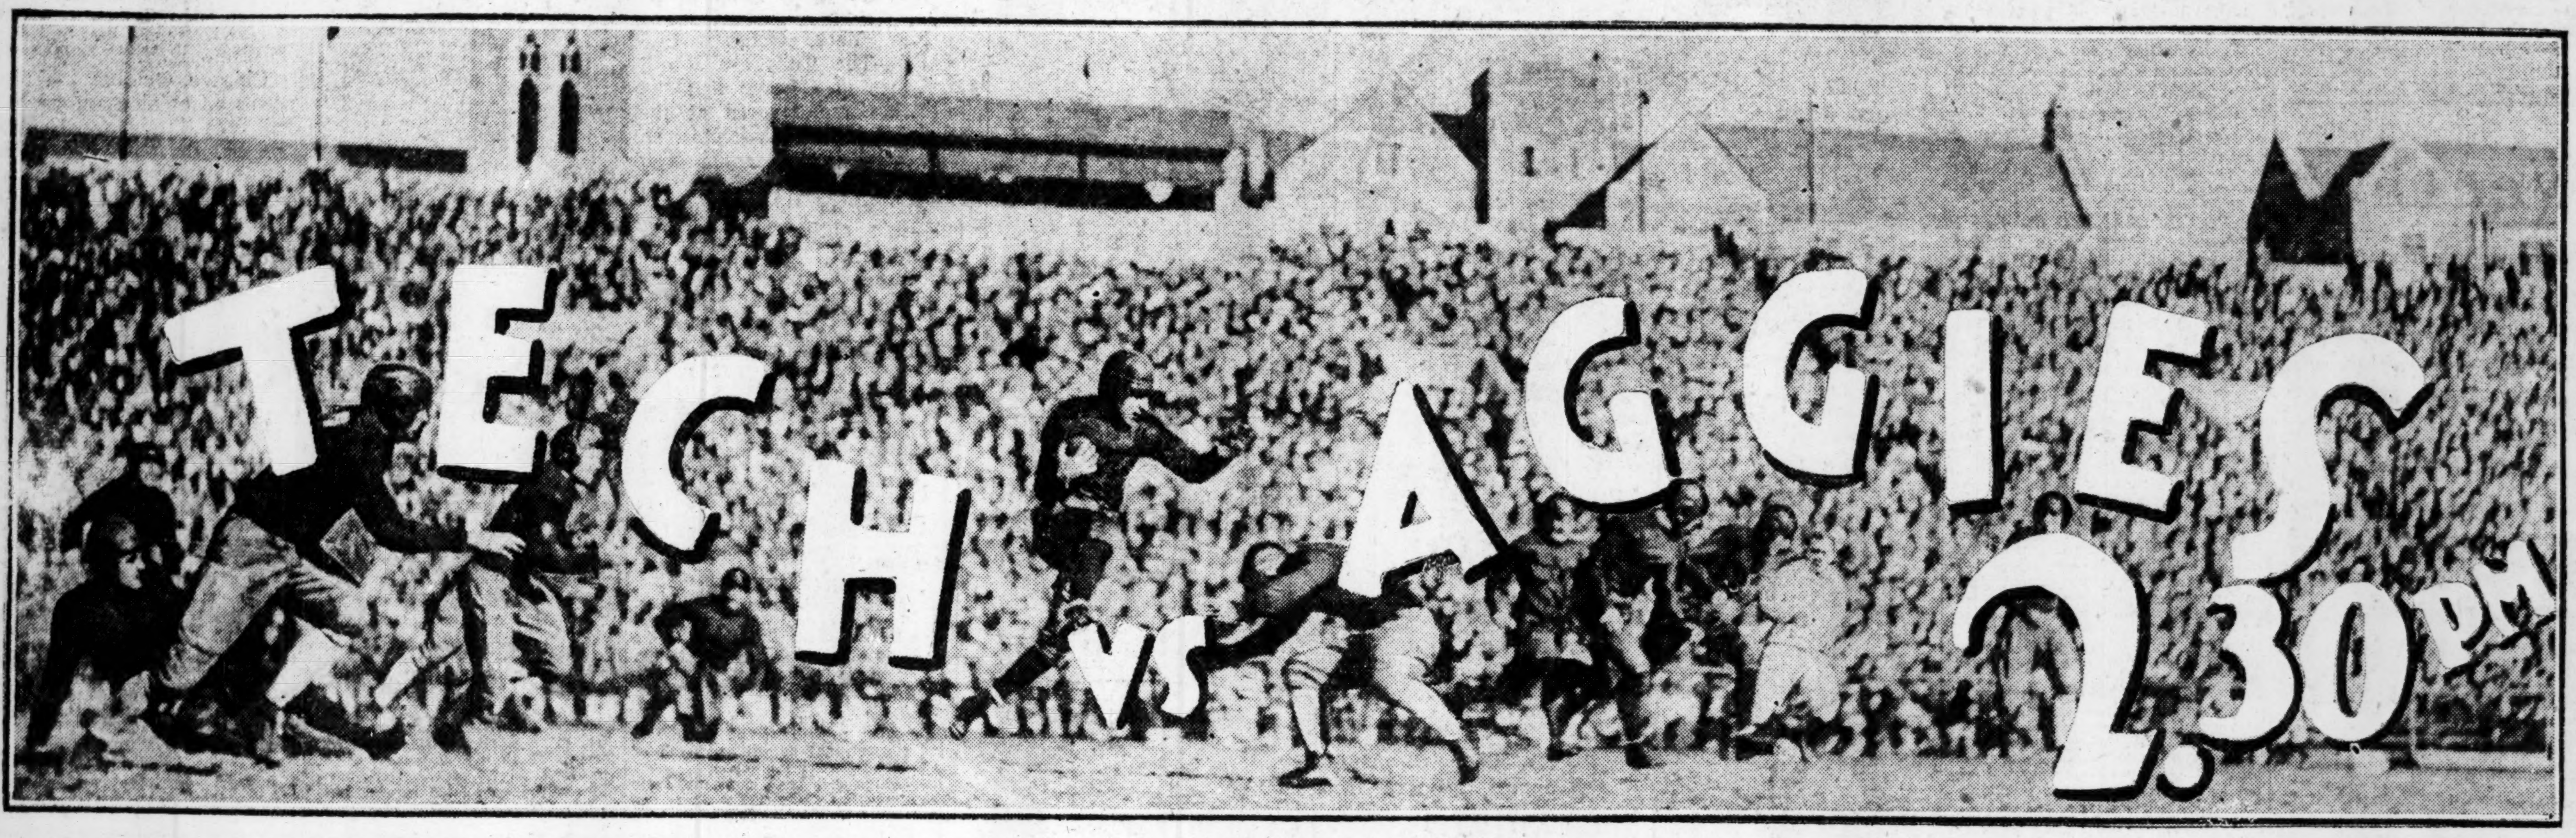
Georgia, Furman Ready for Desperate Battle This Afternoon

JACKETS MEET AGGIES IN DEBUT TODAY



GEORGIA FACES FURMAN TODAY; GAME IS TEST

By Ralph McGill.

Athens, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—There is no sound of revelry here by night. Not this night, anyhow. Grim reality has landed and has the situation well in hand. Georgia, defeated last week by Oglethorpe, plays Furman Saturday afternoon and Georgia must win.

That's the way they feel here with the Yale game just one week away and Furman the last hurdle to make. They must win. And so Athens put its collective head on its pillow tonight grimly determined and will, no doubt, dream of Furman scoring touchdown after touchdown. The situation is so grim that large slices of grimness may be cut out of the atmosphere. If Georgia doesn't win there'll be a broken heart for every light at Costa's.

Dad Amis' Furman crew, with one victory and one defeat in the books, would rather beat Georgia than any other team it plays outside its own state. It was no surprise to find Dad Amis and Furman very, very grim. This is perhaps the grimmest game that has ever been arranged.

MEHRE PESSIMISTIC.

Harry Mehre came off the field this afternoon in an exhausted state of mind. All week he has juggled with line-ups until he is dizzy with combinations. He frankly admits that his progress this week has been disappointing. Few coaches in the conference are playing the schedule that Mehre has and has so little material to meet it with.

"We have worked hard all week," said Mehre. "Our progress has been slow. The boys have so much to learn that our progress seems slower than it really is. One thing is evident. They are very willing to learn and they are fighters. I am not sure which combination I will start this afternoon, although it will be approximately that which started the Oglethorpe game last week.

HARD GAME.

"Furman will be a hard team to beat," said Mehre. "We always get a hard game when we play the Hurricane. We have been so busy with fundamentals that we have had little time to devote to a defense against Furman plays but we will give all we have. It will require the game to determine whether or not that is enough to win."

LONG SCRIMMAGES.

Mehre used two squads in long scrimmages on Wednesday and Thursday, seeking in vain for a squad with a punch. Neither varsity outfit made any great impression on the freshman defense.

Mehre admittedly had his strength very widely distributed. He had Captain Boland at center surrounded with a number of sophomores. The second varsity outfit was also composed of an unusual mixture.

The young Atlantan, Armin Waugh, is to see action today. He may start. Marion Dickens, Jimmy Patterson and Chandler are other backs who are sure to be seen in the backfield. Benny Rothstein, the only letterman back from the 1928 backfield, seems sure to start at fullback. Mehre was wagging his head and muttering something in his beard at the close of the Friday practice. Not any of it had to do with a lineup.

Friday's signal practice went off smoothly. Vernon Smith, injured in the Thursday practice, will probably be ready for the game today. His injuries are not serious. He has been showing exceptional promise as an end.

FURMAN READY.

Furman's squad appears to be in good condition. There are no injuries

MAWNIN'
By Ed Danforth

From the restricted viewpoint of the provincial, the outstanding sporting issues of today are:

1. How Vance Maree, the ex-tackle, will perform at fullback in the debut of the new Flats eleven.
2. How far and in which direction the Georgia Bulldogs will rebound in their second game following their defeat in the opener by Oglethorpe.

It is probable that Maree will carry the ball seldom, if at all, so if you want to see him, watch events that transpire involving the defensive tackle when Tech has the ball and follow him as he backs up the line when the Aggies have the ball.

THE CRUCIAL GAME.

A week ago Georgia spotted itself a defeat at the hands of the Petrels in their debut. The Bulldog sophomores had everything except co-ordination and right thinking in tthe pinches.

The past week has been one of back-breaking labor and mental suffering. The young men have been drilled unceasingly by the coaches in effort to perfect team play. They no doubt will welcome the opposition Furman can offer as a relief; a regular game lasts only one hour while scrimmages at Sanford field have gone on as long as four hours.

Whether Georgia will have a championship contender or merely fine prospects for next year will be revealed in a measure by the game at hand.

SOME BACKS.

Whatever may be true about the relatively light physique of the Florida rush line this year, none can laugh off the vast, mobile weight of their backfield.

The 'Gators have the heaviest squad of backs in the organization. Rainey Cawthon, the varsity fullback, weighs 190. Royce Goodbread, one halfback, also scales 190. Luke Dorsett, the sophomore halfback, packs 195 pounds.

These three men go out for track and Goodbread can run the century in a fraction under 10 seconds. They move faster on the average than any backs in the conference.

When McEwan replaces Clyde Crabtree at quarterback, he brings 165 pounds into the backfield. With McEwan in action, the Florida backfield is probably the heaviest unit in America this year. Ed Sauls, substitute for Cawthon, weighs 190, by the way.

What an impact of bone and muscle these 'Gators deliver in their off tackle play with every man in the interference. Their weight and speed may atone for any fancied inferiority in the rush line.

WHAT A BLOW TO BOTH OF US!

In the note book kept while going about the south looking at football teams in September is a note that I have dodged and dodged. I have looked at it time and again and turned to the next page. But I guess I might as well go on and get through with it.

After looking at the Alabama football team workout in Tuscaloosa, I caught a late train for New Orleans. As I came into the Pullman, the conductor greeted me with:

SOUND COACHING ADVICE.

Russ Cohen, former assistant to Wallace Wade at the Capstone, now head football teacher at Louisiana State university, has a most promising team this year and wrote Wade asking for an October game with the Crimson.

Wade refused. He wrote Russ to take it easy for another year and not get too ambitious in his schedule making.

PETRELS MEET TOUGH CITADEL ELEVEN TODAY

Oglethorpe Rated Favorite To Win Important S. I. A. A. Contest.

Charleston, S. C., October 4.—(Special.)—Coach Harry Robertson and 25 of his Petrel football players from Oglethorpe university, arrived here this afternoon and immediately engaged in a short signal drill. Oglethorpe will play Citadel Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

It was a long and tiresome trip that the Petrels had to take in order to get here and it was feared for a while that the game would have to be postponed because of the floods of last week. The Petrels came via Savannah.

A large number of spectators was out this afternoon to watch the conquerors of Georgia in action and were thoroughly convinced that the Petrels are to be reckoned with in deciding the S. I. A. A. championship.

Citadel also engaged in a brief practice today, consisting of running down under punts, passing and a signal drill. The team appeared to be in excellent shape and ready for Oglethorpe, although the odds are favoring the visitors.

Since the Petrels upset the football populace with their stinging 13-to-7 defeat of Georgia last week, considerable interest has been manifested here.

Although neither lineup has been announced, Citadel will probably start its combination that appeared against Newberry last week. Oglethorpe's lineup is uncertain except the backfield. Cy Bell, the hero of the Georgia game; Martin, Fox and Anderson are expected to start.

Commercial High Is Defeated, 14-7

Thomaston, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—A series of off tackle bucks coupled with several end runs near the close of play enabled Robert E. Lee High school to defeat Commercial High, of Atlanta, 14 to 7, here this afternoon before a large crowd of spectators.

Commercial High scored early in the first quarter and then the line played exceptionally good, holding the locals well in check. The visiting line held several times, when the locals were within easy scoring distance, but lacked the necessary punch.

Late in the third quarter Thomaston began a march near the middle of the field that resulted in a touchdown and tied the score. The teams battled for awhile on even terms until R. E. Lee found an opening in the Commercial line and ploughed through for another score and a victory.

Mercer Freshmen Beat Gordon, 34-0

Macon, Ga., October 4. — When "Punkey" Walden, Mercer freshman, ran 80 yards through the Gordon High school team in the first quarter of today's game, the prep school boys seemed to lose heart and offered little resistance the rest of the game. The final score was 34-0.

Two more touchdowns were added in the second quarter as Walden again crossed the goal line after a 14-yard run and Poe, Mercer fullback, hurled a long pass to Charlie Lobitte, end.

Early in the second half, another pass by the same combination put the ball in scoring distance and Poe carried it over. The last score was made in the final quarter by the same combination.

Generals Beat Wolfpack, 27-6

Raleigh, N. C., October 4.—(AP)—The Generals of Washington and Lee, led by a long, lanky end and a stumpy little quarterback, ran wild in the third period against North Carolina State this afternoon to defeat the Wolfpack, 27 to 6.

The brilliant work of L. Williams and Mattox in the third quarter was largely responsible for the four touchdowns scored by the Virginians. Each counted twice.

During the first quarter, the teams battled on nearly even terms and then State let loose in the second period to score.

Dellinger made a 1-yard buck for the tally after he had passed to Jordan for a 29-yard gain.

Mattox opened the half for Washington and Lee by returning the kickoff 31 yards and with the aid of a 15-yard penalty, a 20-yard twisting run by Thibadeau, and a 7-yard pass from Faulkner to Mattox, the Generals scored. The other touchdowns followed in quick succession.

After Honor.

New York, October 4.—(United News.)—Columbia Gridders are going to try for scoring honors in the Union game here tomorrow. N. Y. U. was the best metropolitan touchdown and extra point maker last Saturday, and the Crowley men have decided it's their turn this week.

SIX CONFERENCE GAMES BOOKED THIS AFTERNOON

Championship hopes of six southern conference teams are likely to be wrecked following today's doings on Dixie football fields.

Alabama can eliminate the University of Mississippi, which already has been beaten once, by a victory at Tuscaloosa, but Coach Wallace Wade's team is badly crippled and if the Tide downs the young giants coached by Homer Hazel, the other outfits on the Alabama schedule can prepare for plenty of trouble.

Coach Chuck Collins is so anxious to trim Maryland that he will start 10 North Carolina veterans against the old liners at College park. Lipscomb, center, will be the only sophomore in the line-up.

CLEMSON FAVORED.

On the basis of their showings last Saturday, Virginia and South Carolina, which meet at Columbia, appear to be an even bet.

Florida is liked over V. M. I. at Tampa, but the always tricky Cadets are pointed for this game and Coach Bill Raftery hopes for a close score.

With Pappenheimer, their backfield ace going strong, the Mississippi Aggies are hoping to give Georgia Tech an interesting afternoon at Atlanta. The Tornado is favored to cop its first 1929 start with room to spare.

Visiting scouts probably will get a line on the real strength of the Duke Blue Devils in their game with the Pitt Panthers at Durham. It is no secret that Coach Jimmy Dehart expects to keep the score down to nine or ten points.

OTHER GAMES.

Billy Banker and his colleagues of the Tulane Green Wave can count on a busy afternoon with the Texas Aggies at New Orleans and the University of Chattanooga Moccasins, 1928 champions of the S. I. A. A., would give their collective right arm to take a fall out of the Tennessee Vols at Chattanooga.

Army at Ease.

West Point, N. Y., October 4.—(United News.)—Headed by Coach Henry Brearm, the Gettysburg football team which plays the Army here tomorrow, arrived today and held a short practice on the Michie stadium field. Although they do not expect to win, the Pennsylvanians promised to put up a strong fight. Army had a signal drill and a turn at punting. Coach Biff Jones expects to use many subs tomorrow.

Danforth and McGill Cover Feature Games

Ed Danforth's story on the Georgia Tech-Mississippi Aggie football game will appear in The Constitution Sunday morning. This game, the first of Tech's eight conference games, marks the opening of an important football season. Danforth's original and colorful stories are among the finest written each fall. Atlantans have learned to look for his football stories. They have made him the South's football authority. Read him tomorrow morning.

Ralph McGill is covering the Georgia-Furman game at Athens. Georgia, defeated last week by Oglethorpe, faces an important test this afternoon. McGill, a former Vanderbilt football player and a writer of conference football for the past seven years, will cover that game for The Constitution.

Bill Fincher, Tech's line coach, will write his column, "Lines by Fincher" immediately after the game. Fincher's column, written in the style that only Fincher has, is another great feature.

Untried Tech Eleven Meets Aggies Today

BY ED DANFORTH

Some of the principals who sang so sweetly a season ago and dominated the national gridiron grand opera are back again, but the supporting cast and the chorus is brand new. Many of the boys will not be recognized by the tenants of the west stands, not even by their numbers.

The football phase of higher education at old G. S. T. has prospered of late. They have not lost a game since they went to South Bend in 1927 and got themselves trimmed roundly.

A week later they tied—or were tied by—Vanderbilt. From that field, the Yellow Jackets have swept on through 14 straight victories. It is no favor to the new eleven to remind them of those figures, for after all the Mississippi Aggies have a chance to break the string. Do not overlook that, in spite of the fact that the Farmer Boys are taken with gay unconcern by the Atlanta Chapter of Heavy Thinkers.

UNCERTAINTY.

What Tech will do this year is the burning question all over the conference. Most of Tech's opponents, not excepting the Aggies of today, have made a supreme issue of the Tech game. In spite of the fact that the home-town critics have solemnly warned that Tech is sure to be weaker than in 1928, many believe that the Yellow Jacekts will be just as good as ever when the results and the Old Grads are all in next December.

Those who think the Yellow Jackets still pack the horsepower of the conference are no more numerous than those who are singing the Tech Flats Blues.

This latter group is certain the big Gold team will be thrown heavily on its collective noggin many times before Santa Claus comes. This division of opinion is just one of the reasons why the crowd at the Flats will be a bit larger than usual this afternoon for the inaugural.

LOUD SPEAKERS.

Balked at staging a night football game by humanitarian considerations, the Tech folks will give something electrical anyhow. A broadcasting system has been installed and a play-by-play report of the game will be scattered over the premises. Name of player, yards gained, and who made the tackle will be served free of charge; the system on its test run proved powerful enough to shatter the ear drums almost.

Students from high schools and junior high schools in the Atlanta district, both boys and girls, will be admitted as Tech's guests for the day. Bargain seats also will be sold in the south stands at the box office for a dollar a copy.

MANY MISSING.

So once again "Stumpy" Thomason and Warner Mizell and Vance Maree and Tom Jones and Joe Westbrook and Coot Watkins and Earl Dunlap will hear the referee's pipe for the first time since they heard it in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. A lot of bridges have been washed away since then.

Gone are Peter Pund, Raleigh Drennon, Kenneth Thrash, Frank Speer, Frank Waddey, Ronald Durant, "Father" Lumpkin, Bob Randolph and other mighty figures whose names were household words and whose deeds were on every tongue a few months ago. No conference eleven has lost such such a great weight of experienced men.

In their places are names that may be just as famous: Ben Sloane, Rudy Swartz, Jim Brooke, Sam Fincher, "Bull" Millians, Doug Graydon, Johnny Huntsinger and a dozen others.

MAREE AS FULLBACK.

Vance Maree, called by many the best tackle in the conference last year, has been made over into a fullback and may take the football under his arm this afternoon for the first time before an Atlanta crowd.

Earl Dunlap, last year the first

SMITHIES LASH BAYLOR, 19 TO 0

Boyd Runs 72 Yards to Touchdown on First Play of Game.

Chattanooga, October 4. — Tech High, 1928 southern champion and looking every inch of it, took a hand in turning Jimmie Rike Day at Baylor into a disappointment for the grand old man of local football and several hundred fans who braved a steady rain to see Tech High defeat Baylor, 19 to 0.

From the opening play to the last the game was a repetition of long runs by the Tech backfield and a counter aerial attack by Baylor. The opening play of the game was a 72-yard run by Boyd, Tech High's fleet halfback, to a touchdown. Baylor kicked off and Tech returned to its 28-yard line. On the next play, Boyd took the ball, crossed the field and passing seven white lines, planted the ball under the posts for the Georgians' first six points. Boyd did this same trick against G. M. A. in Atlanta last Saturday and it won that game, 6 to 0.

Hutt, another speedy Atlanta back, was a thorn in Baylor's side the whole afternoon and behind splendid interference reeled off about 20 runs from 1 yard up to 35. Hammond, Tech's quarterback, did a little bit of everything toward winning the game and contributed a touchdown with a line buck through center, carrying half the Rikemen with him. Hammond, who weighs about 190 pounds and stands 6 feet tall, will be a strong candidate for All-Southern this year.

The Tech line is probably as strong as any prep team in the south. All big, husky and fast, they stopped Baylor on virtually every line play tried and Bryan resorted to the air early in the game in a vain effort to beat the champions.

No scoring was done in the second quarter and the half ended with the count 6 to 0. In the third quarter Baylor fumbled the slick and heavy ball twice and Tech recovered the last time on the 20-yard line. A pass and three line plays put the ball over for the visitors second touchdown. Hammond tried for the extra point with a place kick but his effort went wild.

Athletics 'On Edge' for Cubs in World Series, Says Al Simmons

Galaxy of Hurling Stars Boost Hopess

Mackmen Are in Perfect Shape Physically and Mentally for All-Important Series.

By Al Simmons,
Athletics' Outfielder and Leading Run-Maker.

Philadelphia, October 4.—The Athletics are ready for the Cubs. So far as I can see a team fit in mind and body for the big test of the baseball year will represent the American league in the world series games against the National league champions.

What I believe I can say: Connie Mack, our manager, considers his full strength will be on the field of battle of Chicago Tuesday afternoon. The A's have coasted along three solid weeks and every fellow on the club is "on edge," as they say, for what will be a new experience for all of us who are expecting to start.

WELL-BALANCED CLUB.

I want to impress upon the fans right away that I think—and I know every one of my mates agrees with me—that the Athletics go into the world series with a well-balanced club. I can't see that we have an outstanding weakness in any department.

Take our infield, defensively. Foxx on first and Bishop on second may not be on top in the averages. But they are in there doing their work every minute. I don't care what any one may think about averages and what is called "color." What we ballplayers want to see is the first and second basemen who "come up with the hard chances in the clinches." Foxx and Bishop fill the bill for us.

I have read and heard stories about Joe Boley which made it appear that the A's would come off second best at shortstop. My only comment about rumors concerning this and that weakness in Boley's work is that I'll promise you that when the series is over they'll be talking and writing about our shortstop's defensive class, whether we win or lose.

Jimmy Dykes can play any position in the infield and play it well. But because of the power in his throwing arm and his fighting spirit, which makes him go the limit to "get his man," I rate Dykes stronger at the hot corner than any other position.

PRAISES MULE HAAS.

As I am one of the outfielders I shall be modest in talking about them. I can give it as my opinion, however, that George Haas will go as far in any diretcion to make a catch as any centerfielder in the game. Bing Miller is a star, too. He's steady and reliable.

Mickey Cochrane has no equal as an all-round catcher. No matter what anybody thinks or says about Mike, men who know baseball will back me

That is not bad advice, from a coaching standpoint at least. And after all it is tough on a green team to toss them into the thick of a row of hard games and have them cut to pieces in learning their football.

ART IN STADIA.

The new Alabama stadium that will be opened today is a thing of beauty. It is built on flat land and therefore gave an opportunity to designers to achieve an artistic exterior.

An unusually large expenditure has been devoted to equipment and construction of dressing rooms and showers for teams and the convenience of the public.

The plant will seat 15,000 and will be ample for Alabama's needs until the ideal is attained and all college games are played on a home and home basis. At present Alabama plays several big games a year in Birmingham and has no need for a larger plant.

Hudson Sought For Races Here

After more than 25 years, Scott Hudson, veteran Atlanta sportsman and president of the Atlanta Athletic club, is expected to return to the harness racing game during the three-day meet to be run on the Lakewood Park track during the annual fair here next week.

Should the veteran horseman decide to race again he will handle Walter Candler's fine string of racers. Mr. Candler will be out of the city the first of next week and is trying to arrange for Mr. Hudson to handle his racers.

It was in 1904 that he last had hold of the reins. During his connection with the harness game he was one of the best horsemen in the business and in 1901, 1902 and 1903 his stable of horses was the largest money winner on the Grand circuit. It was in 1902 that Mr. Hudson drove winners in an entire program, bringing four horses across first during a Grand circuit meet at Cleveland, Ohio, on the old Danville race track. He also drove the famous Audubon Boy and Blind Rythmic to world records.

Besides the Candler horses, there will be something like 100 or more other racers from the middle west, southeast and south, and there should be three days of fast stepping in the pacing and trotting line. Quite a few of the horses that are racing at Lexington this week over the Grand Circuit will be shipped to Lakewood Saturday night, and be in readiness for the three-day meet starting Monday.

Rich purses have been put up and it would not be surprising that some new Lakewood records will be established.

Young Miss Wins.

University, Miss., October 4.—(AP)—Driving their way twice down a sea of mud the Ole Miss freshmen rung up a 13-to-2 victory over the Mississippi Heights academy eleven today. Crump scored the first Mississippi touchdown and Burnett the second. The Mississippi Heights eleven scored a safety in the third quarter by blocking a punt behind the goal.

Light Work.

Washington, October 4.—(United News.)—Coach Lou Little put his Georgetown team through only a light workout today in preparation for tomorrow's game with Western Maryland. The passing attack was emphasized. Little hasn't uncorked his mysterious "scrambled egg" play as yet.

Howley Loses Job, Is Report

St. Louis, October 4.—(AP)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch today says that Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, is expected to announce Sunday that he will not renew the managerial contract of Dan Howley, and that Howley will announce he has severed connections permanently with the St. Louis American league club.

ROJAS-O'HARA PROMISE FIGHT

Hanlon's Next Card Brings Together Two Well-Known Men.

Eddie Hanlon, still seeking to show Atlantans that the fight game is a good one, brings Paul Rojas, the sensational young lightweight who made a fine impression in his last appearance here, back to the ring for a fight on Tuesday night at the auditorium ring.

Both men have fought here. Rojas appeared on the last card, stopping the cagey Red Herring in three rounds. O'Hara has beaten Willie Ptomey and Stiles Ataway with ease, in addition to his victories over better fighters.

Hanlon is well in the red on his promoting efforts here but keeps on, believing that he will build up a following. Hanlon has kept faith with the public in the past and will continue his programs.

Fears Tarheels.

College Park, Md., October 4.—(United News.)—North Carolina, coming so early in the season, is regarded by Coach Curly Byrd, of Maryland, as the team to beat this year. He believes much of the success of the team depends on the Terrapins winning tomorrow. The Tarheels are unique in having four separate backfields, all of which are equally efficient. Incidentally, the North Carolina eleven weighs nine pounds less than a ton.

PHILLY LIKES MACKS; CHICAGO BACKING CUBS

Both Teams Are 6 to 5 Favorites in Home Towns.

By Brian Bell,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, October 4.—(AP)—The Cubs are 6-to-5 favorites in Chicago and the Athletics are favored at the same odds in Philadelphia, so the world series should start all even. Analysis of the performances of the two championship outfits confirms the betting odds.

Statistics reveal better batting by the Cubs in the National league than the Athletics were able to muster in the American, but many close observers believe Connie Mack has an advantage over Joe McCarthy in battery strength.

Each team pins its hopes on a galaxy of stars. The Cubs have Hornsby, Wilson, Cuyler, Stephenson, Malone, Root and Bush, while the A's counter with Simmons, Foxx, Cochrane, Grove, Walberg, Earnshaw and Dykes. The McMillans, Englishes, Boleys and Bishops are to be heard from and one of them is just as likely to win the series as one of the "big shots."

CUB OUTFIELD.

Experts have declared the Cub outfield of Stephenson, Wilson and Cuyler a better combination than the A's outposts, Simmons, Haas and Miller, but Simmons is an outstanding player in any company, offensively or defensively. Simmons has been in a protracted hitting slump, but his teammates profess to be unworried and suggest that he will snap out of it when the series starts.

Although each team came into their championships under wraps, there has been indications of staleness in both camps, and some of the best pitchers have found it hard to go the route in recent games. The world's series, however, is another day.

BATS TO DECIDE.

In a short series, the art of fielding can be taken for granted. In a meeting of major league champions with the ever-present chance that a "goat" may bob up at any moment, the series probably will be decided by the heavy artillery and the counter-offensive offered by the pitchers.

Clark University Beats Benedict, 14-0

Columbia, S. C., October 4.—Clark University, of Atlanta, defeated Benedict, 14 to 0, here this afternoon. A feature of the game was a 46-yard run by Roberts, of the visitors. He and Dalton completed several passes to place the ball within scoring distance, after which Baker Dupree scored. Wadley also played well for the winners.

Newnan Victor.

Newnan, Ga., October 4.—The Newnan High school football team defeated the Griffin High team here this afternoon by the score of 19 to 6. Haynie for Newnan was the outstanding star of the game, making two of Newnan's touchdowns. Shiver, of Griffin, also played a splendid game.

TALK OF LUCK IN CUB VICTORY STIRS CUYLER

Chicago Had Hard Luck, Says Star—It Was Just the Best Club.

By Kiki Cuyler,

Chicago, October 4.—There seems an opinion among baseball fans throughout the country that the Cubs had quite a bit of luck in winning the National league pennant this year. Just why this is so is more than I can understand.

One needn't take a second look at the latest set of averages to dispel this belief. The averages show the Cubs in front in batting and in fielding, and they have three of their regular pitchers right up at the top in the league's pitching records.

BEST TEAM.

I wish to state right here that in my opinion the Cubs won because we had the best team in the league this year, and for no other reason. The more I think of it the more I wonder why we didn't win by a wider margin. I don't mean to say that in any bragging way. It's true, as shown by the figures of the year.

As a matter of fact the Cubs had just about the toughest luck of any team in the league, and still they won the pennant, and did it more easily than any National league team in years. Have the fans forgotten that for almost the entire first half of the season we didn't have a catching staff? And catching is just about the most important thing on a team. At least it's next to pitching.

We started and finished with Gabby Hartnett, our star catcher, nursing a sore arm. He never caught a game until we had clinched the pennant. For the first half of the year, or until we got Zack Taylor about July 8, we had to depend mostly upon a recruit catcher.

The Cubs didn't strike their real stride until Taylor got fixed on the job and gained the confidence of all the players. Then the pitchers began to go in true form, the fellows started to hit better and the defense of the team tightened up. In a short time we had taken a commanding lead, and we never were headed.

Alabama Facing Stern Test Against Heavy Ole Miss Team Today

2 BACKFIELD ACES MISSING FOR BIG TILT

Tuscaloosa, Ala., October 4. Alabama's Crimson Tide was collecting itself tonight, preparatory to rolling out on Denny field tomorrow to see if the sea-wall offered by the strong line of Ole Miss couldn't be battered down.

The Tidemen, reputed by many to be the standout of the conference this year, are facing a stern test. The huskies from the adjoining state are big and strong and play much better football than the Mississippi college team, which Alabama engulfed last Saturday.

Alabama supporters, of whom there are many here, it being homecoming and all that, feel that if Wade's team gets over this obstacle, the going will be infinitely better. The Suther man will be out with a broken leg, but it is certain that Ralph McRight will play.

However, there is a note of anxiety in the minds of the celebrants. Last year Alabama had a sad homecoming day, with the Tennessee Mountaineers licking the Tidemen.

Alabama has lost two regular backfield men. In addition to Suther, Campbell is definitely out of play at right half because of a leg fracture received last Saturday. Long is taking his place. McRight is as weak as a kitten, having been on a milk and cracker diet for five days following a sudden attack of appendicitis.

McRight will be in his place at the opening. It is likely that McRight will soon be replaced with one of the bigger Alabama reserve backs, due to the reported bigness of the Ole Miss backs. Ben Smith is likely to get the call.

Saturday's stadium dedication ceremonies will begin at 2 o'clock. The opening whistle will start the game at 2:30.

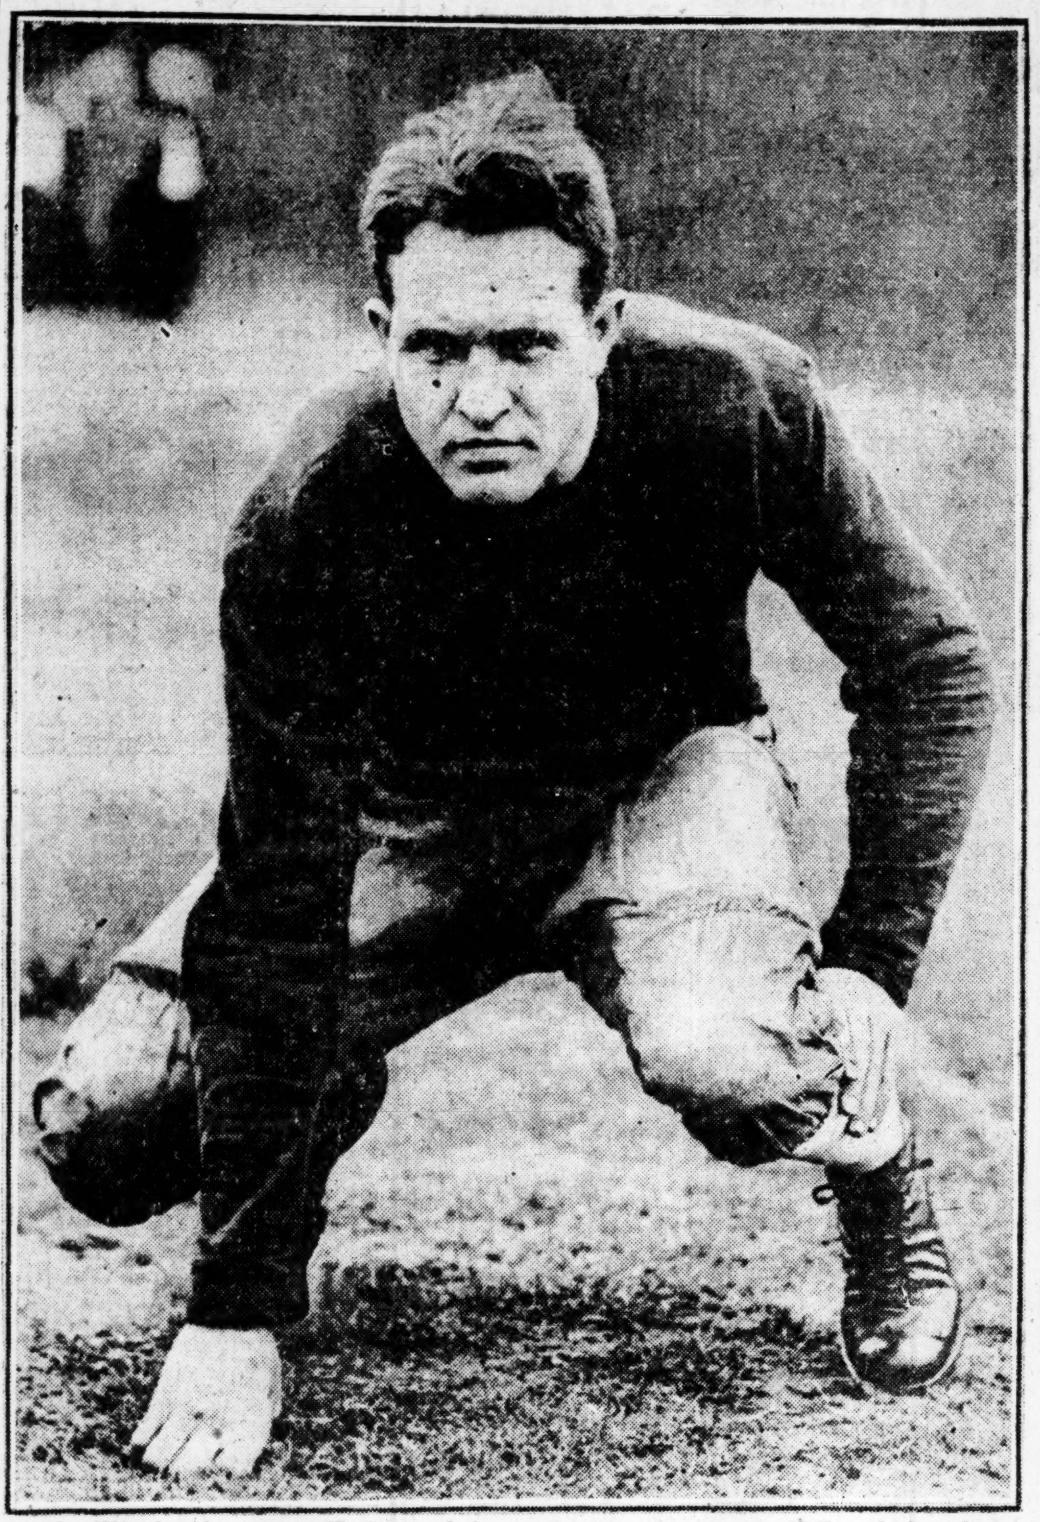
Petrel Freshmen Whip Ags, 14-0

Coach Homer Chestnut's Baby Petrels defeated Red Barron's Monroe Aggie eleven 14 to 0 Friday afternoon at Hermance field. A feature of the game was the line play of Kenzie, who blocked an attempted punt and ran 18 yards for a touchdown late in the third quarter.

The freshmen scored early in the third period on a series of well executed off-tackle bucks and end runs. Raines, who was substituted for Gladney, carried the pigskin across the final 4 yards for the score.

The work of Kenzie at left tackle for Oglethorpe was outstanding, while the entire Monroe eleven played good football. The visitors exhibited plenty of teamwork and played the Baby Petrels on even terms for three periods of the game.

Veteran Tech Guard Ready



Joe Westbrook, veteran Tech guard, is ready for the opening of the 1929 season this afternoon at Grant field. He will be in the line-up against the Mississippi Aggies in the first game for the Yellow Jacket eleven. Westbrook was one of the best guards in the Conference last season. He expects to make his coming year his best one.

Veterans Out.

Princeton, October 4.—(United News.)—Three veteran Princeton players are expected to play bench roles when Amherst College is met here tomorrow. Eddie Wittmer, Trix Bennett and Captain Jack Whyte have minor injuries and may not play. With these men out, Coach Roper is expected to start with only two of last year's regulars in the line-up.

High Point Routed.

Due West, S. C., October 4.—(AP)—The Erskine Seceders routed the High Point college Panthers here this afternoon, showing a marked superiority to the visitors in every department of the game. The score was 26 to 0.

GEORGIA SET FOR BATTLE WITH FURMAN

Athens, Ga., October 4.—(Special.)—A light workout this afternoon on the new stadium field completed the week's preparation for the second game of the season which will be played against Furman tomorrow.

Indications are that a backfield composed of three experienced men, Waugh, Davidson and Rothstein, and one sophomore, Austin Downs, will start tomorrow's game, while the starting line is expected to be composed of Captain Joe Boland, center; Leathers and Maddox, guards; Rose and Frisbie, tackles, with Vernon Smith at one and and either Maffett or Henry Palmer at the other. Maffett has been nursing an injured ankle but is expected to see service against Furman.

Georgia students and Athens supporters are anxious to see the Furman game, believing that it will be the real test for the Bulldogs. The Georgia eleven, composed mostly of sophomores, will be more experienced by this Saturday than a week ago and will have more smoothness and confidence.

Furman reached Athens this afternoon in time to take a brief workout on Sandford field before dark, appearing on the field about 5 o'clock dressed in purple uniforms and numbered with those crazy Roman numerals. The players went through a light signal drill and practiced throwing and catching passes.

Pitt Works Out At Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 4.—Garbed in gay gold and blue uniforms, designed especially for the stadium dedication game with Duke at Durham tomorrow, Coach Jock Sutherland's powerful University of Pittsburgh eleven topped off preparations for the Blue Devils with a signal drill in Kenan stadium at the University of North Carolina this afternoon.

Coach Sutherland desired a secret practice and the stadium was cleared of spectators, who had gathered to watch the Tarheel and Roanoke college freshmen clash, while the Golden Panthers worked out.

'GATORS MEET STRONG FOE IN V. M. I. TODAY

Tampa, Fla., October 4.—(AP)—Football legions from the Southern conference camps of Florida and Virginia Military institute camped here tonight ready for the whistle that tomorrow will send them into a game which, barring a tie, will mean elimination from the title race for one of them. Indications are that 10,000 will see the game.

The fast and experienced Gator eleven, outweighing the Cadets by almost 12 pounds to the man, rules as favorite to win, but the speed and traditional battling spirit of V. M. I. is not being discounted. Coach Bill Raftery's Cadets showed power and promise in downing Hampden-Sidney, 19-0, and Richmond, 40-0, in their first two games this season. The Gators were mighty in running roughshod over Southern college last Saturday, 54 to 0, in their opening encounter.

Boys' High Overwhelms Decatur Team in Opener, 51 to 6

LUKE MIZEL SCORES 3 TIMES FOR WINNERS

By Roy White.

Scoring in every quarter and holding Decatur well in check, Boys' High, playing its first game, defeated the DeKalb county eleven, 51 to 6, Friday afternoon at Spiller's.

The visitors scored first in the early part of the game following a series of Boys' High penalties and several neat gains through the Hurricane line. S. Flynt, Decatur quarterback and easily the outstanding player in the game, scored the Decatur touchdown.

Boys' High quickly tied the count and then began to pile up points almost at will. Two touchdowns were scored in the second quarter, three in the third and two in the fourth. Coach Doyal used practically every player in uniform.

ARGUMENT.

At the opening of the game Coach Pittman called his Decatur team from the field and offered to forfeit the game to Boys' High. It developed that an agreement had been reached between the two schools that Bothwell, a former Decatur High player, was not to be used in the game against Decatur. When Referee Joyce blew his whistle Bothwell was in the Hurricane backfield and the Decatur team left the field. Boys' High officials then decided not to use Bothwell and Decatur then came on the field.

Boys' High was penalized 60 yards for roughing, while Decatur received only three penalties for offsides and extra times out. Cruce, of Decatur, and Couch, of Boys' High, substituted for Vansant, were ordered from the game because of roughness.

Boys' High outweighed Decatur several pounds per man and was easily the victor, but Decatur fought a game battle.

FIRST SCORE.

The plucky little DeKalb county lads scored first. They received the ball on their own 25-yard line. A pass, Johnson to Flynt, netted 23 yards and a first down. Decatur fumbled and Boys' High recovered on its own 13-yard line after Decatur had made several neat gains.

Boys' High punted to midfield. Decatur punted back to the Hurricane 20-yard line. Boys' High was penalized 15 yards and then punted to the 23-yard line. Boys' High received another 15-yard penalty, placing the ball on its own 1-yard line, where Flynt bucked it over for a touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

Boys' High, after an exchange of punts, rushed the ball to the center of the field and Chick Donehoo broke through for 44 yards and touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

Davis intercepted a Decatur pass on the 15-yard line and after several short gains McCalley bucked it over for a 6-point lead. He also made the extra point. Another was made before the half ended, when Mizell, brother of the illustrious Warner Mizell, of Tech, criss-crossed for 8 yards and a score.

In the third quarter Captain Elliott and Davis accounted for a Boys' High touchdown with long runs. Elliott scored another on a 26-yard off-tackle buck, and Davis added another with a 25-yard run late in the quarter.

Mizell kept up his good work and scored two more touchdowns in the last quarter, when a substitute team was in the game.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Today's Main Round-Up.

STANFORD-OREGON—At Palo Alto. Probably the hardest game on the day's card. Pop looks to have as good a team as he had last fall, possibly better, with more experience. Jack McEwan's Oregon team came like the wind at the finish last season, and he has most of this team back. This game will have a big bearing on the Pacific Coast championship, and it happens to come the first week in October. It will be a clash of two veteran teams, well supplied with high-grade material. Stanford should win.

NOTRE DAME-INDIANA—At Bloomington. Notre Dame starts the first of its hard, forced marches against Indiana this afternoon. Indiana was no puffball last season, and there is enough material back to keep Rockne's team hustling. Notre Dame looks to be much better supplied with first and second string material than the South Bend army corps could show last year. Notre Dame has the call, with something to spare.

WISCONSIN-COLGATE—At Madison. Another hard early game. Colgate has good man power, and Andy Kerr hopes to have the Warner system working well enough to annoy the Conference entry. But Wisconsin is strong again, strong enough to win on form, but the scrap should be keen, without any lopsided aspects.

California Stronger.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA-OREGON STATE—At Los Angeles. Another high-class battle. Southern California is now coupled with Stanford as one of the leading challengers for Pacific Coast supremacy. Oregon State is the team that galloped over N. Y. U. last fall. Both teams are strong, but Southern California should be stronger, with enough power to hammer out a victory.

CALIFORNIA-ST. MARY'S—At Berkeley. The West Coast puts on more real action than any other section today, and no small part of this action will be seen in the California-St. Mary party. Skip Madigan is always a hard man to beat, and his St. Mary's teams hold a high average in the football swirl. California is good again, if not great, and this game should give a line on what Pennsylvania is to expect two weeks away. California should have an edge this afternoon, but no wide margin.

NEBRASKA-S. M. U.—At Lincoln. Ray Morrison, the S. M. U. coach, whose team came near upsetting the Army last fall, has lost too many stars to carry S. M. U. as far to the front as the Dallas team has carved its way for several years. Morrison figures it will take two or three games to get his green well enough seasoned to make any showing. So unless there is a surprise wrapped up, Nebraska should win.

A Line for Tech.

MARYLAND-NORTH CAROLINA—At College Park. One of the best games booked for the south. Maryland and North Carolina have both lost good men, but both have something left. North Carolina plays Georgia Tech next Friday, and Maryland tackles Yale later on. This game will show what two of the leaders have to expect.

IN THE EAST—There are few eastern battles of any great importance. Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Army, Navy, Brown, Dartmouth and others will be under no stiff pressure. Pittsburgh has a harder game when it moves south to dedicate the new stadium at Duke. Pennsylvania usually has at least a fair share of trouble with Swarthmore. N. Y. U. and Fordham should slip through easily and stand set for their clash next week when Frank Cavanaugh and Chick Meehan exchange volleys once more in one of the best of the early season games. But there is little chance for any real upset, so far as the stronger teams are concerned.

WEST AND SOUTH—Outside of the contests already mentioned, there are few outstanding games on the bill. Texas and Centenary should come closer to hard competition, as both have been strong for several seasons. Few of the Conference teams, outside of Indiana, have any tough grind to face, although Kansas is good enough to keep Illinois on the jump. Michigan should prove its strength against Michigan State, and Minnesita is certain to gallop through. Purdue will have her troubles with the Kansas Aggies, another strong Missouri Valley line-up.

Action will come much swifter and harder a week away. By that date the schedule in general will be loaded up with high spots, one of the features bringing the Navy and Notre Dame together in one of the feature contests of the year. Few of today's contests will give any accurate line on the leaders, but within another week the clearing-up process should be under full swing. By that date more than one strong contender will be on the short side, blinking amid the beaten.

Mercer Bears Defeated, 6-0

Clinton, S. C., October 4.—(AP)—Presbyterian College scored an upset triumph over the Mercer Bears today in a nip-and-tuck football game which was decided by a sensational 67-yard run by Oren Dunlap, Blue Stocking fullback. The score was 6 to 0.

Dunlap's run came early in the second quarter. On an off tackle play he squirmed through the line of scrimmage and darted down the field, evading all tacklers and placing the ball across the goal line.

The Presbyterians appeared to have a stronger offense than the Macon team, which got within Presbyterian's 10-yard line only once. A pass beyond the uprights was dropped, spoiling the only opportunity the visitors had for a score.

Most of the way Presbyterian had Mercer on the defensive. The Blue Stockings made several steady marches down the field with the backfield functioning smoothly behind a charging line.

Galloway and Dunlap led the Presbyterian offensive with Jimmy Green steering the team from the quarterback position. Corbin, the Mercer quarterback, showed up best for the Bears, proving an able field general as well as efficient ball carrier.

Presbyterian had been doped to lose because of Mercer's fine showing against the Duke Blue Devils last Saturday.

Vols End Work For Moccasins

Knoxville, Tenn., October 4.—(AP)—A light workout wound up the University of Tennessee football squad's preparations for tomorrow's game with the University of Chattanooga at Chattanooga. Coach Neyland sent his revamped backfield through its paces in shadow plays and against a dummy line. Becuse of injuries to Ty Disney, fullback, the starting line-up of ball-carriers probably will be Dodd, quarter; Hackman and McEver, halves, and Heydrick, full.

A Chattanooga boy probably will see considerable play in the line. He is "Skeet" Mayer, center, who is expected to substitute part of the time for Jim Finney. Mayer has been practicing at guard, but was shifted to his old position when Roberts, alternate center, received injuries sufficient to bar him from heavy work for awhile.

BULLDOGS FACE TEST

of consequence. Dad Amis was quite reticent about the lineup. He declares that all his men are eligible to play under the conference rules. Furman, while not a member of the conference, abides by its rules in the intra-conference games.

Amis is hopeful of taking the Georgians this afternoon. His attack has always been a versatile one and he hopes to take advantage of the inexperience of the Bulldog players to upset them with a varied open attack.

Georgia has been drilled against passes. But no young team was ever very good against an air game such as Furman has always had. All those things have created the grim atmosphere here at Athens. They feel that Georgia must win.

And no one knows whether the Bulldogs will win or not. Consequently the grimness in the atmosphere. The Bulldogs feel that their future hinges on this game. It doesn't, of course, but they feel that way about it.

It's just that sort of a game. And with Furman grim also there is no telling what will happen. This reporter believes there will be revelry tomorrow night at Athens. Georgia should be about ready to go. It's now or November.

Cedartown Wins.

Cedartown, Ga., October 4.—Cedartown won the opening game of the season here today by defeating Calhoun High, 12 to 0. The two teams were evenly matched and both of Cedartown's touchdowns were made in the last quarter. Paris, Cedartown tackle, blocked a punt for a touchdown and Simpson intercepted a pass and ran for the other touchdown.

Navy Repeats.

Annapolis, Md., October 4.—(United News.)—Navy will present virtually the same line-up as started last week's Denison game in tomorrow's contest with William and Mary. The William and Mary team held a workout after their arrival today.

MAJOR ELEVENS GET IN ACTION THIS AFTERNOON

Tech, Notre Dame, Big Three Play in Important Games.

By Alan Gould,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, October 4.—While a number of the main contenders wing into action for the first time tomorrow, including Notre Dame, Georgia Tech and the one-time Big Three of the east, other front-ranking elevens in the south and west will meet in frays that have a distinct bearing on conference championship races.

For the first time this autumn, with the favorite college sport gathering headway to buck the world series rivalry of the next two weeks, all of the country's major football outfits will be on exhibition, with just one or two scattered exceptions, such as the University of Missouri.

The far western sector has the prospect of the greatest thrills, with Stanford entertaining J. J. McEwan's University of Oregon team at Palo Alto, and Southern California meeting Oregon State at Los Angeles in two games that should show how rival title hopes shape up.

HARD ONE.

The University of California, while it does not meet a conference test, nevertheless is likely to be extended to the limit to repel St. Mary's where "Slip" Madigan, the old Notre Dame star, has developed another fine eleven to harrass the bigger fellows on the coast.

Notre Dame, opening against Indiana, will be closely watched, for Rockne's 1929 model has been widely heralded as the best that has come out of South Bend since the famous four horsemen. National interest, similarly will focus on the debut of Nebraska's big six championship team under their new head coach, Dana Bible, against the strong Southern Methodist Mustangs at Lincoln; also upon the getaway of Georgia Tech against Mississippi Aggies with Bill Alexander's rebuilt successor to the team that had the best claim of all last year to a national title.

Six southern conference tilts altogether are scheduled in Dixie, besides the featured engagement in which Duke, richest and newest conference member, plays host to the powerful Pittsburgh Panthers, as strong an array as the east has this season. It will be a surprise if the Duke eleven escapes a manhandling from the Pitt machine. Meanwhile Florida and Alabama, two other highly regarded southern teams, meet more severe tests than they did a week ago.

EASY DAY.

The eastern triumvirate of Harvard, Yale and Princeton, although they no longer all hang together, share easy opening day assignments. Harvard can experiment with its laterals against Bates, Yale can look only for a good workout against Vermont, while Princeton alone may find some difficulty against old Amherst, not because the latter appears dangerous but because the Tigers have developed rather slowly.

New York University's tussle with West Virginia Wesleyan may determine whether or not the Violet has another high scoring juggernaut, such as was forecast by last week's overwhelming victory over Vermont.

Russo Enters Lakewood Races

Joe Russo, sensational Indianapolis Italian, who grew up within a stone's throw of the big speedway at the Hoosier capital and jumped from speedway activity to dirt track competition this year, has entered the Southeastern Fair races here next week.

Russo is one of the most interesting figures in auto racing in that he is one of the best automotive engineers in the country and still is one of the greatest of the present crop of youthful racing stars.

Before Frank Lockhart careened to his death on Daytona Beach, Joe Russo was the dashing Californian's mechanic. There he went to the Merz Engineering Company at Indianapolis as consulting engineer, after which Earl Copper grabbed off the genial boy from Italy to take charge of the motors of this three front-wheel drive cars at Indianapolis.

"Joe" is no stranger in Atlanta. He raced here at the fair last year and was a popular favorite. However, Fred Horey, now retired, was in his heyday then and Joe was pushed somewhat to the background.

Fred is now out of auto racing and lives at Tampa. Horey sold his race car to Oscar Anderson and the "Swede" will have it here for the races next week, although he has rebuilt the machine so no one could notice it was Horey's victory winner.

TECH OPENS WITH AGGIES

substitute for Warner Mizell, has been converted into the varsity quarterback, the lad who matches pants' seats with the center.

And Harrell Rusk, captain of the team, as gallant lightweight center as ever served his time as understudy to a heavier chap, will make his debut in the center of the ring when officials and the rival captain gather.

AGGIES IN SHAPE.

The Aggies have a light fast eleven built around the triple-threat capabilities of Pappenheimer, one of the best backs in the south. They were taken by surprise and defeated last week by Henderson-Brown college with Pappenheimer out of the game. This reverse does not seem to have discouraged them a bit; they have pointed for Tech and intend to make a fight of it.

Valdosta, October 4.—In the first football game of the season the Valdosta Wildcats this afternoon trounced the Quitman team, 21 to 0.

Georgia Students Hold Pep Meet

Athens, Ga., October 4. — Six hundred Georgia students disrupted traffic in Athens tonight when they marched through the streets of this city, led by the University of Georgia band. The column of students, arranged in fours, stretched for two and a half blocks.

The parade came as the culmination of a pep meeting held on the eve of the game with Furman. During the meeting Head Coaches Harry Mehre and Frank Thomas, together with Captain Joe Boland, addressed the gathering, which filled the university chapel to overflowing.

Madison Upsets Cadet Eleven, 15-6

Madison Aggies defeated Georgia Military Academy 15 to 6 Friday afternoon at College Park. G. M. A. held the strong Tech High eleven to a 7 to 0 win last Saturday afternoon and was ruled a heavy favorite to defeat the Aggies.

G. M. A. lacked the power and drive that was present in the Tech High game, while Madison flashed a fine offensive. The visitors' off tackle bucks worked perfectly, especially in the first quarter and in the third quarter.

Bullpups Beat Athens, 26 to 0

Athens, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) The University of Georgia freshman football team opened its 1929 season this afternoon with a 26-0 victory over the strong Athens High school team. All the touchdowns were made in the last half, the playing being fairly even the first two periods.

Hitting their stride shortly after the second half opened the rat eleven stormed down the field to the high school five-yard line, where they were held for downs by the heavy line of the local high school. Collins, all-state center from Florida, blocked a high school punt and the freshman right end fell on the ball back of the high school goal line for the first touchdown of the game.

The next score came when a freshman end received a pass from Keyes and ran 30 yards for the second touchdown. The try for extra point was good and the score stood 13-0. Athens High received, but the ball went over to the Bullpups after the high gridsters failed to make a first down. Keyes, "rat" back, then took the ball on a brilliant right tackle play for third touchdown of the game. Harden was successful in a try for the extra point.

Athens High again lost the ball on downs after receiving a kick which penetrated deep into their territory. A pass from Keyes to Eberhardt netted 20 yards and the final score of the game, which ended two minutes after the Bullpup eleven made their fourth and last touchdown of the game.

Morris Brown Meets Infantry

Morris Brown university, with a squad of 50 players, will officially open the 1929 colored football season in Atlanta with the strong Twenty-fourth Infantry team of Fort Benning on the Morris Brown athletic field today at 2:30 o'clock.

With 11 veterans from last year's squad and plenty of experienced material in reserve, Morris Brown bids fair to go places and do things in the coming race.

The army eleven arrived Friday afternoon with a squad of 30 men, coach and army physician. The Benning line will average around 180 pounds per man. In the line will be found Collins and J. Johnson at ends. Both are veterans of three years and towers of strength. At tackle the army has Allen and Dawson, big huskies who will tip the scales around the 200-pound mark. Myers and Adams hold down the guard positions. Johnson at center gives the Fort Benning aggregation a world of experience at that position.

COLLETT AGAIN RALLIES; GAINS WOMEN'S FINAL

By Paul R. Mickelson,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Oakland Hills Country Club, Birmingham, Mich., October 4 (AP)—A par cracking rival and the jinx that pursued virtually all of America's golf monarchs this year failed to halt Glenna Collett's march toward her fourth national women's championship on the billowly expanse of Oakland Hills today.

Doggedly refusing to join the ranks of the defeated champions, Miss Collett came back with a great burst of golf today in the last seven holes to overcome a 2-down disadvantage and ultimately conquer her opponent, Mrs. O. H. Hill, of Kansas City, 3 and 2.

Her triumphs sent her to the 36-hole finals tomorrow when she will face a fighter from her own state of California, Mrs. Leona Pressler, of Los Angeles. Mrs. Pressler, twice holder of the western championship, hurdled into the final skirmish by eliminating Bernice Wall, of Oshkosk, Wis., by the identical margin of 3 and 2.

TOUGH FOE.

Mrs. Pressler is one of the most sterling match players in the royal and ancient game, but is granted only an outside chance to stop the champion in such a long stretch tomorrow. Miss Collett, like Bobby Jones, often falls in short matches, but rarely is conquered over 36 holes. In the near decade Miss Collett has been competing in the national championship, she has never been defeated.

As in her dramatic match against Mrs. Harley Higbee, of Detroit, in yesterday's quarter finals, which she won with a birdie on the 19th hole, Miss Collett failed to win a single hole on the outward nine against Mrs. Hill. The Kansas City veteran circled the stretch with a brilliant 37, four strokes under par, gained the third and ninth holes and halved the rest for a 2-up lead. Glenna, who shot one under perfect figures for the round, refused to wilt, however, and come back with a rush that was irresistible.

FIRST WIN.

She won her first hole of the struggle on the 424-yard tenth with a birdie four, while Mrs. Hill, visibly nervous, miscalculated an approach, muffed a holeable putt and took a five. A 25-foot, downhill putt by Mrs. Hill staved off another attack by the champion on the 335-yard eleventh, with Miss Collett four feet from the cup with her third shot, Mrs. Hill sank the putt for a half at par four.

But Glenna was not to be denied. She squared the tussle on the long twelfth with a birdie four and then went one up for the first time on the short thirteenth with a par three, while Mrs. Hill was lost in a yawning trap and had to take a four. A perfect stymie by the champion robbed Mrs .Hill of the fourteenth hole. She was on the carpet, 15 feet from the cup, with her third, while Glenna, who derricked her tee shot to a bad trap and dubbed her out, was on in four. Mrs. Hill slapped her first putt to within six feet of the pin for what looked like a certain win, only to have the champion block her with the stymie and force her to halve it with a par six. Two straight birdie fours, coming on the fifteenth and sixteenth holes by the champion, ended the duel.

Heavy Bowdon Team Defeats Rome, 6-0

Rome, Ga., October 4.—Bowdon college's heavy eleven barely won over the light but fast Rome High school team here today by a 6-to-0 score.

The lone touchdown came in the early part of the first quarter when James Garrett ran back a punt for 40 yards. The remainder of the game was a nip-and-tuck affair with Rome outfighting the college team. Garrett, Wood and Johnson were the stellar lights for Bowdon, while Barton and Bowman were the stars for Rome.

Florida School Wins by 106-0

The local team scored 16 touchdowns and made 10 points after touchdown.

Huffy Captures Laurel Opener

New York, October 4.—(AP)—With W. J. Salmon furnishing the winner of the Chevy Chase steeplechase in his five-year-old Huffy, picturesque Laurel flung open its gates today for a 23-day meeting.

The Chevy Chase called for a journey over the two-mile course with five starters. At the end of the route, which was worth $5,050 to the winner, Huffy was two lengths in front of the Stanford Stud Farm's imported fencer. Red Rocket 2d, with the Eastland Farms' Eider third and J. W. Widener's Lizard fourth. Crumpler failed to finish. Huffy paid $6.30 to win.

In a program made up largely of claiming races, Ike Perestein's Icarus, ridden by Frank Coltiletti, scored a head victory in the feature five and one-half-furlong sprint at Jamaica. Sunny Star took the place by three lengths from Louisiana. Icarus was an 8-to-5 favorite.

The feature—the Leneta Lane purse—however, went to the favorite, with Mrs. R. Pollard's five-year-old bay gelding, Gold Mint, carrying off the honors. Kulman, from the Nevada Stock farm, was second over the six-furlong route with Water Lad third.

At Churchill Downs T. P. Hayes' two-year-old filly, Elstar, handed the form players a real jolt when she won the second race and paid $97.20 to win, $26.94 to place and $17.60 to show. Trailing her in second place was Chattering, the hot favorite.

Fairmont at Collinsville, Ill., joined the list of new tracks opening and featured the autumn handicap—a spring of six furlongs for all ages. J. G. Demarest furnished the winner in his seven-year-old gelding, Extreme. Fortunate Girl was second and Lawley third.

Cracker Jack Webb To Meet K. O. Dugan

Waycross, Ga., October 4.—Cracker Jack Webb, Waycross heavyweight, who was expecting to meet Tony Fuente, the Mexican whirlwind, at Macon next Wednesday night, has been informed that his opponent has been changed and he will fight K. O. (Billy) Dugan.

And the announcement brings no hopes of a setup to Webb. Dugan displayed his caliber when he handed a neat licking to Ad Warren in Charlotte recently.

Webb has recovered from an injured hand that has crippled his style for several weeks, and is doing everything that a trainer can think to assign him, the training menu being doped out by his manager, Pat Boynton.

Boynton will carry Webb to Macon probably on Monday, in time for one workout in the central Georgia city before the fight on Wednesday of next week.

HOWARD JONES FAVORS CARDS TO TRIP OREGON

By Howard Jones,
Football Coach University of Southern California.

Los Angeles, October 4.—The crucial game on the Pacific coast is that which features Stanford against Oregon at Palo Alto. Southern California's contest with Oregon State is the only other game on the coast conference schedule, the rest of the teams playing non-conference opponents.

Stanford cleared one though hurdle last week in defeating the powerful Olympic club of San Francisco. On the basis of their showing in this game, and taking into account the fact that Oregon has never defeated Stanford, I pick Pop Warner's team to win today by at least two touchdowns and perhaps three.

Oregon, they say, has a powerful team. This may be, but I believe Stanford has just as much power and will prove the more polished and finished eleven.

If Oregon should pull a surprise and win, Coach McEwan's team will be on its way to a coast conference championship, or at least a tie for it, because neither California nor Southern California is on the Eugene team's schedule.

Washington would then be the only really tough obstacle in Oregon's path, and from all indications the Huskies are going to cause a lot more trouble than most people imagined.

Regarding our game with Oregon State, Coach Schissler has always been able to develop a big, powerful line, and if he can successfully replace Howard Maple at quarter much of his worry will disappear. Most of the experts seem to think Southern California will win, but I look upon the game as one where anything may happen.

Two years ago Oregon State gave Southern California a bad scare, leading for a long time and finally winding up on the short end of a 13-12 score. I certainly hope tomorrow's game is a little less nerve-wracking.

California plays St. Mary's college of Oakland in what may be one of the toughest games of the day. Nibs Price's team will ultimately be one of the strongest on the coast, but with new men in several positions it may take the Golden Bears a couple of weeks to get running smoothly.

St. Mary's makes a habit of pointing for California, and it may be that Slip Madigan's team will be keyed up higher than the Golden Bears, in which case California may be defeated.

There is keen local rivalry between the teams, and the game is bound to be hard fought. St. Mary's has a fine halfback in Stennett, who will bear watching, not only against California but in games to follow.

Here's the Opportunity and It Won't Cost You a Single Penny or Obligate You in Any Way.

SPEND A FEW HOURS OF YOUR SPARE TIME IN THIS ENJOYABLE CONTEST AND YOU MAY BE THE WINNER!

Any man, woman, boy or girl, resident of Georgia or adjoining states, who is not an employe of The Atlanta Constitution, or a member of an employe's family, may submit an answer.

The whole family may co-operate in this competition, but only one prize will be awarded a member of a family, or any one of a group outside of the family where two or more have been working together for a prize in any one prize group; but one person may win one prize in each of the three prize groups and also have a chance of winning the $1,500.00 automobile for promptness. This contest is conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

FIND THE TWINS

At first glance all the young ladies look alike; but you are asked to find the Twins that are clothed exactly alike. Now then: upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the difference and find the two real Twins, because two and only two are identically the same.

Somebody who finds the twins is going to win a big cash prize of $2,500.00, $1,000,00 or $500.00 --- or better still, $4,000.00 cash and a $1,500.00 Buick automobile for promptness---a total of $5,500.00---and that someone may be and can be you, if you only try!

When you have found the twins, write the numbers in the coupon at right, fill in your name and complete address and mail at once to the Puzzle Manager, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. In the event of ties in the final awarding, prizes of equal value will be given.

Think of it—you can win as much as $4,000.00 cash and a $1,500.00 Buick four-door sedan! Yes, sir! $7,540.00 in cash prizes may be won in this interesting puzzle contest plus the $1,500.00 Buick Sedan, and these prizes will be awarded after the close of the contest, November 12th, 1929.

BIG MARKETING GROUP WILL BEGIN WORK SOON

$20,000,000 Corporation Will Aid Wheat Growers This Year.

Chicago, October 4.—(AP)—The Farmers' National Grain Marketing Corporation may be in a position to handle some of this year's grain crop, said a joint statement issued today by the federal farm board and the co-operative organization's subcommittee of three.

The corporation will be a twenty-million-dollar concern. It has been especially designed to receive loans for marketing aid from the federal farm board. Owners of the organization will be the already existing co-operative associations.

The subcommittee finished the drafting of the articles of incorporation today after the policies were approved by the farm board yesterday. The articles were to be sent to George Farrand, legal counsel for the farm board, and the committee will meet with him in Washington October 10. Immediate incorporation in Delaware is scheduled to follow.

The statement issued today said steps will be taken to establish headquarters in Chicago and offices in other important grain centers in the United States. Also, the corporation eventually will establish branch offices at advantageous points in foreign countries.

Thirty-six representatives of co-operative wool and mohair associations and owners of grower-owned wool warehouses met with members of the board to evolve a national marketing plan by which they can receive aid under the provisions of the agricultural marketing act.

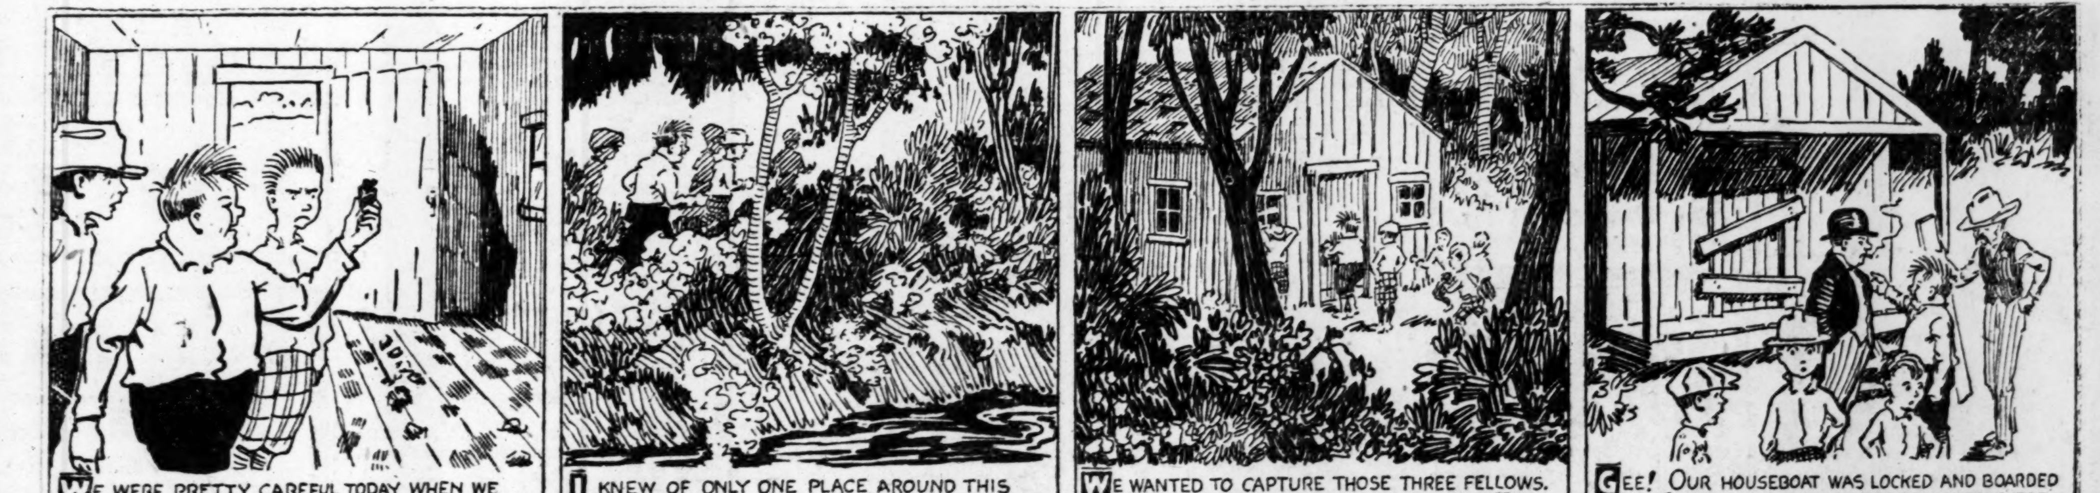
OUR CLUB—By Seckatary Hawkins



WE WERE PRETTY CAREFUL TODAY WHEN WE WENT INTO THE CLUBHOUSE. THERE WASN'T ANY SNAKES BUT A LOT OF MUD WAS TRACKED OVER THE FLOOR. I PICKED UP A PIECE OF IT. IT WAS A RED STICKY CLAY.
I KNEW OF ONLY ONE PLACE AROUND THIS OLD RIVER BANK WHERE THE RED CLAY COULD BE FOUND. I GOT THE FELLOWS TOGETHER. WE STARTED UP THE RIVER TO THE HOLLOW WHERE THE RED CLAY WAS.
WE WANTED TO CAPTURE THOSE THREE FELLOWS. WE FOUND THE PLACE WHERE THEY STAY. THEY HAVE BUILT A SHACK IN THE HOLLOW. THE SHACK WAS SHOWED UP. WE RETURNED TO OUR PLACE.
GEE! OUR HOUSEBOAT WAS LOCKED AND BOARDED UP. THE SHERIFF AND DOC WATERS WERE THERE. DOC TOLD US THAT JUDGE GRANBERY ORDERED OUR HOUSEBOAT TORN DOWN. BEFORE WE LEFT THE JUDGE WANTED TO SEE ME.
G'BYE TILL MONDAY.

LOUISIANA LEADER DIES AT HIS HOME IN CITY HE FOUNDED

Crowley, La., October 4.—(AP)—William W. Duson, publisher of the Crowley Signal and founder of the city of Crowley in 1886, died at his home here last night after a long illness.

Mr. Duson had never fully recovered from a major operation three years ago and his illness recently became critical. Funeral services were held today.

MRS. GEORGE BELL FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. George K. Bell, who died Thursday at the residence of her son, Ernest C. Bell, prominent Atlanta attorney, at 735 Piedmont avenue, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon, with the Rev. James Harvey and the Rev. W. L. Duren officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

JOHN M. DEKLE, VETERAN, PASSES AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—John M. Dekle, 85, Confederate veteran and former mayor and councilman of Thomasville, died here today after a long illness. He served during the War Between the States with Johnson's army.

Mr. Dekle held the office of brigade commander and several others under various commands of the Georgia division of the United Confederate Veterans.

The body will lie in state at the Baptist church here tomorrow with funeral services at 4 p. m.

STATE OFFERS REWARD FOR J. AUBREY SMITH

Governor Hardman Announces $200 Will Be Paid for Convict's Capture.

Governor L. G. Hardman has offered a reward of $200 for the arrest of J. Aubrey Smith, notorious Georgia prison escape, it was announced at his office Friday.

AUBREY SMITH.

Smith escaped from the Milledgeville prison farm last July 25, sawing his way to freedom with blades which had been smuggled in to him. He was armed with a pistol which also had been smuggled into the prison.

It was the second escape from the Milledgeville farm which he had effected since he was sent there December 8, 1928. His first occurred on December 20, less than two weeks after he was received in prison.

He was not recaptured until May of this year. His second escape came three months later.

Smith has facing him sentences totaling 170 years. He was convicted of the larceny of an automobile in Fulton county and given five years. In Bibb county he received six sentences for robbery, of 20 years each, one of 20 years for burglary, and five of five years each for the larceny of an automobile.

Smith is 27 years of age, five feet six inches high, and weighs 129 pounds. He is of medium dark complexion and has brown hair and brown eyes.

MRS. GUY B. DODD, FORMER ATLANTAN, DIES NEAR GRIFFIN

Griffin, Ga., October 4.—(Special.) Mrs. Guy Butler Dodd, formerly of Atlanta, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wallace, in Williamson, this morning. Mrs. Dodd resided in Atlanta until her health failed recently and she was carried to the home of her parents. She is survived by her parents and her husband.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the Williamson Baptist church with the Rev. Wilson Walker officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery, Atlanta.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. PURSLEY SET FOR SUNDAY

Mrs. Martha C. Pursley, 68, 339 Sinclair avenue, died early Friday at a local hospital. Surviving her are five daughters, Mrs. H. L. Vandigriff, Mrs. N. W. Nixon, Mrs. H. B. Earnest and Mrs. J. F. Fuller, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. L. H. Hughes, of Memphis, Tenn.; a son, J. M. Pursley, of Roswell, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Sels, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock Sunday morning from the residence, with the Rev. W. M. Burdette officiating. Burial will be in Peachtree churchyard.

SENATE URGED TO ACT IN TEXTILE MILL RIOTS

Washington, October 4.—(AP)—A demand that the senate proceed immediately with an investigation in the textile situation especially in view of the unsettled conditions at Marion, N. C., was made in the senate today by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana.

After reading from newspaper accounts, Wheeler, author of a pending resolution to authorize the inquiry, said conditions in North Carolina were growing from bad to worse, with charges of treason and murder being filed and sheriffs being killed. Under the circumstances, he said, he did not believe the senate should "let this situation go on any longer."

Overman Objects.

Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, objected to immediate consideration of the inquiry resolution and denied the truth of Wheeler's statements.

Overman said there were only two places in his state where trouble has arisen. He deplored the situation at Marion, but said the governor and the state guards were there and the grand jury was in session, and that most workers were still at work and satisfied.

"Let North Carolina settle her own trouble now and at the proper time we can look into the situation," he said, adding that he would favor an investigation by the trade commission but not at this time.

Agreeing that some of the newspaper accounts of the trouble might have been exaggerated, Wheler said the matter should be investigated nevertheless to determine whether "these charges of rebellion exist."

Heflin Speaks.

Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, said conditions in his state, as far as he knew, were good and denied a statement by Wheeler that children under 16 were working in southern textile mills.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, attributed the Marion situation to a dispute between union and nonunion men rather than to one between employer and employe.

He insisted the wage scale for cotton mill laborers in the south was "about the same as in New England when you take into account some of the better conditions enjoyed by the southern laborers."

Senator Wheeler declared that "every time in history the working man has attempted to improve himself he has been denounced just as he has been denounced here today."

"You misrepresent me," broke in Overman, "I am not denouncing the working men nor the American Federation of Labor. I am denouncing these communists, bolshevists and murderers who have been coming into our state. They are sowing the seeds of revolution, of atheism and free loveism."

YOUNG CONVICT SLAIN BY GUARD ON PRISON WALL

Dannemora, N. Y., October 4.—(AP) A 21-year-old convict was killed in a battle with a guard on top the wall of Clinton prison yesterday in a desperate attempt to escape.

Nick Mastro serving a total of 22 years for robbery and assault, was killed by sub-machine-gun fire after he had climbed the wall and attacked Jeremiah Callahan, a guard stationed on top.

Another guard saw the struggle and fired one shot from his pistol which struck Mastro in the hip. The prisoner fell, but regained his feet again and continued to attack the guard. Callahan then secured a sub-machine gun and opened fire, killing Mastro.

GANGSTERS THROW BODY OF VICTIM BEFORE HOSPITAL

Dayton, Ky., October 4.—(AP)—Liquor warfare claimed another victim here today. Wilbur White, 19, Newport, Ky., was taken "for a ride" by rival gangsters this morning and shot in the head with a sawed-off shotgun. His enemies then carried him to Speer's hospital, threw his body on the concrete steps and fled in an automobile.

Hospital attendants, answering the ring of a doorbell, opened a door just in time to see White rise from the steps, grope toward the door and then collapse and die.

White's death was the fifth within the last five months in this section of Kentucky attributed by police to liquor gangster fatalities.

D. V. ROSS, ATLANTA, IS BADLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Macon, Ga., October 4.—(AP)—D. V. Ross, of Atlanta, received a broken collarbone and minor injuries to the face and arms tonight, when his automobile crashed into a concrete bridge near Perry, Ga., 25 miles south of here. His car was demolished.

Ross was returning from Florida and tired by the long drive alone he could not distinguish between the bridge and the pavement. He was brought to a local hospital by another automobilist.

Ross is employed by an Atlanta construction company.

Ground Broken for New Hangar

Emergency airmail service into the storm-isolated cities of Augusta, Waynesboro and Millen, Ga., and Aiken, S. C., was launched Friday by Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., and will be continued until railroad service to the four points is resumed, J. Ben Faulkner, Pitcairn manager at Candler field, stated. Five Pitcairn planes, each carrying approximately 600 pounds of mail, made round trips on scheduled time. Airport conditions at all points was reported good with the exception of Millen, where Pilot Frank Andre twice was compelled to land on the highway. Recent rains had rendered the surface of the landing field soft and treacherous, it was said.

The other four planes in service during the day were piloted by J. Ben Faulkner, Fermon Stone, Johnny Kytle and Dick Merrill. Airmail stamps will not be required on letters and other mail matter addressed to the cities on the route, Harry J. Graves, railway mail superintendent in charge of airmail for this district, stated Friday. Papers, small parcels and other mail will be carried in addition to first-class matter. The service will continue indefinitely under the following schedule:

Lv. Atlanta 7 a. m.; arrive Augusta 9:30.

Lv. Augusta 9:40 a. m.; arrive Aiken 10 a. m.

Lv. Aiken, S. C., 10:15 a. m.; arrive Augusta 10:35 a. m.

Lv. Augusta 10:45 a. m.; arrive Waynesboro 11:15 a. m.

Lv. Waynesboro 11:20 a. m.; arrive Millen 11:40 a. m.

Lv. Millen 11:50 a. m.; arrive Waynesboro 12:10 p. m.

Lv. Waynesboro 12:15 p. m.; arrive Augusta 12:45 p. m.

Lv. Augusta 1 p. m.; arrive Atlanta 2:30 p. m.

The five General "Aristrocrats" which arrived here after dark Wednesday afternoon on a 50,000-mile tour for the General Tire and Rubber company, are scheduled to depart this morning for Birmingham. Their plans may have to be changed, however, in view of the rains and low ceiling promised by the weather man. The "Sky Fleet," which attracted much attention at Candler field during its stay here, already has covered about 24,000 miles of its long journey and now is heading for Akron, Ohio, where the ships and their Warner "Scarab" engines will be reconditioned before the western half of the country is covered. The tour is being made in the interests of commercial aviation and the pilots are members of the first pursuit squadron, stationed at Selfridge Field, Michigan, and loaned to the General company for the trip.

Beeler Blevins, Atlanta pilot, flew to Elberton Friday morning and at noon delivered an address before a joint meeting of the Elbert county board of commissioners and Elberton city officials, at which were present representatives of the local Kiwanis and Civitan clubs and the chamber of commerce. Discussing the value of the municipal airport and the benefit which would redound to Elberton through the establishment of a first-class field, Blevins sketched the development of aviation during the last few years and painted a vivid picture of its potentialities. It was reported from Elberton that plans leading to the establishment of a modern airport will be undertaken immediately.

The value of the airplane in detecting power line interruptions was clearly demonstrated in tests made this week along the high tension line from Waycross to Jasper, Fla., according to R. H. Ferguson, manager of the Waycross office of the Georgia Power & Light Company, who was in charge of the survey in the two states.

Piloted by Laurie Yonge, well-known Jacksonville flier, Ferguson checked the condition of the line for the entire distance between the two cities, via Dupont, flying a portion of the time over swamps and lowlands. On the return trip from Jasper, while flying at a low altitude, Mr. Ferguson detected a broken insulator which was responsible for the interrupted service and which had necessitated the operation of a steam plant at Waycross during the recent South Georgia storm. The trouble was reported by telephone and repairs were made at once. Linemen working on the ground had failed to locate the trouble, it was said.

Fermon Stone, mail pilot for Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., on the Atlanta-Jacksonville leg of the Atlanta-Miami route, is the proud possessor of a handsome new flying suit, the gift of the American Motor Suit Company, of Griffin. Stone soon will be wearing his new apparel along a different route, inasmuch as he has been transferred to the company's night run between Atlanta and New York.

E. R. Southee, regional sales director for Curtiss Flying Service, of New York, has been in Atlanta this week. Mr. Southee, whose territory extends from Delaware through Florida, in the southeast, is much impressed with the strides which aviation has taken in the south, although he realizes that there is still much to be done in the way of development. Mr. Southee, who has been in aviation for many years, will pilot a Curtiss plane in the Ford Air Tour to visit Atlanta October 12.

Approximately 5,845 pounds of air express were carried in the United States during the past three years and inquiries reaching the department of commerce indicate that many American merchants are beginning to avail themselves of the high-speed service now being offered, according to Harry H. Blee, chief of the division of airports and aeronautics information, department of commerce.

"Through the use of air express, merchants in cities removed from the style centers have been able to offer the latest style creations days in advance of their competitors," Mr. Blee said. In addition to style merchandise, he added, many other commodities are being shipped by air, including machinery and machine parts, dies, builders' hardware, fruits, vegetables, cut flowers, dry goods, newspapers, jewelry, advertising cuts and mats, currency and bullion, motion picture films, plans and specifications for building projects and numerous other items of a perishable or valuable nature.

Here To Install Radio Beacon

LIEUTENANT G. D. BARR.

Lieutenant Barr arrived in Atlanta Thursday to undertake the erection of a radio beacon at Candler field, a step which will insure the safety of the air mail and the lives of air-mail pilots. The Candler field beacon, which will complete the series of such safeguards along the Atlanta-New York route, will be in operation by the first of the year, it was stated. Lieutenant Barr, an officer in the air reserve, will be stationed in the southeast and will have headquarters here.
